No Missed Opportunities: My Involvement in RHA

Chaylene Grover
Freshman '22
Business Management
President RHA

How have these experiences connected you to Linfield in more meaningful ways?

Throughout high school, I was never involved in any clubs or activities, and I told myself upon entering college that I'd try and take every opportunity that I could to get involved. And I've done exactly that. The Residence Hall Association (RHA) has given me the opportunity to connect with a friendly, welcoming community. One where I can get to know so many different individuals through the meetings that I get to run, as well as the events that we get to plan.

What are specific ways you've developed personally as a result of your experiences?

The opportunities I've taken have helped me develop not only as a professional, but also as a person. I'm constantly being thrown new and exciting challenges that help me to further develop my leadership, adaptability, and communication, skills.

How have your chosen experiences impacted you? These experiences have allowed me to find a community that I love through the relations that I get to develop because of RHA. They've allowed me to develop skills that I can use to make me a more successful professional and student. Through RHA, I have been introduced to many meaningful connections that have opened a new world of opportunities, ones already passed (Speaking at the Board of Trustee's Breakfast) and ones that I plan to go out for in the future!

How have your experiences helped you develop in each of the Student Leader Core Competencies? Through RHA, I'm faced with many challenges and a variety of interactions daily. As President, I am 'living in a fish bowl,' so it's a part of my role to reflect a positive example for other students. Interacting with individuals of different cultures and personalities has allowed me to become a better, more understanding, leader and communicator. These experiences have allowed me to continually develop and better myself, and for that I'm grateful.
