Manley Chosen to Represent Mac In I. O. A. O. Contest

POPULAR MEMBER OF JUNIOR CLASS WINS THE FINAL TRYOUT, DEFEATS FIVE CONTESTANTS

"Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" an Exceptional Oration

Jesse Manley will represent the college in the state intercollegiate oratorical contest at Eugene. Manley won over five other contestants at the tryout held in the college chapel on the evening of January 31st.

A fair sized audience greeted the six speakers chosen from previous contests. These six took the highest places out of a total of twelve who wrote and delivered orations. Two of the contestants, Miss Edith Clark and Miss Eunice Hart, represented the Freshman class while the other four were from the upper classes.

Second place in the contest was awarded to Charles Davis, a Senior, who delivered an oration on "The Call of Modern Missions." Davis' composition was excellent and his delivery a very decided improvement over that he displayed in the upper class tryout a week before. Paul Jackson with an oration entitled "Those Who Knock at Our Gates" was awarded third place.

Other orations delivered were; "The Shortage of Teachers" by Miss Clark; "America's Duty to Immigrants," by Miss Hart; and "What You Are in the Dark," by Emerson Cox.

Professor E. S. Gardiner acted as chairman of the meeting, while Dr. H. L. Toney, Professor Shumaker, and Professor Frerichs judged the delivery. The thought and composition of the orations had been previously graded by Dr. Haynes, Professor Titus, principal of Junior high, and Dr. Trawin.

Manley, who will go to Eugene in March, is a member of the Junior class and holds two student body offices this year. He is Tennis Manager and editor of Oak Leaves. The winner has been prominent in college dramatics and is a member of the Dramatic club and of Phi Epsilon. The state contest was won last year by Fred Coley of the University of Oregon and the last McMinnville representative to be awarded the medal was George Stewart, Jr., class '14 who won the contest in his Senior year.

A very pleasing diversion was furnished those present at the contest by Sylvester Cross. While the decisions were being counted Cross delivered a mock oration composed of selections from the orations delivered earlier in the evening. Miss Dorothy Copley rendered a piano solo at the opening of the program.

ALBANY TO MEET MAC HERE NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Albany quintet comes to McMinnville next Friday night. Mac lost the first game of the season to that team on their floor by the score of 32-12. Since then the local boys have dropped two fast and hard-played games. However, these games have all been played away from McMinnville and on floors that are much smaller than the home boys are accustomed to using.

Pacific College defeated Albany at Albany recently by a decisive score and after the game at Newberg last Friday evening which demonstrated the improvement in the local team, it is reasonably sure that Mac will give Albany a run for her money.

This will make Mac's first game on her home floor this season and everybody will be anxious to see the boys in action. Don't fail to come out and help the boys win.

Windsor Quartet Delights Audience

Program Included Popular Numbers Interspersed with Numerous Selections and Readings

A large and enthusiastic audience attended the entertainment of the Windsor Glee Quartet which appeared as the third number on our Lyceum Course, February 3.

The Windsor male quartet, composed of four Welshmen, three of whom begun their musical careers as boys in the British Isles, are especially to be commended for distinctness of word production, expression, and harmony.

The program consisted mainly of popular songs, English songs, humorous numbers and readings. Evan Lloyd, in costume, cleverly characterized a London street peddler in his famous coster-monger songs. Mr. George Thomas, lyric tenor, rendered excellent readings and humorous selections. His English accent and humor were received with enthusiasm by the audience. Mr. William Jones, basso, with remarkable ease of singing and tone shading, delighted all with a few solos. "The Bells of St. Mary's," rendered by Mr. Barrell, baritone, also won great applause.

These, together with many other varied numbers, furnished a pleasant evening for those present. As a fitting close the National Anthem of Wales, and the National Hymn of America were sung by the quartet in harmony.

STUDENTS TO BE TESTED

By a recent vote of the Academic Senate of the University of California, all undergraduates, freshmen and upper-classmen who entered the university this semester will be required to take an intelligence test in the near future.

STUDENTS TO HEAR NOTED SPEAKERS DURING FEBRUARY

McMinnville college will have an unusual opportunity of hearing three men of national reputation during the month of February. On February 9 and 10 Harry L. Kingman will visit the college speaking in chapel and addressing the various organizations. Mr. Kingman is a graduate of Pomona college and of the University of California where he made an enviable record as a coach and athlete.

Mr. Sam Hickenbottom, missionary agriculturist, will visit the campus February 15. Those who heard Mr. Hickenbottom at Des Moines know something of the wonderful work he has accomplished.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall will speak here February 21, but owing to his busy life, will be able to spend only the forenoon of that day in McMinnville.

