LAMBDA LAMBDA SIGMA ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF MISS V. C. CORBETT

"THE DAWN OF A TOMORROW"
READ BY MISS GREATHOUSE
GUEST OF HONOR DELIGHTS
HER AUDIENCE

Auditorium Wonderfully Beautified
by Novel Decorating Scheme

Last Saturday evening the Music Hall, decorated with rare charm and originality, was the scene of a delightful affair given by Lambda Lambda Sigma in honor of Miss Vernita Claire Corbett, who terminates her work in our midst with the close of the present college year.

It seems that every time there is a social function in the Music Hall some original scheme for decoration is hit upon and used, and that always one of the impressive features of each of these affairs is the decorations. This was especially true last Saturday evening. It seemed that one could hardly properly acknowledge the cordial welcome extended upon first entering the auditorium, for being so taken by the artistic way in which the Lambda girls had beautified the place. The five large pieces of lattice work upon which were skillfully arranged sweet briar and artificial salmon pink roses after a pleasing scheme, and which reached overhead from one balcony to the other, produced an effect

BIOLOGY PAPERS READ IN CHAPEL

A welcome change was introduced in the subject matter presented in chapel last Thursday when Professor Richards, head of the Department of Biology, had the members of the class in The History of Biology read papers on various phases of Applied Biology.

Under the head of Economics (Indirect Benefits to Man) papers were presented by Harold Bliss on "Plant Improvement," and by Dewey Maxwell on "Animal Husbandry." Three papers were read on the Sociologic or (Direct Benefit to Man) "Control of Contagious Diseases"—George Paul; (2) "Medicine and Surgery"—Frances Moore; (3) "Social Science—Sanitation and Eugenics"—Ruth Granlund. Three papers were presented on the Study of Biology. Allrick Erickson discussed its practical value in a paper entitled "Physical Culture." "The cultural value of biology in general education was discussed by Duncan Olmstead, while Minnie Larson presented a paper on "Biology and Religious Ideas."

The papers were well written and made the service especially interesting and instructive.

SENIORS APPEAR IN CAPS AND GOWNS

The senior class made its first appearance in the official garb of dignity last Friday, April 29. Members of the class were seen to parade boldly out of the classrooms at 11:00 o'clock and seemingly disappeared no one knew where. When the rest of the students filed in and took their places in chapel the seniors were missing. However, as soon as Dean Northup had reached his place beside President Riley on the platform, Halsey Carstens, at the piano, changed the music to a slow, steady march, and the seniors clothed with the dignity of the cap and gown, led in their stately procession by President Whitman, marched to the seats of honor at the front of the chapel. The faculty and students arose as the seniors entered the chapel and remained standing until the dignitaries had marched to their seats.

The cap and gown will be worn during the forenoon of each school day except Wednesday until Commencement.

DEBATERS WORKING FOR BIG CLASHES

College of Puget Sound, Albany and Pacific Colleges to Meet Strong Teams from McMinnville

With two heavy debates ahead of them, the men's debate teams are putting in good heavy licks of solid work. The first of these two debates occur Saturday night, May 20. This will be the triangular clash between P. C., Albany and McMinnville. The subject under discussion will be, Resolved, That all labor disputes, between capital and labor shall be settled by compulsory arbitration. The interpretation agreed upon by the three schools is that only disputes which occur in essential industries shall be subject to compulsory arbitration. It is also understood that the parties to a labor dispute first have opportunity of voluntary arbitration. The question applies only to the United States. The line-up for the teams as selected by Coach Jewell is: affirmative, Paul Jackson, Duncan Olmstead; negative, Charles Davis, Oscar Gladish. The affirmative team travels to Newberg, and Albany's affirmative comes here.

May 27 is the time when C. P. S. and McMinnville are scheduled to clash in a dual debate. The question for combat is, Resolved, "That the U. S. should adopt English cabinet system form of government." It was learned through the columns of the University of Washington Daily of April 27, that C. P. S. is to meet the U. of W. Badgers on this same subject on May 20, a week previous to our debate

YEAR BOOK SOON TO GO ON PRESS

"Oak Leaves" the first regular annual publication of McMinnville college will go to press soon. With the exception of the May Day activities all of the cuts have been returned from the engravers and as soon as the pictures of May Day can be sent in and returned the printing will begin.

