PILGRIMS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED IN DEC.

PRESIDENT WILSON PROCLAIMS DEC. 21 AS PILGRIMS' DAY

Colleges Urged to Observe Day by Appropriate Exercises

In a recent proclamation issued by President Wilson, schools, colleges, and universities are requested to observe the three-hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. The text of the proclamation follows:

"My Fellow Countrymen: December 21, next, will mark the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth in 1620. The day will be becomingly celebrated at Plymouth under the auspices of the Plymouth Pilgrim Tercentenary commission and at other localities in Massachusetts. While this is proper and praiseworthy, it seems to me that the influences which the ideals and principles of the Pilgrims with respect to civic liberty and human rights have had upon the formation and growth of our institutions and upon our development and progress as a nation, merits more than a local expression of our obligation, and makes fitting a nation-wide observance of the day.

"I therefore suggest and request that the 21st day of December next we observe throughout the Union with special patriotic services, in order that great events in American history that have resulted from the landing of these hearty and courageous navigat-

PRESIDENTS OF INDEPENDENT COLLEGES OF ORE. MEET AT REED

The Annual Conference of the Independent College Presidents' Association of Oregon was held with Reed College November 26 and 27, 1920. Representatives were present from seven of the eight independent colleges, namely from Albany College, Eugene Bible University, McMinnville College, Pacific University, Philomath College, Reed College, and Willamette University. Pacific College was not represented. Some of the problems of the small college were discussed. Student activities, maintaining the moral and spiritual standards of the student body and the granting of graduate work by the smaller college. On the first of these topics the consensus of opinion seemed to be that some check should be had on the extra curricular activities and the point system was mentioned as one of the best checks on these activities. On the other hand, some students who do not take kindly to these activities are to be encouraged to take part in some of them so as to develop the whole being.

The paper on spiritual and moral standards provoked discussion that

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATES COMPLETED THIS WEEK

Strong Team Chosen to Represent Mac —Participants to Receive Credits

The Associated Students are backing debate better this year than they have in previous years. The inter-class debates have created quite a keen rivalry and aroused considerable competition for the award.

The final class championship debate took place last Monday evening between the Junior team composed of the Misses O'Keefe and Christenson, and the Senior team composed of Messrs Davis and Jackson. The winning class will receive the award as soon as it is properly lettered.

The tryouts for the men's teams are over. A large number took part in these contests. The following six men have been chosen to represent McMinnville in the inter-collegiate debates: Sylvester Cross, Charles Davis, Oscar Gladish, Stuart Goude, Paul Jackson, and Duncan Olmstead.

The women's teams have not been selected as yet, but prospects are bright for two good teams. The triangular debates in which both teams will participate have been scheduled for February 5 and 12.

In recognition of the value of debating, the Faculty has agreed to give three credits to each person who takes part in an inter-collegiate debate and one additional credit for every additional debate on the same subject. The substitutes will receive credit at the discretion of the coach.

BIOLOGY DEPT. BENEFITED BY GIFT OF HUMAN SKELETON

During the past week McMinnville College was the recipient of a splendid specimen of a human skeleton. Some time ago a Dr. Moore of Emmet, Idaho, moved to the east and left the skeleton with Rev. A. C. Lathrop at Emmet, with instructions to give it to some institution. Rev. Lathrop sent the skeleton to McMinnville and it is now a full fledged member of the or-

STUDENTS MAKE MERRY IN BIG THANKSGIVING FROLIC

Happy Crowd Enjoys Old-Time Stunts and Games—Girls Go To Highest Bidder

The next best thing to being home for Thanksgiving was attending the "Frolic" in the Music Hall Friday evening. Those present witnessed an evening of lively entertainment. A large variety of events were enjoyed which were skillfully arranged by the committee.

A gay promenade started off the evening with mirth and merriment as the various couples shifted places in the ranks; this later developing into an old time tag march. A unique group system had been worked out which now divided the crowd. The several groups soon began puzzling their brains for charades. Following the charades the happy crowd indulged in a bit of childhood amusement summed up in the games, three deep, magic music, etc. During the course of the evening, Alma Carstens sang two Irish Ballads. The "Goude" trio of darkies delighted their audience with several very appropriate selections.

The climatic moment occurred when the young ladies were auctioned off to the highest bidder. This created considerable happy comment and added a great deal to the jollity of the evening. Everybody enjoyed the ice-cream and cake. Such affairs are indeed worth while during a vacation period.

der of the ancient relics of the Biology department. A special case is being built to accommodate the new member.

Prof. Richards, other faculty members, and college authorities agree it is one of the finest specimens they have ever seen. It is in first class condition and is a big addition to the equipment of the department. The college authorities are very grateful to the donors for such a splendid and useful gift.

INTER-CLASS TEAMS IN SNAPPY GAMES

STUDENTS AND BASKETBALL MANAGER ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Preps Wallop Rook Quintet—Sophs Defeat Junior-Seniors

On Monday evening, November 22, a large crowd was seen heading toward the city auditorium. People began to wonder—why the crowd? Some began to investigate and soon discovered it was a real basketball game, not an inter-collegiate game, but the opening battle of the inter-class series.