Five Mac Men Go To Salem Conference

Speakers of Note Discuss Stability of Organization—Responsibility of the Individual Emphasized

About nine o'clock Saturday morning, January 29, Mark Rich, Earl Druse, Claude Proffitt, Paul Jackson, and Halsey Carstens left in the "Proffitt Limited" for Salem, to attend the Y. M. C. A. conference held there over the week-end. All the sessions of the Twenty-first Annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Oregon and Idaho were held in the First Presbyterian church of Salem. The Mac quintet arrived in good time to participate in a Student group luncheon with Hal Donnelly, Student secretary at U. of O. The discussion at the table centered around the arrangement for the coming cabinet conference and in arranging dates for the speakers who are to come to us soon. Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, who visited Mac about four years ago, and who is connected with Northwestern University of Chicago, will be here again this spring.

In closing the discussion after the luncheon Hal Donnelly made this statement, "I have found from experience that when a man begins to lose his grip on Christ he finds his high ideals of life slipping away and that higher ideal of manhood."

One of the important addresses of Saturday afternoon was given by Dr. George Irving of New York. He emphasized the point that no amount of organization, however necessary, would maintain the stability and worth of the Y. M. C. A., but rather that the responsibility rested almost wholly upon the individuals who are in charge of the smaller groups and work, and upon those who are associated with them.

Perhaps the outstanding point of the conference was the decided emphasis on the individual.

Pacific College Downs Mac Quint In Speedy Battle

CLEVER BASKET SHOOTING AND WELL EXECUTED SYSTEM PLAYS WIN FOR QUAKER BOYS

Local Boys Stage Great Come-Back in First Half—Hickok Stars

The McMinnville College basketball team went down to defeat before the fast Pacific College quintet at Newberg last Friday evening in the fastest contest the local boys have experienced this season. The final score 41-24 does not show the style of game nor the brand of ball played by the Mac team. Every man was in the prime of condition for the starting whistle. The Pacific hoopsters have always been noted for their clever basket shooting and this was the outstanding feature of Friday's game. Pacific started out with a rush, Paul Elliott securing the first basket immediately following the tip-off. P. C. worked their famous system plays and had soon gathered 10 points while Mac managed to slip in a two-pointer. By this time the Mac boys had become accustomed to the floor and in a few minutes had tied the score at 12-12. Hickok and Proppe worked like veterans around the basket, each getting four baskets before the end of the half. During the last five minutes of play the score swayed from tie to tie, 14-14, 16-16, 18-18, both teams fighting hard for victory. P. C. came through with a short spurt and ended the half with a favorable score 23-18.

McMinnville opened the second half with a rush, Hickok securing the first ringer. Mac continued to hold the lead for several minutes but Pacific's second spurt gave them such an advantageous lead the local boys were unable to overtake them.

"Eddie" Kratt at center played an exceptionally fine passing game and was especially effective in intercepting passes that would have meant points for P. C. L. Larson and "Wamp" Hoberg held down the defensive positions in a very creditable manner.

Hickok was high point man for Mac securing seven field goals. Wright won the honors for Pacific gathering six field goals and converting three free ones out of four attempts. The game was fast and snappy throughout, and the P. C. quintet are to be commended for their sportsmanship and splendid treatment given the boys. Final score 41-24.

HOW DO YOU REACT?

Education has very aptly been defined as the power to react favorably to one's environment. To be able to get along in a harmonious way with all those with whom we come in contact is indeed the art of living.

How do you react when some Professor admonishes you for a misdemeanor?—Do you by your actions and inward feeling show that you are not big enough to stand correction? Many a student's great weak point is his inability to appreciate not only from the instructor, but from his friends, the pointing out of weak spots of character. Instead of trying to profit by such kindness, his pride so controls him that he resents it.

One of the very best tests of the caliber of a student is the way he reacts to his social environment. Some students are good mixers and their presence at a social function is the life of the occasion. Their appreciation of personality and unselfishness make them welcome at every social affair. Other students seem to have the idea when they come to an informal social that they are to be entertained. During the evening they are thinking of themselves and do not enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion. They go home feeling that they wish they hadn't come. They fail to grasp the reason why they didn't enjoy the evening.

Hard feelings are often caused by unintentional slights. A student feels that he has been done an injustice by a fellow student who perhaps is a good friend of his. This trivial affair is most likely the result of thoughtlessness. The way the offended friend reacts to this shows whether he possesses magnanimity of character or not. To be able to pass up unnoticed these little frictions, or in the case of a friend to have a frank discussion is a mark of an educated person.