There have been many inquiries concerning the purchase of copies of the annual. As the management must know how many extra copies outside of the regular ones wanted in the student body are wanted, we are asking all those in the student body and those outside who want copies of "Oak Leaves" to sign up at the Book Store with John Crump or address correspondence to him. The price will be $2.50. In order to secure extra copies of the annual all orders must be in before the fifteenth of this month.

Any one wishing to order an Annual on May Day can do so by seeing either Manager Harold Bliss or the assistant manager, John Crump.

MAC MEETS QUAKERS ON DIAMOND MAY DAY

Bad Weather Has Prevented Regular Practice for Two Weeks, Team Now Hitting Fast Clip

The McMinnville ball tossers will cross bats with the Quaker aggregation from Pacific college on May Day afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. According to the "dope" this game ought to be a McMinnville victory, but sometimes the "dope" fails to tell the truth. Pacific college has been defeated by the Chemawa Indians 9-4, and by Pacific University 5-3 at Newberg. Mac defeated P. U. 7-4 at Forest Grove so is in line for a victory on May Day.

The bad weather has prevented regular practice, but judging by the practice games of the past few evenings Mac will put on a strong line-up. The invincible Roscoe Larson had the misfortune to smash a finger Saturday so will not be able to perform in the box against P. C. Hal Bliss, captain and shortstop, is showing up remarkably well and most effectively on the mound. Vester, who let the Quakers down 14-2 last year, is also going strong. With these men for twirlers and Mark Rich on the reserve list the Pacific boys can expect to keep the path from the bench to the plate well worn.

Walt Gowan, the fast little backstop, will probably work behind the plate. Walt is young in the game, but he caught a game at Forest Grove that would be a credit to any veteran.

The infield is working well at all positions. Kratt at first, Vester at

The annual May Day festivities of McMinnville college will be held on the college campus Friday, May 6, when Miss Mildred Christenson, popular choice of the student body, will be crowned Mildred I, Queen of the May. Miss Christenson is a member of the senior class. Her home is in Portland. During her college course she has been very active in student body affairs and has always shown a keen interest in the various phases of college life. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Phi sorority.

The college is planning one of the most elaborate celebrations in the history of the occasion. Plans are rapidly progressing for advertising the event throughout the county and a record crowd is expected on the crowning day.

As in former years, the business men of the city are cooperating with the students in making this the biggest day of the college year. The stores of the city will close all the

GET A DATE

"Get a date" is an expression quite often heard in college circles and one that has considerable significance. Some students are more apt in this line of adventure than are others as is quite evident throughout the year. The fortunate ones are to be complimented and the less fortunate ones deserve sympathy. Some young men "get a date" for every social affair, show, movie, and sunny afternoon of the year, while some only indulge occasionally, and others not at all.

This week-end, Thursday and Friday evenings, there will be opportunities for the young men to take their favorites to two of the best entertainments produced by college talent this year. Two very different kinds of entertainments will be presented. The Preparatory Dramatic club will put on a three act Farce-Comedy "Safety First" on the evening of Campus Day. The Girls' Glee club will present the Indian Operetta "The Feast of the Red Corn" May Day evening.

Campus day evening everybody will be tired from the labors of the day, but no one will feel that the day is complete unless they imbibe the wit and humor of a real live Farce-Comedy. No doubt everyone will be just as tired on the evening of May Day, but surely every student will consider the festivities of the day incomplete unless he attends the operetta "The Feast of the Red Corn." Make your arrangements now, "get a date" and help the other party to enjoy the two best entertainments on the college calendar this spring. Both are going to be exceptionally good and well worth your while and money, and certainly both deserve the united support of the faculty and student body.

Do Not Fail to see "Safety First" the three act Farce-Comedy presented by the Prep Dramatic Club in the College Chapel, Campus Day evening.

