MOUNTAINS LURE PROFESSOR MOORE

DEAN OF WOMEN RECUPERATES
AMONG THE PINES

Genial Presence Missed as School
Opens

"I am up in 'my' mountains, among the big trees, where the air is fresh and perfumed with the odor of pine and balsam and the quiet is like a benediction," writes Professor Caroline S. Moore, Professor of Biology and Dean of Women.

Because of ill health Miss Moore was granted a leave of absence for the year and her many friends among former students will be glad to know that she is making the most of her opportunities for rest. She is at present in the vicinity of Spokane doing her best to forget that she cannot fill her accustomed place as the winter's activities begin at "Old Mac."

Professor Moore endeared herself to the women of last year's student body by her unconquered optimism and energy in planning for the betterment of social conditions among the girls of the college, and the influence of her foresight and wisdom are being felt in many ways as the new year opens. The senior women's league which she organized last spring is planning to work during the year in accordance with her suggestions and the impress of her personality is evident in the spirit with which the year's work has begun.

Those familiar with the biology laboratory miss her greatly and will not soon forget the heroism with which she continued to do her utmost long after ill health demanded that she lay aside her work for a time.

Students and faculty alike wish for Miss Moore a speedy recovery to vigorous health and the happy resumption of her work among them.

Professor Caroline S. Moore would be very glad to hear from friends in Old Mac. Mail addressed to E 3811 24th Ave., Spokane, Wash., will reach her.

Ed Coe Writes

Ed Coe, last year a Frosh in Mac, is back in Bucknell this year. He writes Bill Swift that he likes it fine but still sometimes has a longing to see some of his friends from the west.

ATHLETIC OUTLOOK VERY ENCOURAGING

Managers Express Hope of Winning Teams

The Associated Students of McMinnville College support soccer, basketball, baseball, track, and tennis. As members of this organization it is the duty of every man in school to loyally back with all his brain and brawn every branch of athletics.

Soccer is a new game in this school and so far has not been given a thorough tryout. In past years the college has developed some real and genuine athletics and there seems to be no reason why if soccer was included in the schedule that they could not turn out a team that would make a good showing against any of the valley college teams.

Former students are familiar with the records made in basketball and know the prominent place that sport occupies in the sport realm of the institution. The majority of the letter men of last year graduated or did not return to school so the responsibility of success falls upon the shoulders of those who worked hard and faithful last year but were not counted among the select few to receive the awards. There seems to be good material among the new comers as some of them possess an enviable high school record.

The track team of last year was a good one and most of them are back. They gave a good account of themselves under the coaching of Curt Coe and even greater things are expected of them next spring.

The stellar champs of the net game did not return. Carleton Lathrop, the old reliable, graduated, but several aspirants to his honors have already demonstrated talent along that line. The old spirit of "do or die" brings the men to the courts regularly when the weather permits.

Baseball will undoubtedly be the big drawing card of the year. Six of last year's team are back and wishing that spring was here. With these six as a nucleus it is certain that the college will have a winning team, a team that shall give a good account of itself.

The prospects for a good athletic year are exceptionally bright. In a school the size of McMinnville, every man must be on his toes when the managers issue the call for the season. It is not enough that the men who have represented the college in former years respond to that call, but the real call goes out to the new men to join the ranks. If one or two sit back and say that they have not the time (most generally they mean "not the inclination") it dampens the spirit of others and the result is that many who ought to be on the different training squads are not turning out.

If for any good and sufficient reason a man cannot respond to the call he should at least boost the sport and do all in his power to encourage oth-

SENIORS OCCUPY FRONT SEATS IN CHAPEL

Preps Relegated to Upper Crust

A change in the old order of things in McMinnville College was experienced in the rearrangement of chapel seats.

In former years the balcony, or more commonly known as the upper crust among the students, was the lofty heights from which the upper classmen peered down upon the faculty on the platform and the Preps and Freshmen on the lower floor.