Prep-Frosh

The game started shortly after four o'clock with Erston Noftsinger as referee. It was fast and snappy for the first of the season, but after a few minutes of play the most ardent supporters of the supposedly invincible Rook team knew that their forwards could not shoot baskets consistently over Helm and Gowan, and that their own defense was inadequate to cope with the Proppe-Hickok combination in caging the ball.

The Preps played well together and their teamwork was very good for an early season game.

The Rooks were lacking in teamwork and their guards were guilty of several personal fouls which shows poor spirit for the losers.

The final score was 17-4 in favor of the academic team. Hickok at forward accounted for fifteen of the seventeen points showing remarkable ability at converting the free ones.

Junior-Senior vs. Sophs

The Sophs and Junior-Senior quintets met on Tuesday evening. Hickok refereed this contest. The cocky Sophomores imagined this would be some walk-away, but after a few minutes of play both teams decided they had a real battle before them. The Sophs' determination was rather detrimental to them for they were called quite regularly for fouling. The first half ended with the score of 7 to 1 favoring the Sophs.

In the second half the upper classmen must have doped out some new stuff for their score immediately began to climb and after ten minutes of play the score was 7-5. But Hansard and Cross for the Sophs got busy and slipped a couple through the hoop and left the score at the final whistle 11-5 in favor of the Sophs.

SHALL I JOIN A FRATERNITY? WHICH ONE? WHEN?

The supreme test of any society is its output. Participation in an organization should be determined by the preparation one will secure for a greater constructive leadership in the world.

Few, if any, of the many questions confronting the freshman on entering college are of such strategic significance as the choice of his friends. Furthermore, it is possible for one, regardless of his motives, to gather about himself such associations and influences that he is unable, at that period of his life, to withstand the influence of the group. His ideals and conduct will eventually be those of the men with whom he is so intimately associated. It is therefore of the greatest significance that before one decides to enter into such an intimate association he should be thoroughly satisfied regarding the following:

1. Does the influence of the fraternity make men more democratic?
2. What are the characteristics of the men in the fraternity?
3. In what activities in college life are the members most interested?
4. Is the training in a fraternity the fundamental training for leadership in a true democracy?
5. What sort of reasons are advanced by the members for joining their fraternity?
6. What is the influence of the home life of the fraternity? Is it Christian or pagan? Must a member surrender his individuality and convictions?
7. What is the attitude of the fraternity toward Sunday?
8. What is the social life of the fraternity? Is it constructive or destructive?
9. Are living conditions among the fraternity men conducive to study?
10. What is the standing type of the fraternity alumni who visit the campus most frequently?
11. What is the standing of the fraternity with the business men in the community with whom it has done business?

12. How many of the members last year were engaged in some form of Christian work in the Y. M. C. A. or local churches.

13. What is the attitude of the fraternity toward students of mediocre financial and social standing?

14. What percentage of those initiated graduate from college?

15. What percentage of those initiated last year failed in their studies?

16. What percentage of those initiated drop out of college after one or two years?

17. What organized influence has there been within the fraternity to develop the life of its members?

18. Do the members put the college or the fraternity first?

19. What has been the attitude of the fraternity members toward the freshmen and the new students on the campus?

20. If I join a fraternity would it be better to wait until I am an upper-classman?

The above questions are just as applicable to the women societies as to those of the men. Think them over.

The Editor of the Review:

Last week's issue of the Review contains an article signed by one of the college fraternities which refers to the article published two weeks ago under the heading "Why the Miserable Failure?" As author of the article referred to the communication in the last issue is of considerable interest to me.

The second paragraph of last week's letter states that the fraternity will welcome an opportunity to discuss the matter openly with any individual concerned. The writer is pleased that this promise has been made as he is anxious to have an answer to the question which he asked in his former article. The Review as the college publication is the proper place for the discussion to take place. The matter is the writer's concern in so far as it is a vital one to the social life of the college and one which he believes should be settled this year so that the college may from now on be free from the blight which indiscriminate rushing has brought on its social life. The discussion which will follow as is promised in the letter will undoubtedly be of great service to the college.

The third paragraph of the communication raises a question, which in the light of the promise made in the previous paragraph, is rather peculiar. However this may be said regarding it. The Inter-Fraternity Conference is not the place for the promised discussion. The matter never has been before the Conference. It was an agreement between the Dean of Women and the fraternity women of the college made early this fall. The matter was brought up outside the Conference and must be settled outside it. It should be discussed openly before all the men and women of the college because it is a question which bears on the whole fraternity situation.

The fourth paragraph of the letter has already been answered by the Editor. It is unfortunate that the discussion of this matter should have caused any slur, however unwarranted, to be cast on the college paper.

In its concluding paragraph the communication mentions personal conferences as the proper method of deciding any questions about rushing. Too many personal conferences have been held in past years. This thing belongs in the open. If any of the societies in the college are not living up to their agreements everyone should know it. The cover of secrecy should be denied the offenders.

