TRIANGULAR DEBATE LEAGUE FORMED

WILLAMETTE, PACIFIC U. AND
MAC TO BATTLE FOR HONORS

McMinnville Out To Win

Manager Jackson has received word from Willamette and Pacific Universities that they are willing to reenter the triangular debate league formed last year.

The question for debate has not been chosen as yet, but reports have it that our rivals are hard at work boiling down all possible debate material in an energetic search for their ablest pleaders.

Although no eliminations have been made in our debate material, debate is in the air, and this week will see many verbal combats in the rank and file of the college classes. Before the inter-class debates begin some of the classes will have elimination debates. Step into the city library any evening and you will find groups of Frosh frantically searching for "data" to support their contentions. Even the busy and overworked Seniors are so interested in debate this year that an elimination contest is necessary.

Among the "wearers of the derby" only two are out for debate but they are a formidable pair and are looking forward to the Senior-Soph tangle quite confidently. The question chosen for the inter-class series is "Resolved that all Japanese immigration into the United States except the student and diplomatic class should be prohibited."

A fair sized audience heard a very interesting debate on this subject last Monday evening. Duncan Olmstead and Emerson Cox upheld the affirmative and Sylvester Cross and Kenneth Edson the negative. The feature of the debate was the rebuttals both of which carried conviction in their turn.

Prospects for debate are better this year than they have been at any time during the present student generation. Three of the mens' teams and both alternates are back and competition is so keen that these will have a hard fight to retain their places. Of the girls' team three debaters and one alternate have returned.

Both teams made a good showing last year and the entire school is behind the club and are backing them to the last ditch. When Mac mee's W. U. and P. U. some real debating will be done.

Incomplete registration figures from Columbia University indicate that their enrollment this year will exceed 31,000, a gain of over 35 per cent over last year. Columbia will then be the largest educational institution in the world. Their enrollment at the past summer session was over 10,000, the largest in the history of the university.

PREPS SMEAR PAINT ON BRIDGE O'ER COZINE

College Department Brings Pressure to Bear—Signs Removed

Thursday morning the students, on their way to breakfast, found the college bridge to be heavily guarded by Preps who were keeping all passersby from destroying or in any way mutilating or marring their three Prep signs done in red and black at regular intervals across the bridge.

The Preps guarded these signs with a "touch them if you dare attitude." A cross-bones and skull on the bridge indicated that as knights of the order all the Preps were ready to fight. However, in this they were sadly disappointed for the whole college department took up the battle cry "Scrub 'Em Off."

At a meeting of college men the Preps sent their delegation to plead their cause and if possible to establish a League of Nations effect in which the peace established would be decidedly in favor of the Preps in as much as they would be dictating to the college men.

The Preps were given twelve hours in which to remove their signs. At the end of this period of time the numerals were still there so the college men decided to administer such punishment as would bring results. After a little argumentation and debate the Preps proceeded to remove the signs and thus peace was established between the warring factions.

HEARKEN FRESHMEN! SNAP TO ATTENTION

Take Heed and Observe These Regulations

It has been deemed wise and proper that our Freshmen observe more closely than heretofore the sundry laws laid down for the guidance of their wayward feet. It has also been noticed of late, with great consternation, that our verdant class has been distributing itself rather promiscuously about our fair city and campus, without their traditional headgear—the green cap. Also the Senior bench has been desecrated by the presence of a few careless members of the class of '24. All are not guilty of the above misdemeanors, but that any should be, is appalling, to say the least, and worthy of your immediate attention. Therefore hearken well!

The Kangaroo Court

Composed of two Senior members, two Junior members and a Sophomore member has been duly established and its members carefully chosen by the three upper classes and will therefore receive their hearty cooperation in all its procedures. The laws laid down for you are simple and just

INTER-CLASS CONTESTS CREATE KEEN EXCITEMENT

Teams Display Determined Spirit
Thruout Series—Frosh Champs

The old gym has been the scene of stirring events and displays of pep the past few days. The Inter-Class series in volley ball was the cause of the excitement.

In the first games the Juniors mixed with the Preps. Altho the Juniors put up a game fight, the superior team work of the Preps did the trick and the Preps won a decisive victory in two straight games.

