FORENSIC CONTESTS TO END YEAR'S WORK

The 1894 oratorical contest and the Prize declamation contest are two of the big features of commencement week.

The '94 contest is a prize contest that was originated by the class of '94, which set aside a definite sum of money the interest of which was to be used as two cash prizes of ten and five dollars each. The contest will be held in Music Hall Saturday afternoon. Those planning to enter are: Charles Davis, Edith Clark, Paul Jackson, Oscar Gladish, Clifford Vester, and Stephen Fielder.

The Declamation contest will be held Friday afternoon in Music Hall and is open only to Academic students. It is known as the Alice Schmidt Prize Declamation Contest as Miss Schmidt is the donor of the fifteen dollars offered as ten and five dollar prizes for first and second places. A goodly number of the academy students are working hard on their declamations in an effort to capture the shekels.

Both contests promise to be good, and the public as well as the students are cordially invited to attend.

BROADER ATHLETIC POLICY ADVOCATED

Athletes of College Feel that Limited Number of Games Has Prevented Best Development of Teams

In the Associated student meeting held last Friday a recommendation was passed asking that the president of the A. S. M. C. appoint a committee of three consisting of one senior and two additional members who will return next fall to go before the board of trustees when they meet in June to ask for a broader athletic policy for McMinnville college. It is proposed that the policy make provisions for (1) An athletic coach, (2) the privilege of scheduling a sufficient number of games of basketball and baseball to make the seasons worth while, (3) to have intercollegiate football if possible, and in the event that cannot be obtained, to have inter-class football. (4) that permission shall be granted athletic teams to be absent from school on Fridays when necessary to meet schedule, with the understanding that all work is to be made up satisfactorily.

During the past year the basketball season was limited to six intercollegiate games, and the baseball team has only played four games. Those who practice consistently during a long

LOYALTY MESSAGES HEARD IN CHAPEL

Representatives of American Legion and G. A. R. Define Duty of Americans to Fallen War Heroes

Friday during the chapel hour Mr. Irl McSherry, representing the American Legion, and Mr. Sawtelle, representing the G. A. R., each delivered a short memorial address to the students. Mr. McSherry outlined the program for the memorial celebration to be held Sunday and Monday in the city, and in a very concise manner defined the duty of every true blooded American citizen and the debt each owes to the fallen heroes of the past wars. He vividly pictured the suffering and sacrifice of the late war and what that war has meant to the present American generation.

Mr. Sawtelle, in his quiet effective manner, who believes in the teaching and preaching of loyalty, defined the duty of every American, young and old, as loyalty to God, loyalty to parents, loyalty to country, loyalty to friends, and loyalty to self.

Happy Picnickers Feast on Abundance of Eats Prepared by Committee

Saturday morning at 6:30, under a cloudless sky and a smiling sun, 113 happy picnickers gathered at the corner of 5th and C streets laden with blankets, cushions, cups, spoons, and kodaks ready for the biggest jovial celebration of the year. Four big wagons were waiting. As soon as the eats had been loaded and the crowd comfortably seated the signal was given and the train of wagons started for Baker Creek falls. Everybody enjoyed the usual short-cut hikes and an occasional wild strawberry en route to the power plant where all the wagons arrived about 9:30.

After a short inspection of the power plant the crowd hiked to the falls, while a four-horse team took up one wagon loaded with the eats and luggage. The falls hove in sight about 11:00 o'clock, and from then until the committee sounded the dinner call the time was spent investigating the beauties of the falls.

At noon Miss Steele and her faithful helpers served one of the largest and most appetizing picnic dinners ever eaten on Baker Creek. There was an abundance for everybody, all the beans, salad, sandwiches, coffee, ice cream, 'everything that one could wish

SIZE AND STYLE OF REVIEW TO CHANGE

Realizing the value of a weekly paper and being handicapped by the lack of space in the present size of The Review, the student body voted to change the size of the paper to a six column, 18 inch newspaper.

Beginning next fall editor-elect Harold Bliss will edit a real weekly newspaper printed on news stock that will contain all the up-to-the-minute campus news as well as the important news of other institutions of interest to the student body. The new size paper will be of great advantage to the student body as it will afford more space for news and feature writings and increased space for advertising, and be of greater service to all concerned.

THE END OF THE ROAD

This issue marks the end of the road for the year 1920-21 and with its publication ceases the work of the present editor, manager, and staff. The editor takes this opportunity to thank the members of the staff for their faithful and untiring service throughout the year for without their loyalty to duty the paper could never have been a success.

A great deal of credit is due the manager for the success of the publication. This is the first year that The Review has been published weekly and his work for the past year has been considerably heavier than that of former managers, but at all times he has been on the job with a view to making the paper the best possible.

The present editor and staff have endeavored to maintain a standard worthy of the college, of its faculty and students, and of those who have gone before us. It has been our aim to make The Review function and to justify its existence, to serve the purpose that a college paper ought to serve. The road has not always been smooth, but we come to the close of the year's work with no regrets for the things we have endeavored to accomplish.