YOU ARE A MEMBER

It is often said that large committees do not accomplish as much as smaller committees. Working on this hypothesis a committee of one should be about the most efficient. Every student in the College should consider himself a committee of one to advertise the school among the circle of his friends. Every one that attends McMinnville college owes the institution something that cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents and neither can it be repaid in terms of monetary value.

Probably the very best service that every student can render to the school is to boost the school wherever you are. There is not a student who does not have in his circle of acquaintances or friends some one who is ready to go to college or soon will be and perhaps you have it in your power to bring them to McMinnville.

Think over your list of friends and when you have discovered one or more who will be ready for college next fall, see that they receive the latest catalogue and bulletins. In your letters tell them about McMinnville and what the school means to you. It is important that we do not over rate our institution to prospective students because when they do come they will be disappointed and the reaction will be unfavorable.

Mac college has some distinctive characteristics and it is these qualities that lend charm to the college. A personal word from a friend is often more effective than the persuasive argument of a field secretary. This is your chance to show loyalty to your school, to influence your friends to come to the best school and to help the Registrar in his field work for the summer.

Begin now to write letters and get your friends full of the ideas of coming to McMinnville next year.

MERRY RONDOLIERS SCORE HIT WITH VARIED PROGRAM

The evening of April 28 brought one of the season's best Lyceum numbers. The Merry Rondoliers, a company of five, rendered a varied program of readings, vocal and instrumental selections. Miss Rice, the reader, was the most pleasing artist of the evening. Almost instantaneously she was transformed from a beautiful bewitching lass of 17 to an old maid of 30.

The saxophonists performed with dexterity of execution and good tone production and shading. The jazz of the evening was concentrated in the picturing of the hydrophobia and eczema of the savophone by the soloist.

Mr. Small, manager, flutist, and tenor, with Mrs. Small, soprano, also pleased the audience with their solos and duets. Miss McGregor accompanied on the piano.

As a whole this entertainment was one of the season's best.

The past Lyceum season has been a successful one, owing to the support of the students and citizens of McMinnville and the quality of entertainments. Mr. Jesse Manley, the manager for next season, will be able to present an excellent course. His season promises to be a profitable one to those who appreciate first class entertainments.

"The Bean Pot," is the name of the new Boston University comic magazine, a name chosen out of 500 suggestions. The name was suggested by Dean Everett Lord, who thereby won a prize of $5. The new magazine will be a 20-page colored cover affair.

LIN O. TYPE.....Presents
Lotta News.....By Lina Bunk

Don't ask why we write this stuff, for if you would do a thing like that, you would ask the editor why his last name is Larson.

Did you go to the Lyceum to see who the fussers were or did you go for the entertainment, or because you had the tickets and couldn't sell, or because you couldn't help yourself? If you are one of the latter don't crab about it, it doesn't sound good to strangers.

"Mother" Potter says to put something worth while in the vacuum above your ears. Put this there. IT WON'T RAIN MAY DAY.

Now that student body elections are over and there is nothing else to run for, try getting out and running around the track, and you will have less time to think about how things would have been if you had voted the other way.

Lawrence Pugh, who was here last year, pleasantly surprised the Annual Editor by sending in his order for the publication early and the management would like it if others would do likewise.

When a professor puts a notice on the bulletin board and somebody sees fit to alter that notice, some people go around howling about Bolshevism and blame it on the Preps. That is the bunk. If you want to put your artistic ability on display make a sign of your own and hang it in a conspicuous place and call it square. We are not crabbing, we are telling you in case that you have not grown up yet.

How do you like our line? If you don't like it, tell us, not others.

We thank you!

LAKE COUNTY STUDENTS WIN GIFT OF $800,000

The Bernard Daly trust fund, created by the late Dr. Bernard M. Daly to provide college educational advantages for deserving young men and women of Lake County, was upheld by Judge Bean of federal court in an opinion handed down recently. The validity of the will was attacked by relatives living in various parts of the world from San Francisco to Italy and Ireland.

More than $40,000 will be available annually for the declared purpose. Lake county is sparsely settled, and those conversant with the conditions of the estate, predict that there will be enough money to send from 100 to 150 persons to college annually. It is believed that this fund will be more than ample to supply college educations to all the young men and women of the county qualified to be beneficiaries, for years to come.