The next afternoon the Faculty tangled with the Sophs but were rather badly tangled, the Sophs winning both games handily. Prof. Van at the net starred for the losers while the work of Henry and "Sandy's" serve were factors in the victory of the Sophs.

In the third contest, the Seniors clashed with the fast Frost aggregation. The strong front line of the Frosh coupled with Druse's baffling serve proved too much for the Seniors, who after strong resistance in the first game were overwhelmed in the second.

The semi-finals found the doughty Preps arrayed against the chesty Sophs. The first game was won by the Sophs after a hard battle. In the second "Precious" Juul served them so hot, and his teammates supported him so well that the Sophs were nosed out by a narrow margin. The decid-

PROFESSOR SHUMAKER TELLS 'EM IN CHAPEL

"How to Get the Most From the Teacher"

Thursday in Chapel Professor Shumaker spoke to the students on this very appropriate subject, "How to Get the Most from the Teacher." Prof. Shumaker is a man that knows whereof he speaks, having specialized in Educational subjects. He brought the following good advice:

Meet your teacher half way. If you want something from the teacher you bring something to him. Open mindedness and thorough preparation are absolutely essential to successful classroom work.

Treat your instructor naturally. The best work demands a common ground of contact. Both teacher and student should endeavor to eliminate the wall that so often separates them. Success greatly depends upon the attitude of the student toward the teacher.

Put your best into your class work. Your best will demand the best from the teacher. You will get out of the classroom work just in proportion to what you put into it. Money will not buy ability, that must be cultivated

HALLOWEEN MASQUE SCENE OF GAIETY

ALL PROFESSIONS AND WALKS OF LIFE UNIQUELY DEPICTED

Cannibal Wins Much Applause

Last Friday, after Chapel, when a meeting of the men was called, many of them, especially those on the upper deck, expected it to be another war meeting concerning the bridge decorations, and were grimly intrenched ready to resist another gas attack from the enemy. But when the meeting proved to be for the purpose of reading an invitation from the women of the institution for a masquerade social to be given Saturday evening, there was a very visible relaxation of expression on both decks and one big united shout of approval rang through the chapel.

The men knew what to expect from the Mac girls when they undertake such an affair and their expectations were more than satisfied, for anyone who did not have a good time Saturday evening must have had a nail in his shoe. But no such person has been discovered yet.

About eight o'clock the most motley array of human beings imaginable could be seen headed for the Music Hall. Closer inspection under the bright lights revealed one series of wonders after another.

Neat beautiful gypsies, little girls with curls, ghosts, Martha Washington, aged aunties, Miss Columbia, sailors, pirates, preachers, farmers, clowns, dudes, darkies and many other races and moods had found their way to this one place. There were old and young, frisky and dignified, flashy and somber, and one horrible example of a black South Sea Island cannibal.

When everybody had thoroughly inspected the other party to see who he or she was, the grand march was started, lead by Prof. VanOsdel. After this, the unmasking came and such surprises when each one discovered who his or her partner was. Immediately the crowd was divided into families—queer combinations too—and each family put on a stunt. Later the crowd was redivided into the "black cats" and "witches" and several very exciting games were played. The black cats won the honors.

Pie a la mode completed the happy evening. The men of the institution declare their fair friends royal entertainers.

The University of California has to date, a registration for 1920 of 5,444 students—50.3 per cent being men and 49.7 women. Their enrollment in the correspondence course of the university numbers 42,000.

Student Problems

Near the beginning of the college year it is wise that every student should consider the problems that confront the student body. A thought now to our own activities will result in a stronger and more effective organization throughout the year.

This is a critical year in the history of the student body. It is the first really normal year for four years. The past years have brought changes and now is the time to adjust the student affairs to fix the altered conditions.

Last year while the spirit of unrest was in the air an important change was made. A new Constitution was adopted. This is not the time to discuss whether or not the change should have been made. Those who were responsible for it have gone and it devolves on us who remain to labor with the system they have created. After all the new constitution shows but little change over the old one and if changes were necessary at the time of its adoption they are for the most part still necessary. Some of the new features adopted already need revision. If these adjustments are to be made now is the time for them. Nothing is to be gained by waiting. The difficulties which now exist should be removed so that in future years the way may be clearer.

