GREEK LETTER SOCIETY HONORS DEAN OF WOMEN

KAPPA ALPHA PHI GIVES FIFTH ANNUAL RECEPTION IN HONOR OF MRS. C. C. POTTER

Miss Marguerite Carney and Miss Helen Hembree Present Unique Program

The Kappa Alpha Phi sorority gave its fifth annual reception in Music Hall Saturday evening, December 11, in honor of Mrs. Carrie Casler Potter, Dean of Women. The various fraternities and sororities of the college attended as did also the two non-affiliated organizations the Triple Y and the Nesika. Besides students and members of the faculty many friends of the sorority were also present.

The hall was beautifully decorated with large yellow chrysanthemums artistically entwined with long graceful vines of myrtle. The railing of the balcony was made a perfect network of green dotted with a richness of yellow, while from the floor of the balcony were suspended delicate streamers of green and yellow neatly drawn back and draped over the lights on the walls. The stage was also decorated with similar streamers hung from the ceiling.

The program of the evening was said by many to be one of the best ever given in Music Hall. The artists were Miss Marguerite Carney, vocal soloist, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Macy, and Miss Helen Hembree, read-

HIGH SCHOOL TO PRESENT "GREEN STOCKINGS" TWO NIGHTS

The closing of college for the Christmas holidays on Friday afternoon, December 17, made it impossible for the students to attend the play to be given on that evening by the local high school. Plans have been changed and "Green Stockings" will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings, December 16 and 17. Don't fail to boost for the High play and be sure to see it.

More Interesting Chapel Songs

Two novel numbers presented by some of the French students added special interest to the chapel exercises on December 3. "Au clair de la Lune," by the first year class and the round "Frere Jacques" by the second year class, were both well rendered and enjoyed by all.

A pleasant half hour was spent last Friday practicing Christmas songs in preparation for the Christmas service to be held Friday, December 17.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE HELD IN CITY OF PORTLAND

U. S. Commissioner of Education Discusses Public School Problems—Educators and Laymen Attend

In Portland, at the Multnomah Hotel, December 4, there was held one of the twelve Educational Conferences arranged by P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

The call for the meeting was sent to educators and all those interested in education in the states of Oregon and Washington. There were a number of laymen present, including members of school boards, bankers, and ex-teachers, beside the state superintendents, presidents of normal schools and many teachers.

These conferences were for the free discussion of topics relating to different phases of the schools of our nation. Naturally the discussions largely centered about the public schools. Dr. Claxton proved himself a skillful leader. He arranged an directel in an admirable manner. He had a ready command a vast array of facts and figures. Most of the attendants from McMinnville regretted that many of the speeches and talks laid so much emphasis on the commercial side of the teacher's position. It is hardly to be expected that young people will enter the profession in large numbers, except as a make-shift, when they are repeatedly told that they can do much better financially in other lines of work, and are made to feel that there is little compensation besides the money to be gained. However, such meetings must result in good and when the proceedings of the conferences are widely distributed there cannot fail to be a deeper interest in school matters.

Those present from the college were: Dr. Haynes, and Professors Schlauch, Jewell, Payne, Richards, and Gardiner. Mr. C. Tilbury of the Board of Trustees and Prof. Bittner, city superintendent, were also in attendance.

STUDENTS PRAISE LOCAL PLAY

Quite a large number of students saw the local dramatic club present their first play this season. "It Pays to Advertise." Only words of highest praise have been heard so thoroughly did everyone enjoy it. A snappy play by a snappy company in a snappy way.

How About it Girls?

Who can say that McMinnville College girls have not the pep? Thus far over thirty girls have turned out regularly since Miss Snook began coaching the gym classes and basket ball. This is a splendid showing, but where are all the others?

RECENT FACULTY MEETING PROVES PLEASANT SURPRISE

Wives of Members of Faculty Secretly Gather at Home of Prof. and Mrs. Schlauch During Meeting

Say no more that a woman cannot keep a secret. At least, do not say that the wives of members of our Faculty cannot keep a secret, for they conclusively proved the contrary at the time of the last Faculty meeting which occurred at the home of Prof. and Mrs. G. R. Schlauch Monday evening, December 4. Every member of the Faculty was present.

The business of the evening had all been transacted and the hostess was ready to serve dainty refreshments, when suddenly from some secret place there came first a rustling sound, and then an audible murmur, and finally the smiling countenances of the "better three-quarters" (as Wendell Phillips would say) of the Faculty men. When these fair ladies had been ushered in, delightful refreshments were served, and a very enjoyable social period followed. Not a man on the Faculty but admitted that he had been kept entirely in the dark as to the plans of the ladies.