Today that is a thing of the past, the upper classmen occupy the lower floor with the Seniors on the front seats, and the Juniors, Sophomores and Frosh seated behind them in order named. This is a decided improvement in the seating arrangement for it brings the upper classmen into their just dues. Due to this arrangement they can command respect from faculty and under classmen that they never could obtain slipping up the back stairs and on to a shelf where only the keen eye of the faculty members could see them.

Putting the Preps upstairs leaves the college department entirely on the ground floor and makes a much better looking chapel arrangement, especially for outside speakers.

The officers of the student body being all upper classmen can now with less waste of time and disturbance take charge of a student body meeting. The Seniors and Juniors do most of the talking from the floor in these meetings which is quite proper, but before these speeches were all made from the balcony and not over half of the student body ever heard what was being said. Now they are in a position that when they talk they can be seen and understood, as should be the case.

FACULTY TAKE EXERCISE

Each evening, weather permitting, sees the faculty out on the tennis courts west of the Administration building with coats and collars off, sleeves rolled up, indulging in volley ball.

Some of the Professors are old hands at the game and after they get in trim it is rumored that they will meet any team representing any organization in school.

In view of the fact that this institution does not support football, this step of the faculty is to be commended and it is hoped other organizations will follow the example.

The success of athletics does not depend upon the student body as a whole so much as it depends upon the individual efforts of every man. Keep this in mind and when the call is issued get into those togs and go until you drop. With that sort of a spirit a team cannot lose.

JOINT RECEPTION GREAT SUCCESS

Students Enjoy Snappy Program

Each year of our College life brings its many joys and one which every student looks forward to with great anticipation is the joint Y. M. and Y. W. reception given for the new students at the beginning of the school year.

Eight o'clock Saturday evening, September 25, found the Music Hall with its dimly shaded lights of pink and green, its Japanese lanterns and signs of welcome filled with a crowd of happy laughing students. Clever programs in the shape of a diamond were presented at the door and after the pleasant welcome of the receiving line the gentlemen hurried and scurried about that the fair young ladies of their particular choice might be their partners during the various numbers of the interesting program to follow. The usual formality of the occasion was forgotten and all lent themselves to the spirit of the evening in making the new students feel the true friendliness and good fellowship of Mac.

Suddenly from the deep recesses of a dark corner, a mighty clang rang out and from every part of the hall, partners were sought and found and soon all were seated for the first number.

Jake Manley with his wonderful ability to hold an audience was unusually good as he brought before us scenes of horror on shipboard that made us all feel thankful that we were land lubbers in peaceful Willamette valley.

Then we were carried back to "the good old days before the time of Jazz" as the male quartette sang "Annie Laurie" and responded to the hearty encore with the popular, "Oh Who Will Smoke My Meerscham Pipe?"

But such pleasures were not to last, the clang sounded forth its summons and the gentlemen bid hasty adieux and sought other charming ladies. It seemed good to see Mac with the fair lady of his choice again at the head of the promenade and needless to say the circuitous route of the campus caused great heart action as such unusual exercises will.

The next number found us in the dentist's office with Miss Risley as the demure and long-suffering patient. Would that every dentist's office might hold the surprise and charm which so completely captivated our patient.

Then time was turned back a year and we glimpsed at the past for a moment and again at the present. Great was the contrast and so ably did Jake Leger and Susie Steele bring back fond memories of by-gone days that profound sighs rose from the audience which only deepened as Gretta Goude and Mike Isaacs portrayed the stu-

A WELCOME DIFFERENCE

In this day and age so much is being said concerning the Bolsheviki spirit. It is a deplorable fact that for the past three or four years that destructive spirit has permeated the student bodies of most of the large colleges and universities. It not only crept into the more prominent institutions but found its way into and secured root in the smaller schools as well. During the past year that spirit evidenced itself in the student body of McMinnville College. Considerable difficulty was experienced in trying to eradicate it and the efforts met with but feeble success.