ON YOUR HONOR

One-half of the school year has passed and now we are here again. We have returned for the new semester, have registered, have settled down to the routine of study and work.

The first of the year it was with fear and trembling that one of your number took up a new work with her accustomed duties, however, there was no need of worry or nervous tension because the students have been so ready to "help out" in every way.

The fact that we are all back in the halls of Old Mac shows that we tacitly agree to the so-called regulations and enjoy the environment here. We, by coming, practically say,—I am one of the many and in honor I will abide by the required written, or unwritten, laws of the college. It is a matter of honor. It is a real test, a test of honor, because each one must depend on self—must decide the way he will meet the problems of social life as he finds them here. Therefore, if honor stands high in our makeup, the desire to "put one over" will not find an abiding place in our plan of living.

The spring days and evenings (even more difficult) are coming. The young "kid" will skip on the hillside as of yore—I presemue. It may be very dull in the study room, and 9:30 comes quite early—but right here comes the real test.

Someone said, "I do not have to keep the regulations—so and so does not," but remember, it is not the honor of another you are to uphold, it is your own. A conscientious person cannot be happy when that person fails to do the honorable thing.

Let us be a help to each other. Let us be helpful by being thoughtful of others—let us be helpful by being kind, by being gracious, by being quick to see some little thing that might bring a smile to a sad face and to make a lonely day a happy one.

You have been a source of joy to me. I love you all, and thank you heartily for your loyal support. Let us meet the tests with the honor of our souls.

CARRIE CASLER POTTER,
Dean of Women.

Time to Quit

Often when I'm in a crowd I rear up and talked aloud, for I've had a silver tongue since the days when I was young; I possess a wordy flow that would rattle Cicero.

So, like other gifted sharks, I would make a few remarks; I would make the welkin dance every time time I have the chance. So I swing ajar my face with a Bryan sort of grace, and I talk and talk and talk, till the hands fall off the clock.

When I've talked for half an hour I see people looking sour, and I know they're bored and sad, and they're nervous, tired and mad, and they wish that I might choke in an apoplectic stroke, or be stricken with a fit—but I lack the sense to quit. Oh, I evermore rejoice in the music of my voice, and when I arise to speak I keep talking for a week..

That is why my breast and legs bear the stains of ancient eggs; this is why my Sunday hats have been ruined by dead cats. I might often make a bit if I just knew when to quit, but I droll and droll along till I've got myself in wrong, and the people in their ire maul me like a house afire.—Walt Mason.

INTER ALIA

Commencement week is four months off but it is not too early to start preparing for it now. The work which is started well now will probably be still done well when that eventful week comes.

One of the sad events of that week is the persistence of examinations. A little solid classroom work right now will go a long way then.

The intercollegiate orator was chosen this week but ambitious students forensically inclined will have another chance in the "94" contest in the pre-vacation week. Now is the time for them to start their preparation. It will pay to begin early.

The student body tickets haven't been of much use so far this year but next Friday night everyone will have a chance to use his. This will be the first opportunity of the season for us to see the team in action and every member of the student body should boost everyday this week for a crowd at the game and on Friday night give the team a real backing.

Member of Class of '93 Married

Miss Mattie Walton, '93, was married to Mr. M. W. Gay last October. They are living at Ocean Park, Washington.

After graduating from college Miss Walton spent some years in Japan as a missionary, but was compelled to return to her home on account of the week condition of her eyes.

Miss Walton and Arthur McPhillips were the two members of the class of 1893.

Not to be Caught

An Irishman, passing a shop where a notice was displayed saying that everything was sold by the yard, thought he would play a joke on the shopman, so he entered the shop and asked for a yard of milk. The shopman, not in the least taken aback, dipped his fingers in a bowl of milk and drew a line a yard long on the counter. Nat, not wishing to be caught in his own trap, asked the price.

"Sixpence," said the shopman. "All right, sorr," said Pat. "Roll it up; I'll take it."—Exchange.

Society

At a prolonged meeting Saturday afternoon and evening the Phi Epsilon fraternity were kept unusually busy instructing the latest additions to the fraternity in the straight and narrow path of everlasting duty. The operation proved successful and the patients survived. A repast which was hard to anticipate and impossible to imitate was partaken of by all present.

Iota Omega Mu met in George Paul's room for the regular business meeting on Friday evening. The fraternity was glad to welcome Milt Coe back, who has just returned from Bucknell. The meeting adjourned in short order in order to attend the basketball game.