All agreed that it was both a novel and pleasant innovation at Faculty meeting, and the guests departed saying that Prof. and Mrs. Schlauch were experts in the art of entertaining.

PROF. MILLER ADDRESSES STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Professor Irving S. Miller, head of the Department of Education at Bellingham State Normal, Bellingham, Washington, delivered a short address to the students Monday, December 6.

Prof. Miller brought out very forcibly that this is the place and now is the time to live your life. Make the best of yourself now, and do not waste time waiting for future opportunities.

WORK ON THE ANNUAL IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

This is to be the first year that an annual, separate from The Review, will be published in McMinnville College.

A name has not yet been chosen but several suggestions have been made and the annual board will receive further ideas along this line from anyone until after Christmas vacation. Immediately after the first of the year the student body will choose from the names handed in, the title for the annual.

Most of the individual pictures have been taken and immediately after the holiday recess a date will be set when they must all be in. Those in charge of the publication hope to establish a large circulation among the alumni and former students of the college.

"Mother" Potter and Company Royally Treated by Members of White Temple

The McMinnville College Glee club and a company of Dramatic Art students went to Portland Friday evening, December 10, and put on a splendid program in the White Temple. "Mother" Potter and her company were met at the train by Mrs. Alonzo Petty, chairman of the Entertainment committee for the White Temple. As soon as they reached the church they were served a most delicious and refreshing supper, after which they had a few moments for visiting and ample time to make special stage arrangements.

In spite of the disconcerting and unpleasant weather, resulting in the stopping of traffic and much of the suburban streetcar service, a large and enthusiastic audience was present. Quite a large number of McMinnville alumni and former students of

INTEREST IN DEBATE INCREASING EVERY DAY

Pacific University might "Wallop Willamette and Mash Mac," but there are some who have a different opinion of that matter. Willamette needs no defending, she is fully able to speak for herself and will doubtless be heard from later. As for McMinnville, she makes no boast of her possibilities in the forensic line, except that every student is working hard for a Mac victory.

Never has interest been so keen in debate as it is this year. The most successful inter-class debate series ever held has just been completed. The college teams have been selected and are now working like trojans to make possible victories for McMinnville.

The interest did not cease with the completion of the inter-class series. Go into the Chapel almost any afternoon in the week and you can hear a rousing good debate. The members of the Argumentation and Debate class are not the only ones that are vociferously defending their opinions on certain subjects. The Prep public speaking class is doing some splendid work and several of the members have demonstrated remarkable talent. The Prep debaters of today will be the college team of the future—watch them. With this continually increasing interest in debate, there are some who are not so sure that P. U. will "Mash Mac."

GOING AND COMING

'20-'21

This is the last issue of The Review to make its appearance in the year 1920. The close of another year will soon be upon us. The Christmas holidays filled with the joy and mirth of pleasurable festivities will tend to make us forget the passing of a year that will be gone forever. Have you accomplished all that you planned to accomplish? Have you made the best of your opportunities? If not, why not?

With the closing of the old year comes the ushering in of the new. 1920 will soon be forgotten and you will be living in the hustle and bustle of 1921. Stop for a few moments during the holidays and take an inventory of yourself and your activities of the past year. Doubtless you will be disappointed, but this disappointment should not bring discouragement. Use it as a basis for a greater determination to make 1921 the best year of your life—the year of your life in which you will take advantage of all your opportunities, make the best of yourself, and do the most for your fellowmen.

NON-RUSH PERIOD SUCCESSFUL

The strain and stress of this year is over, and doubtless the great majority of students rejoice that it has passed so successfully. In previous years a slight disregard has been experienced in the keeping of the rules during the forty-eight hour "Non-Rush Period," probably due to the fact that sufficient emphasis had not been placed upon the strict observance of these regulations.

This year there seems to have been a decided improvement in this matter. So far no accounts of illegitimate rushing or breaking of the rules during that period have been reported. Such a condition is indeed a decided advance in the social progress of the school and every fraternity is to be complimented for the fine spirit shown during the non-rush season.

The regulations this year were not any more stringent than heretofore but the fraternities simply agreed to live up to the rules in every detail, to the letter as well as the spirit. Talking to rushees, other than a greeting, was absolutely tabooed, and from all reports this rule was kept to the very letter. Prior to the opening of the non-rush period several students thought the Inter-Fraternity Conference had laid down regulations that were too severe, and in some cases would prove an injustice. The Conference discussed this matter pro and con and unanimously decided that such rules could be enforced and the different fraternities expressed their approval of such regulations.