This year the student body faces a better financial outlook than for several years. The raising of the price of student body tickets as provided for in an amendment rushed through at the end of last year, was one decided advancement made by last year's administration. If the proper support is given the Lyceum and the Annual, athletics, May Day, and other student activities can be properly cared for.

The Annual presents a big problem to its Editor and Manager. A successful issue will reflect greatly to their credit. They need and deserve the enthusiastic support of every student. If some changes are made so that the paper contains a good amount of descriptive matter with the illustrations the annual will be a far more widely appreciated publication than in former years when it was of no value unless a student was present at the time it was displayed to deliver a lecture on the illustrations contained in it. Many students will undoubtedly be found who will be glad to buy copies of a well balanced annual to send to their friends.

The Review, now on a weekly basis, has had troubles of its own and while on its feet financially it still suffers from a lack of space for reading material. A loyal support of the advertisers is the greatest boost the students can give to their paper and will undoubtedly result in a larger paper, for the balance of this year and in future years.

The election of suitable officers to carry on the activities of the student body is another question which should be a vital one to the students. Three factors have influenced elections in the past. First, the popularity of the one running for office, second the irresponsibility of the voter, and last and least the capability of the candidate. Popularity is no guide to capability and often a wagging jaw and a pleasing smile elect where a strong brain and an enduring energy should be the deciding factors.

Part of the officers and managers are elected by the student body and part by the executive board. The student body has the privilege of nominating those who come before the executive board for election. In theory the election of managers by a small group of picked representatives should result in more efficient administrators than election by the larger group. Unfortunately this has not always been the case. At one time a person was elected in the fall to fill a vacancy and proved an absolute failure in his office. He resigned. The next spring the same executive board elected him for the same office for the coming year. When the attention of members of the board was called to the fact that the individual had not been successful in the office previously they replied they had forgotten all about that. There is no task which comes before the executive board which requires more careful consideration of its members than the election of such managers as it elects.

The election of the officers and managers that are elected by the student body also requires thought. The individual voter must throw aside all persona likes and dislikes and weigh, keeping the candidates' previous record in mind, the capability of the aspirant for an office for the position which he will fill if elected.

The Point System needs some alterations. It was new last year and as it stands it is an improvement over anything previous to it but it is still far from perfect. The management of some activities is a steady grind from September till June, others come at special seasons, as many of the athletic managerships. When one person holds two such offices the times of heavy stress should not come at the same season. There are too many overworked persons on the campus every spring. More of the offices about the campus should be included in our point system. Fraternity presidents and various club presidents should be included in the list of point officials.

The carrying out of the activities of the year call for a thoughtful co-operation on the part of every student. The president of the student body needs your cooperation. It may simply be in sitting still at the close of a student body meeting till the vote on the motion to adjourn is taken, or it may be in taking the trouble to use your brain in considering the questions that come before the meetings. This year the least that every student can do for the common good is to think and to think hard regarding all student affairs.

CONQUEST CLASS TO CELEBRATE
ANNUAL BANQUET NOV. 13

Tickets on Sale This Week

The annual banquet of the Conquest Class will be held in the W. O. W. hall Saturday evening, November 13.

This promises to be the biggest banquet ever and the social chairman, Minnie Larson, is sparing no effort to make it so.

Many former students are expected to be back and it would facilitate matters for the committee if those who intend to come would notify the committee to make reservations for them.

The members of the class are rejoicing over the fact that their president, Erston Noftsinger, who has been unable to return to school yet this fall will be here in time for the banquet and will resume his school work Nov. 8.

Taking advantage of the good weather the annual Conquest Class picture was taken Sunday.

and likewise their enforcement shall be just—but firm.

Therefore,—Hearken ye Frosh!

Wear your green caps at all times, rain or shine during the five school days of each week. But refrain from appearing in our venerable halls until you first remove said head-piece.

Keep off the Senior bench, absolutely.

It will be to your own welfare to carry out these rules and thus strengthen the tie which binds us. We, the upper classes, hope it will never be necessary for you to fall under the condemnation of the Kangaroo Court and its vigilance committee of mighty Sophomores. Therefore, to speak in the vernacular, watch your step, for tomorrow morning will find you a sad but wiser Freshman should you infringe upon the aforementioned laws. So beware, beware!

The Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity met at the country home of Miss Pebble Brixey on Friday evening. After a long, invigorating walk out there, the girls' appetites were soon appeased by a most appetizing dinner prepared by the hostess. Every Kappa knows that a good time is awaiting her at the Brixey home, and this time was certainly no exception to that rule. After a short business meeting the fraternity adjourned.

The place of meeting of the Phi Epsilon fraternity was changed this week but the same spirit prevailed. The program proved instructive and entertaining and with a few items of business the fraternity adjourned early and took in the social at the church.

A pot-luck supper, the Nesika's had, At Goude's one Saturday night; Quantity and quality of eats were not bad So everything turned out right. They laughed and sang before they ate And after they had eaten; Then bade good-bye for it was late, And Freshies might get beaten.

A new and novel form of entertainment appeared on the campus last Friday afternoon in the form of a "bridge" party. Although the numbers were few and the time rather limited those participating seemed to enjoy themselves immensely. Light refreshments were served.

The Delta Psi Delta fraternity enjoyed a royal stag supper last Friday evening at the home of Paul Jackson. The fraternity was glad to have Dean Northup, Professor Gardiner and Professor Richards on hand to help drain the flowing bowl. If actions speak louder than words, Jackson's hospitality and Blair's culinary genius met with a generous appreciation.

Miss Lorraine Hinson spent the week-end with her parents in Portland.

We are glad to see Al Graner back in school again, after an absence of two weeks.

Miss Mary Stewart was a week-end visitor in Mac.

Mr. Earle Richardson, a member of the Oregonian staff, visited among friends this week.

Any items of news you might have will be greatly appreciated by the Society Editor. Thank you.

Our last meeting, October 27, was on the subject "Eternal Youth." Many interesting ideas were brought forth by our leader, Minnie Larson, and a lively discussion of the topic followed.

HELEN ANKCORN TO MANAGE GIRLS' ATHLETICS

For some years past Women's Athletics in McMinnville have not received their just dues. However, the active interest taken in volley ball this fall is sufficient grounds for co-operative action.

Miss Jessie Young, former manager, found it impossible to continue in that capacity and so tendered her resignation. The Executive Board elected Helen Ankorn to manage the activities. Miss Ankorn is very popular with all the students and in the past has demonstrated her ability to direct and manage student affairs. Her plans are quite extensive and she expects to start volley ball and basketball tournaments in the near future.

Students Enjoy Chapel Services Conducted by "Mother Potter"

The student body has purchased some new college song books for use in the weekly song services on Friday. The books contain a fine collection of college songs and others suitable for all occasions. A little time is to be spent each week in learning the new songs. Mrs. Warren was present on last Friday and lead in the singing of "Italia."

Two special numbers rendered on October 29 were especially enjoyable. Miss Leona Walker's vocal solo received hearty applause as evidence of the appreciation of the student body. A new and interesting feature on this program was a reading entitled, "The Hazing of the Valiant," by Miss Eileen Risley. Miss Risley's delivery was excellent, giving a vivid description of a college prank played upon a dignified Sophomore by a so-called unsophisticated Freshman. It struck pretty close home among some of the students. She kept the audience either in laughter or suspense during the entire time.

Miss Walker and Miss Risley are both Freshmen this year and the student body is glad to find such talent among its members.

The Triple V non-fraternity men met at the home of Prof. Schlauch Friday evening. A constitution has been adopted and a new group of officers elected. The society is divided into three literary groups under Messrs. Benton, Osgood, and Fielder. Every member of the "Triple V" is thoroughly enjoying the meetings and the organization is looking forward to a very helpful year.

ing game went to the Sophs.

The finals, between the Sophs and Frosh produced the real thrills of the series. Both games were strenuously contested, and in each the result was in doubt until the last point was made. The superior teamwork of the Frosh, however, turned the tide in their favor and gave them two hard-fought but well-earned games. The playing of Henry for the losers and Proffitt for the winners featured. When these stars oppose each other there is always "something doing," and each was going at top speed.

Prof. VanOsdal, who acted as referee in most of the games, handled the games to the entire satisfaction of all. "Bill" Maxwell was the efficient official scorekeeper.