Lambda Lambda Sigma sorority wishes to announce Miss Zella Whitman as Royal Majesty and Marie Erickson, Issie Jones, Edna Yoder, Marian Swift, Dorothea Reichert, Ola Davis, and Gray Light as full pledged members.

Mr. Clifford Hornbeck was a guest at the College commons at Sunday dinner.

We are glad to welcome back Milt Coe of the class of '22 who has been attending Bucknell University the past semester.

Miss Catherine Skinner of Portland spent the week-end with her sister Helen.

Zeta Chi instructed its pledge members on Friday evening in the ways and paths they must follow. Altho the instruction was rather strenuous at times and the path hard to find all is well that ends well. The fraternity celebrated the birthday of their esteemed matron, Mrs. Grover, Sunday afternoon at the Toney home.

Saturday morning at 6:30 the members of Delta Psi Delta enjoyed their annual initiation breakfast. The event marked the successful completion of the first two degrees of the initiation ceremony by the three initiates. The events of the morning inspired good appetites and hearty fellowship was manifest.

On Saturday evening, February 5, the Kappa Alpha Phi sorority met at the home of Mrs. Norwood Apperson. The new members, Edna Polson, Eula Bones, Mary Louise Andrews, Phonna Brixey, Grace Edmunds, Gretta Goude, Mildred Westerfield, and Emmaline Schlauch were initiated into the rites of the sorority. Immediately following the initiation the sorority was royally entertained in the dining room by the hostesses, Mrs. Apperson, and the Misses Beth Stewart, Helen Ankcorn, and Ruth Granlund. Besides the present members others present were Mrs. Frisbe, Audrey Showalter, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Tilbury, Catherine Skinner, Kathryn Sparks, and "Mother" Potter.

Miss Ruth Roy was a Portland visitor Saturday.

Mrs. W. F. Schuster of Portland spent the week-end in McMinnville visiting her brother Russell Elliott.

Misses Beth and Vivian Stewart took advantage of the holiday last week to shop in Portland.

Misses Irene Miller and Leona Walker spent Saturday and Sunday in the city of Portland.

Last Saturday the fifth of February occurred the annual initiation of Alpha Gamma Nu. Beginning the evening before, the candidates were given phasis, and the depths of sincerity of those who spoke, on the importance of Bible study. Dr. John Brown, Jr., was especially forceful in his presentation of this conviction. He said that the Y. had perhaps deviated too much toward the materialistic and that we needed to return to the fundamental purpose for which the organization was begun, namely, the putting of the "C" into the Y. M. C. A. He said that Bible study and Christian work was not only at the foundation of the Y., but that nothing can firmly endure without that as the background. Such was the keynote of the conference.

Sunday evening, as a part of the conference program, the five men from Mac took charge of the service in the Jason Lee Methodist church, and there was not a man but that proved a credit to the old school.

U. OF W. STRONG IN DEBATE

The University of Washington is the first in the United States to engage in an international debate. On January 21, they met the University of British Columbia, Canada. The University of Washington was included in the recent itinerary of the debate team from Princeton University which met seven different Pacific Coast institutions on the forensic floor.

Let us press your suit for you. McMinnville Cleaners and Dyers.

It was in truth
A happy youth
In H. S. and in College,
Had studied away
Both night and day
In search of greater knowledge.

His knowledge grew
Until he knew
All that they teach in college.
But still he found
The world around
Was filled with greater knowledge.

O'er books he bent
His life was spent
In studying outside of college,
For this you see
Was the way he
Tho't to increase his knowledge.

And tho he tried
Before he died
Both inside and out of college,
He couldn't contain
Within his brain
The whole sum total of knowledge.

The gas went out to meter
The egg went out to beater
The nutmeg went to grater
But, alas, the radiator.—Ex.

A June bug married an angle worm
An accident cut her in two.
They charged the bug with bigamy
Now what could the poor thing do?

Love is like an onion,
You taste it with delight
But when it's gone you wonder
Whatever made you bite.—Ex.

D. Deever Sez:

Last week over at the dorm the gurls wuz talking about gurl'z athletics and one of em sez to Dot Reichert, "Say Dot—do u like indoor sports?" and it didn't take Dot long to answer, "Yez, if they dont stay too long." Az the foolosofer sez:

"Have you any references?" asked the lady of the house.
"Yes, ma'am, a lot of them."
"Why didn't you bring them with you?"
"They're just like my photographs, ma'am. None of 'em does me justice."