The big day of the year has passed, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the non-rush period was a success. Different fraternity members have expressed themselves as absolutely satisfied with the results of the day, and in general it seems that everybody is happy and willing to settle down to real work for the rest of the year.

CHOOSING A LIFE WORK

To be socially useful, to work among people who value education, and to earn a fair livelihood are reasonable aims for any American. How best to attain them is the problem before many young men and women as they consider the choice of vocation. The calling of the librarian offers one solution, and is attracting increasing numbers as its duties and opportunities becomes more widely known. The librarian deals with books, which are at once the record and the inspiration of human progress; he comes into contact, through personal meeting and by means of the printed page, with the most able minds of his community and generation; he enjoys the challenge to pioneer effort in a relatively new educational field; and his reward is equal to his needs.

If you are in doubt as to what you want to do when your college days are over, why not consider library work? No better opportunity for a big life service has ever been offered.

COLLEGES GIVEN FORTUNE

McGill University and University of Toronto each received a million dollars from the Rockefeller Foundation for the aid of medical education in Canada. Dalhousie University, Halifax, and University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, each received a half million, and a quarter million apiece went to the University of Alberta, Edmonton, and the University of Montreal. The Foundation has set aside five millions for the purpose. The income not yet apportioned will be used toward current expenses, fellowships, and other forms of medical student help.

Pennsylvania has more higher institutions of learning than any other state in the Union, 67 being located in the Keystone state. In order of low Illinois 59, New York 54, Ohio 52, and Missouri 41.

It Still Waits

The world is waiting for you, young man,
If your purpose is strong and true;
If out of your treasures of mind and heart,
You can bring things old and new.
If you know the truth that makes men free,
And with skill can bring it to view,
The world is waiting for you, young man,
The world is waiting for you.
—S. S. CALKINS.

A French statistician has been dabbling with figures to find out just what man does with that precious thing called time. He concludes that at the age of 50 years the average man has slept 6,000 days, worked 6,500, walked 800, amused himself 4,000, spent 1,500 eating and was ill 500 days.

The only conclusive evidence of a man's sincerity is that he gives himself for a principle. Words, money, all things else are comparatively easy to give away; but when a man makes a gift of his daily life and practice, it is plain that the truth, whatever it may be, has taken possession of him.
—Lowell.

The Triple V was royally entertained at the home of Stewart Goude Friday evening. A creditable literary and musical program was enjoyed, but all agree that the true success of the evening was due to the spirit of genuine fellowship that was manifest in the company present.

The Lambda Lambda Sigma sorority was entertained Friday evening by Rachel Cabeen and Susie Steele. In spite of the storm a large number gathered around the fireplace.

Miss Dorothy Campbell entertained friends at dinner on Sunday.

The Misses Mary Galvin, Mildred Christenson and Catherine Skinner visited among friends during the week-end.

Miss Beth Stewart spent Sunday in Portland.

The "J. J. J. J." entertained at an informal luncheon Sunday evening in honor of the return of one of its members.

Several of the star performers of the caste playing in Portland Friday night remained over the week-end to enjoy city life.

The reception immediately followed the program. The members of the receiving line were, Miss Delia Ingram, Mrs. L. W. Riley, Mrs. C. C. Potter, Miss Marguerite Carney, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Mrs. Walter Hembree, and Miss Helen Hembree. For a few moments the guests enjoyed a period of informal mixing during which time many were afforded the pleasure of meeting the artists.

Following the reception a dainty luncheon was served on the second floor. Two large classrooms were made available and the balcony was used as a mezzanine floor. The tables were conveniently arranged and beautifully decorated in yellow and white, the sorority colors.

Everyone enjoyed the social friendship of the members of Kappa Alpha Phi, and the splendid entertainment of the evening, and all declared it one of the unique social events of the season.

Storm Uproots Oak on Campus

One of the old standbys on the campus was unable to withstand the ravages of the fierce storm that prevailed in McMinnville last Friday afternoon and evening. For many years several large oaks have guarded and protected Oak Cottage from the cold and wintry blasts but their number has been decreased by one. The recent storm is by far the most severe wind and rain storm that has been experienced in the valley for many years.

Summer Tragedy

He had hovered about her all the evening, notwithstanding her efforts to repulse him. At length, stung to madness by her evident desire to rid herself of his presence, he was about to leave. Then the fluttering of her fan disarranged the lace at her throat, leaving her white neck bare and gleaming in the moonlight. With a wild cry of passionate longing, utterly oblivious of the consequences of his rash act, he flung himself upon her. The next instant he lay crushed at her feet.