The Girls' Glee Club will produce the Indian Operetta "The Feast of the Red Corn" in College Chapel May Day Evening. Show your interest in the work of the club, by being there.

INTERNATIONAL SECRETARY OF Y. M. SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Harry O. Anderson, Pacific Coast secretary of the International Y. M. C. A., spoke in chapel Friday. Mr. Anderson visited McMinnville in the interests of the foreign student movement and its connection with the Y. M. C. A. Student Conference at Seabeck. Mr. Anderson is devoting a great deal of his time to getting the 2000 foreign students in Pacific coast colleges and universities to attend these summer conferences.

His message to the student body was direct and forceful and he spoke with a keen sense of conviction of the needs of the world and the duty of the student in filling this need. The address centered around the three factors that Mr. Anderson believes is the greatest destructive force in school, home, community, or civic life, namely, fault-finding, indifference, and selfishness.

JUNIOR RECITAL GIVEN BY MISS RUTH ROY

Miss Ruth Roy delighted her audience at a Junior Recital given in Music Hall on Monday evening, April 25. This was the first Junior Recital of the year and it was well attended by a very appreciative audience. Miss Roy's execution of the various numbers on the program showed both talent and considerable skill in technique.

Miss Roy was very ably assisted by Miss Ida Miller, who rendered several songs in her usual pleasing manner. Miss Loda Davis was accompanist and also assisted in the two piano numbers.

The program was as follows:

Largo, from Sonata op. 7..Beethoven
Ruth Roy
Joan of Arc, Prison Scene...Bordese
Ida Miller
Clair de Lune.....Debussy

GRADUATING CLASS GUESTS OF JUNIORS ON PICNIC

In response to a pleasing invitation written in verse and sure of a rare good time, the Seniors gathered, according to instructions, at the gym last Wednesday afternoon at four.

Here was found to be located a railroad station at which Juniors and Seniors purchased tickets upon which was printed various bits of information except the destination.

Soon, however, the train started and with confident guides wound its tortuous way up one thoroughfare and down another. Spirits ran high and all superfluous dignity was thrown to the winds during the journey. At last, ship ahoy! A bonfire hove in sight, located on the large open field back of the Cook school, around which several Juniors were busily engaged. The entire company enjoyed doing acrobatic stunts on the apparatus in the play shed, playing various out of door games culminating in a baseball game until the call came for supper.

When everybody was in line supper was served cafeteria style. Laden with good things they comfortably concealed themselves among cushions and rugs about the bright blaze and proceeded to store away nourishment in a right lively fashion. Oh! ye raisin and peach pies! Some after-supper baseball was necessary to help accommodate it all.

At dusk the Seniors were summoned to the fire side and were seated facing the "platform." No Juniors were in sight, but soon with due solemnity and dignity, Ben Larson as Pres. Riley took his seat followed by Vivian Stewart as Mother Potter, trustees, car and gowned seniors, green-capped frosh, black and red-capped preps, etc. Glad were the seniors to witness their class day exercises.

Pres. Riley (Larson) having made various fitting and appreciated announcements introduced Mr. Jesse Manley as the Senior Orator on the subject of "Premature Highbrows." Next Miss Neppie Lou Bell delivered a second oration on the subject "Success." All hearing these master-pieces were certainly greatly edified and enlightened.

A trio made up of Jesse Jeffery, Minnie Larson, and Sarah Christiansen, sang a very pleasing and impressive song eulogizing the class of '21. Jessie Young read in verse the class prophecy.

Pres. Riley (Larson) concluded the exercises with parting words of advice to these about to try their wings in the cold hard world. Immediately following the program the happy crowd gathered about the fire and indulged in a half-hour song fest.

My! such a picnic and such a good time, and great was the courage of those who planned it in spite of discouraging weather. The Juniors have always been splendid loyal friends of the Seniors and this final token of their friendship will not soon be forgotten.

Zeta Chi

Mrs. C. C. Potter was guest of honor of Zeta Chi at an informal pot-luck supper in the den of the White House Friday evening. Gathered about the cheery fireplace the spirit of fellowship reigned supreme and every girl felt more the truly wonderful personality and love of our college "mother." Food was not lacking and having partaken thereof, songs disturbed the quietude until other duties called the forgetters hence.