It was hoped that with the opening of another year those so inclined would either have reformed or sought intellectual development in other places. No effort was made to accomplish the desirable change, but simply left to adjust itself in the common course of events. In looking over the present student body there seems to be a total absence of any such spirit or feeling. Certainly this is a most happy circumstance as it paves the way for cooperation and efficiency. No change could be more welcome than the rooting out of such an irritating influence and the ushering in of that spirit of mutual helpfulness that leads to progress and prosperity. It is here—keep it!

Why Do It?

Some people continue doing things that they long since should have forgotten. Every year there are those who persist in mutilating and obliterating notices that have been placed on the bulletin board. Those notices are generally placed there for a specific reason and are intended to accomplish a purpose, and should be left unmolested until such time as the thing desired has been accomplished.

This has been an old hashed-over subject for several years and it is now high time that something is done to put a stop to such petty practices. After a student has been in the institution for a year or more it would seem that he should feel interested in doing the right thing at the right time and not spend his time on such childish pranks. Often the Frosh are accused of mutilating the notices and in some cases the accusation might be true, but too often the guilty party is not a Freshman. The unsuspecting Prep was once the target for all such accusations, but that is not true today as their numbers have decreased so that there are but few Preps on the campus.

The guilty parties know best who they are. The days of the "pump" are not so far removed that they cannot be revived. If every student would make it his business to leave those notices unmolested, such a petty practice would cease at once.

DR. HINSON LECTURES IN CHAPEL

Profound Tributes Paid to the Bible

Dr. W. B. Hinson, of Portland, made his first appearance this year in chapel last Tuesday. For many years past Dr. Hinson has come on an average of once every two weeks to McMinnville college and lectured to the Student Body. His ability as a platform speaker can hardly be surpassed. His simple language, logical thought and forceful personality make him a speaker that any college would be glad to have address its Student Body.

Dr. Hinson's subject this time was: "The Bible." Few men have a greater knowledge of the Bible than he and his extensive knowledge of poetry and philosophy enabled him to handle the subject masterfully. He gave one quotation after another from Lord Byron, Tennyson, Carlyle, Webster, Shakespeare and others, showing their appreciation of the world's greatest book.

He brought out the fact that there must be correspondence between the writings and the writer. All of Tennyson's works are recognizable because of this truth. So with the Bible. It is as far above Tennyson as Tennyson's is above doggeral. Other points which he developed in a logical manner were, that the Bible in manner and in matter was godlike, that there must be something in the Bible to prove the very style of God and that the Bible written by God ought to be like God.

Throughout his scholarly address the Student Body gave Dr. Hinson close attention. Every one felt that after all the Bible was the greatest book and a loftier conception of its contents was gained.

Dr. Hinson has made for himself an ever widening sphere of influence in the college. His poise, oratorical ability and magnanimity of character is the admiration of all. His bi-weekly visits are looked forward to with happy anticipation.

Y. W. C. A. Meeting

Our first Y. W. meeting was very well attended, and with Mother Potter as our leader, every girl present felt that it was good to belong to such a wide-awake institution.

The meeting centered around the thought of our coming into our Y. W. Home.

Esther Telcher, accompanied by Jessie Jeffery, favored us with a solo.

We are looking forward to making this year one of the best possible for our Y. W. and every girl in Mac is needed to help make it so. Remember girls, and be on hand Wednesday, at 11:15, at Music Hall.

Charles Davis Becomes General Manager

The election held Monday, September 20, resulted in the choice of Della Ingram for secretary and Charles Davis for general manager.

Miss Ingram is a member of the Junior class and one of the most popular girls in the college. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Phi and has been very active in Student Body affairs, Y. W. C. A. work, and other social work on the campus.

Mr. Davis is president of the Senior class and is well liked among the men of the institution. He has given much time to the advancement of Y. M. activities, especially the student employment bureau, and is fully qualified to fill the position of general manager. Mr. Davis is a member of Delta Psi Delta.