The writer made no attempt to place blame directly on any society in his first article other than that one was blamed for not stating why it had not lived up to its agreement when the plan was satisfactory to two of the societies. Any cause for dissatisfaction remains to be revealed and the fraternity which signed last week's communication has promised to give it. The scheme agreed on by the Dean of Women and the fraternity women has not been a success in the opinion of those who have objected to it and the student body is waiting to hear an answer to the question "Why wasn't it satisfactory?"

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. HOLD JOINT THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Wednesday at the regular Chapel hour the two Christian organizations met for a joint Thanksgiving service. Miss Esther Telcher took charge of the singing and acted as leader for the girls.

Sylvester Cross, for the Y. M., spoke of the many things that each one had to be thankful for and urged that all present take an active part in the meeting. Many expressed their gratitude for the blessings of the past year. Miss Carstens sang a solo.

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

To be at home in all lands and all ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance, and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the appreciation of one's own; to carry the world's library in one's pocket and feel its resources behind one in whatever task he undertakes; to make hosts of friends among men of one's age who are leaders in all walks of life; to lose one's self in generous enthusiasm and cooperate with others for the common end; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen, and form character under professors who are Christians;—these are the returns of a college for the best four years of one's life.

—Pres. W. D. Hyde, Bowdoin.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Y. W. meeting of November 17 was a most novel and interesting one. Marian Banker, who led the meeting, chose a missionary topic. The subject "Italian Women in our Own Country" was discussed by Vina Finley. Gretta Goude spoke of the work in China, emphasizing particularly the need for medical workers.

A very fine pantomime was given, illustrating the song "Publish Glad Tidings," sung by Maude Finley.

Quite a large number of students left McMinnville for the Thanksgiving recess. Many went to their homes to spend turkey day while others were entertained in the homes of friends.

The students who remained in town during the vacation were royally entertained Thanksgiving day. The McMinnville residents have always been exceedingly thoughtful of the students and have always made it possible for them to enjoy a real home-like feast on Thanksgiving day. Rumors are abroad that this year surpassed all others in the good times enjoyed in the homes of the townspeople.

The members of the Kappa Alpha Phi sorority were entertained at the home of Helen Ankcorn and Helen Skinner. A short business meeting was held and an enjoyable social hour followed. Hot chocolate and cream puffs were served by Miss Ankcorn and Miss Granlund, the hostesses for the evening. The sorority adjourned at 10:30.

Delta Psi Delta met at the home of Paul Jackson Saturday evening, November 27. The usual business program occupied the early part of the evening after which the fraternity enjoyed an hour of good cheer and social fellowship.

was very interesting. It centered on whether the teaching of spiritual standards would result in the right kind of moral standards. The conclusion arrived at by most was that it would have a powerful effect.

With regard to the granting of graduate degrees all were a unit that the smaller college has neither equipment nor large enough faculty to carry on the kind of work that would entitle them to give such degree. Some graduate study in the smaller college without lead in a degree was encouraged.

On Friday evening the faculty of Reed College gave a dinner to the visitors. It was a very delightful occasion and every one enjoyed himself very much. The delegates were also entertained by Reed College throughout the sessions and they proved most delightful hosts. One of the girls' dormitories was given over for the benefit of the male delegates.

In the business session considerable discussion concerning the conference scholarship was carried on. The consensus of opinion was that this scholarship would mean more if all the colleges in the conference would join in offering it. Steps were taken to bring this about. The uniform calendar was readopted for another five year period. A technical school of Portland asked to be admitted to the conference, but since the conference is composed only of arts colleges the request was not considered.

The following officers were elected: President, Professor E. C. Sanderson of Eugene. Vice-President, Prof. A. A. Knowlton of Reed, Secretary-Treasurer, Prof. F. G. Franklin, Willamette. Member State Board Standardization, President L. W. Riley, McMinnville. The next session will be held

FRENCH FELLOWSHIPS OPEN TO AMERICANS

Gaelic Universities Give Memorial to Field Service Men in Form of Scholarships

A number of fellowships, not to exceed twenty-five, for the purpose of encouraging advanced study and research in French universities during 1921-22, are now open for competition among graduates of American colleges, and other suitably qualified candidates. The fellowships, which have an annual value of $200 and 10,000 francs and are granted for one year, subject to renewal for a second year, are being offered through the Society for American Field Service Fellowships for French Universities.

These fellowships are offered to provide an enduring memorial for the 127 field service men who gave their lives for the cause, according to the bulletin of the Society, and "to perpetuate among future generations of French and American youths the mutual understanding and fraternity of spirit which marked their relations during the war."

Study in one of thirty distinct fields is open to successful candidates for the fellowships. Applicants must be citizens of the United States and between twenty and thirty years of age. Applications should be sent to Dr. I. L. Kandel, 522 Fifth avenue, New York City, not later than January 1, 1921.

Endowments for these fellowships are being solicited and they will be named for the men of the American field service who died in France.