Pacific University has recently secured the services of Leo Frank, a member of the present coaching staff at University of Oregon, as Athletic Coach and Physical Director. Mr. Frank is highly recommended by several competent athletic and coaching authorities as a first class coach and a true sportsman. During his high school and college days he was prominent in the major sports. He has played football and basketball under two of the best Midwest coaches of these lines and has been a star performer in both branches of sport, always prominently mentioned for honors on all-state teams. He has also had considerable experience in track. With such a coach P. U. ought to turn out some winning teams.

that was altogether novel and charming. This, together with the fitting distribution of bits of rose covered lattice around the walls and on the stage; the unique Lambda pin booth from which punch and wafers were served in the southwest corner of the room; and the lights around the wall transformed into huge roses with glowing hearts; all this served not only to make the evening highly enjoyable but as well, spoke silent tribute to the decorative genius of the Lambda girls.

And the program was equal in every way to the happy atmosphere and environment in which it was given. Miss Nina L. Greathouse read "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," by Francis Hodson Burnett, in a very impressive manner, her personality and ability as a reader being much appreciated by her audience. Miss Myrtle Ballard voiced the sentiment of all present and of all who have had the privilege of knowing Miss Corbett, in speaking of the value and helpfulness of Miss Corbett's friendship. The artistic finish and accuracy, and the interpretative ability of Miss Corbett in playing Liszt's Twelfth Hungarian Rhapsody brought her a wealth of applause when she had finished the number. The atmosphere of cultural refinement and friendliness, void of any surface sociability, which dominated the whole of the evening's affair was a genuine credit to all present and to Lambda Lambda Sigma.

MORE SLEEP ADVOCATED FOR COEDS BY DEANS

College girls need more sleep and less social life, according to resolutions passed by sixty deans of women in schools and colleges throughout Illinois, at a meeting at Northwestern University to establish a uniform standard of ethics for the feminine student. Aid of the parents of college girls is being solicited in maintaining this standard. The college girls of an earlier generation did not cut so many capers, it seems, but Dean Mary Ross Potter of Northwestern University, states that they are still optimistic for the future.

afternoon, from 12 m. until 4 p. m. thus giving everybody an opportunity to attend the athletic contests.

The festivities proper will begin on Thursday evening, April 5. The Preparatory Dramatic club will present the farce-comedy "Safety First" in the college chapel at 8:15 o'clock. The program will be resumed Friday morning at 9 o'clock by the Walnut City band. The coronation ceremonies will take place at 10 o'clock. All the time-honored customs connected with the crowning event will be observed as usual, the May dances, May Pole dance, drill, etc.

The athletic program of the day includes tennis and baseball with Pacific college of Newberg. The tennis matches will be played following the coronation and also at 1 p. m. The baseball game will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

The community luncheon at noon will be held in the college grove. All visitors and friends are invited to bring basket lunches and remain on the campus during the noon hour.

The culminating feature of the activities of the day will occur in the college chapel at 8:15 p. m. The Girls' Glee club of the college will present the Indian operetta, "The Feast of the Red Corn." This operetta is given under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Potter and is considered one of the finest musical productions ever attempted by the club.

The faculty and students of the college invite all the school children, high school students, the teachers of the city, and the citizens of McMinnville and of Yamhill county to attend the festivities.

END HONOR SYSTEM

The honor system governing examinations will be discontinued indefinitely at the academic college of the University of Minnesota, the students council voted last Saturday. Discovery and trial of many cribbing cases in the last semester's examinations was responsible for the action, it was stated.

ATHLETICS COMPULSORY AT EASTERN UNIVERSITY

Michigan plans to make participation in outdoor athletics compulsory for every student in the university. Courses tending to make the student as near physically perfect as possible will be prescribed for every student.

Two new indoor records were hung up at the A. A. U. meet at Salt Lake recently. Clinton Larson cleared the bar in the high jump at six feet four and three-quarters inches. Hoggan won the mile run in 4:45.

A good talker can always find a job, but a good doer is paid ten times as much.