SCRUBS WALLOP FACULTY

Herculean Brawn Defeats Periclean Intelligence

Friday afternoon the faculty volley ball aggregation received their first set back of the season. A pick-up team of scrubs met them on the gym floor in what proved to be a fast and cleverly played game. Both teams showed exceptional skill in handling the ball, having had but few practices.

For the past week the faculty trained consistently and fully expected to easily defeat their opponents. The scrubs without over-exerting themselves captured the first two games. Excitement was at its height in the third frame when the victory went to the faculty. But in the fourth and fifth games the scrubs came back with a vengeance and the contest ended with the score of 4 to 1 in favor of the scrubs.

The faculty team was captained by Prof. VanOsdel and the scrubs were directed by Weston Henry.

Charles Stewart, a former graduate of McMinnville college, visited his brother Blair Tuesday night.

NEW RULE FOR ABSENCES

To Be Substituted for Section 4 of Rule in Handbook

There shall be added to the Catalogue Credit earned by each student in each course 1-100 of the same for each 2 1-2 per cent or fraction thereof by which the final semester grade of the student exceeds the passing grade of 75. No record will be made of less than 1-10 of a credit and 5-100 to 9-100 shall be recorded as 1-10.

One-tenth of a credit shall be deducted from this total for each absence from class.

Absences due to substitute teaching and five or more consecutive absences due to illness may be excused, the work made up to the satisfaction of the instructor and credit given at the discretion of the instructor.

Below is a tabulation showing additions to be made in accordance with the above:

ALUMNUS WRITES FROM CHICAGO

Verne Snyder Praises Work of Alma Mater

Professor Frerichs recently received a letter from Verne Snyder, class of '19, in which Verne lauds the work of McMinnville College and praises his Alma Mater for the high standard of work required.

Mr. Snyder relates the difficulty students are experiencing in taking post graduate work at the University of Chicago. He writes that so many students are making application for entrance that the University found it necessary to raise the standard of requirements and as a result only those who are best qualified are being accepted. The following is quoted from his letter: "The harder a thing is to get the higher do we value it. That is why I am glad to be able to get in here. I thank McMinnville College for it. Do not let down on your graduation requirements. Your graduates will regret it if you do. This summer there was a student with a Bachelor of Science degree from a prominent eastern college who made application for entrance and they gave him credit for two years work and classified him as a junior in the undergraduate school. Quite naturally he did not like it and did not stay here.

Today is your registration day. I suppose you have all the Frosh spotted and counted. I would like to be in Mac a week from next Saturday night.

Wishing you a large class of most verdant Freshmen and a larger class of most dignified Seniors, I remain one of the many friends of Old Mac."

Y. M. C. A.

Plans for a live and interesting year's work were given by Mark Rich in the first Y. M. meeting on last Wednesday. The Bible and mission study classes and the work of the deputation team will give all a place to learn and develop in their spiritual lives. Also the social affairs will have a prominent place in the year's activities. Every college man will find the Y. M. meetings to be well worth his time. Line up!

The Class of '23

Great things are expected of the Sophomore class this year and, needless to say, the expectations will be realizations before long, as the verdant ones will be able to testify.

A short meeting of the class was held last week. Harold Bliss was chosen to pilot the class of '23, and Miss Helen Skinner was elected to represent the class on the Executive Board. Alice Oliver was appointed class poetess.

The remaining officers will be elected at the next meeting of the class.

Again the clang, and another lady! A selection of melodies rendered by an orchestra of five pieces, violins, the Misses Mary and Myrtle Ballard; cello, Miss Ida Miller; saxophone, Mr. Floyd Miller and piano, Miss Loda Davis, was greatly appreciated. Miss Ida Miller's vocal solo, "Dreaming Alone in the Twilight," with the orchestral accompaniment, was beautiful and Miss Miller sang in her usual charming way.

The welcome to the new students by the president of the A. S. M. C., Avard Whitman, made every student feel that Mac meant more to them than ever before and each new one that he or she would strive to gain the Mac "polish" and fit into place as quickly as possible. J. Claude Proffitt, president of the Freshmen class, responded ably to the welcome.

The number closed with a vocal solo "Sunset" by Miss Alma Carstens.

Lights flashed out, the stage was astir with hurrying figures and loud whispers. Lights on, the curtains parted and the "Roman Tragedy" began. The sun rose, Brutus entered and began devouring his notes, Joliet swept into the room, Brutus fell on his knees but his appeal was fruitless, the long hours passed, Caesar came galloping to win her, Brutus filled with anger ground his teeth while Caesar, our hero, lead her away triumphantly.

This time the clang caused a delightful shiver. The last fair lady was found and pineapple sherbet and wafers occupied the attention. Then whispers of eleven o'clock and the necessity of all gayety ceasing.

Great credit and appreciation is due Miss Evelyn Leger, social chairman of the Y. W. C. A., and Mr. Harold Bliss, social chairman of the Y. M. C. A., for their untiring efforts and their success in giving the students a hearty welcome, and an evening of thrills.

Lambda Lambda Sigma

On Friday evening the Lambda Lambda Sigmas gathered around the fireplace at the home of Rachael Cabean and Susie Steele. We enjoy these meetings which draw us closer together and help us to realize more fully our great ideal in life.

We were glad to have with us again Mrs. Idylla Brownhill Manley.

The Freshman Class

On Sept. 23rd the Freshmen had a peppy class meeting which resulted in the election of the following: President, Mr. Proffitt, who is full of enthusiasm and promises the class a lively and successful year; Vice-President, Mr. Vincent, who has attended the Preparatory department for the past two years and will put the class next to all the rules and regulations of the college (we hope); Secretary, Miss Eula Bones, who comes from the local high school where she has proved her ability along this line; Treasurer, Mr. Geise, whom we consider quite honest enough to handle all our financial matters. On the Executive Board we elected Mr. Dierks whom we thought capable of filling this difficult position.

The class has made a good start and we hope to "keep growing" as all verdant things should.

Seniors

Do you know them? Sharpen your observational wits and you can't fail to recognize them, either when standing head and shoulders above the rest in a general crowd or when seated in their chapel seats of state within two feet of the faculty's elevated eminence.

With pride we exhibit certain members of our class possessing busy dignifiers upon the central portions of their physiognamies, whom, or rather which, you surely have not failed to observe.

As for the rest of the class they require no extavaneous decorations, distinction characterizes their very hearing while dignity, wisdom and polish are ever apparent and incontrovertible appendages. With such an extraordinary class as this, the rest of the college may well feel duly honored and justified in their expectation of an unusual year of success all around.

In our first illustrious meeting of the year we became organized under the leadership of Chas. Davis, Pres.; Dot Smith, Sec.-Treas.; and Beth Stewart as Executive Board representative.

Thus we set forth upon the last lap of our prosperous course within the sainted walls of Old Mac.

Cheer up! You may get there some day too, if you learn to bone, flunk and flourish as brilliantly as we have done for the past three years.

Meanwhile, during the days of your adolescence, if approached with due ceremony, awe and admiration, we will very kindly condescend to let fall a few sparks of advice and faltering pathway. At the same time, we will, with true sacrificial spirit, endeavor to inspire and encourage you in your longing and aspirational creep toward Senior heights of fame, influence and achievement.

Preparatory Department

The Preps were a little late in getting started but are now fully organized with Walter Gowen as president and Albert Graner as Executive Board representative. The members of the department are anticipating many good times during the year.

Some of our old members are not back this year but there are several new faces in our ranks whom we welcome to the joys of Prep life.

The class feels proud of the exceptionally large fourth year group. It is hoped that as many will return next year as there were of the Prep class of '20 so that the Frosh of '25 will have a good nucleus on which to build.

With enthusiasm running rampant it is believed that the Preps will have a real good year.