To Editor-elect Mr. Harold Bliss, and to the staff he may choose, we wish the best of success. If the faculty and students give them the co-operation they have given us, the success of The Review for 1921-22 is assured.

THE EDITOR.

This copy of THE REVIEW is the last copy in the first volume of a weekly student newspaper in McMinnville College. The experience of the year has shown that the weekly paper is here to stay until student body growth demands a more frequent publication. The year has not been a favorable one in which to experiment. The cost of production of the paper has been higher than ever before while at the same time the supporters of the paper, the business men of the city, have been feeling the strain of unfavorable business conditions.

It has been because of the liberal support of these men, a list of whose names appear elsewhere in this paper, that the publication of THE REVIEW has been possible. The students owe these men loyal support. Boost for them whenever you can do so.

Next year with a paper of a size better adapted to weekly publication THE REVIEW can be made of more value to the advertisers and to the students. Mr. Weston Henry, the new manager, deserves united support in his task. Give it to him and he will give you a good paper.

THE MANAGER.

THE FINAL WORD

Vacation is at hand and all of you will soon be on your way to your homes. From the testimonials given by a number of you, one has a right to believe that your year at Old Mac has been helpful to you. One of our freshmen told me the other day that she has now an entirely different view of life and that her life was at the disposal of our common Lord and Master. Others have had a like experience.

Will it be asking too much of you that you bear testimony to this truth? The student secretaries may tell their story of the "Mac spirit" and of the good things awaiting prospective students here. This will probably have some effect. But how much greater will be the result when our students tell what they have experienced! I never tire of telling that we have the finest student body that can be found anywhere and only wish that we may find everyone boosting for his Alma Mater this summer. Will you do this for Professor Richards and me? Find out as soon as you get home what students are good prospects. Talk up Mac to them. Send their names to this office. Prepare the way for us. In this way we shall all be co-operating in the great work of giving the young people of our various communities a liberal education in a Christian environment.

Both of us are looking forward to the time this summer when we shall be able to meet you and boost together for a larger student body.

G. R. SCHLAUCH.

RESPECT SENIORITY

For the past three years I have noticed a steady falling off in, shall we say respect, for the upper-classmen. There has also been a marked change in the attitude of the students toward the faculty. Is this change due to the change of personnel of the student body, or is it due to readjustment following the war. I think no doubt the latter reason comes nearer to solving the problem than the former. Perhaps I am wrong in supposing that in a small institution the upper-classmen should be looked up to as they are in the larger institutions. Perhaps some of the upper-classmen are not as deserving of respect as they should be, but it seems to me that all should recognize seniority.

A stranger coming on our campus today would be puzzled to know who were upper-classmen and who were not if it were not for the caps and gowns. It seems to me that we should be able here, as in larger institutions, to recognize the upper-classmen by the respects and deference paid them on the campus. Students from other institutions would be shocked if they were to hear some of us address our professors in the terms that we do.

MILLER'S GOOD GOODS

We have all heard the old adage, "Experience is the best teacher." If we believe this then it seems that we should be more considerate of our upper-classmen. Some seem to have the mistaken idea that experience adds nothing to the ability of a person to solve problems, and thus the opinion of a student in the preparatory department is placed alongside that of a senior's.

When college opens in the fall let each one remember that the upper-classmen are indeed men and women deserving of respect from the standpoint of experience, if nothing else. Let each one likewise remember to address the professors with all the respect that is due them. These are only little things but we must remember that, "Trifles make perfection but perfection is no trifle." A SENIOR.

CLASSES ELECT G. M. C. COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES

Friday after chapel the several classes elected their representative to the G. M. C. council for next year. Miss Pangborn, president for the past year plans to have the new council organized before the close of the present semester in order that it might take up its work at once and assist the student secretaries during the summer in securing new students and also be on the job at the opening of the fall semester.

The council has an important work to do and it is urged that every member get busy immediately and make things hum for the coming year.

CONSERVATORY GRADUATE IS DOING WELL IN EUROPE

Howard McKnight, who graduated from the conservatory class of '16, writes that he is having a grand time and is doing well in musical work in Europe. Mr. McKnight was a brilliant pianist while in college and studied with Miss Sweeney, former professor of piano in McMinnville college. He joined the army and went to France in 1917 and after the armistice secured his discharge there to enter the musical work. He married a French girl in December, 1920.

Mr. McKnight has made great strides in his chosen profession and is now director of one of the finest orchestras in Europe. The past winter was spent in Cannes and Nice, but at present he is engaged in Paris.

FATHER OF FORMER STUDENT DIES FOLLOWING OPERATION

Ida Himes, '18, had been planning a visit with friends on the campus during commencement week, but her plans were interrupted due to the death of her father Sunday evening, May 22. The faculty and students extend to her their fullest sympathy in her great loss. Miss Himes will visit in McMinnville some time after commencement.

The Few

The easy roads are crowded;
And the level roads are jammed;
The pleasant little rivers
With the drifting folks are crammed.
But off yonder where it's rocky,
Where you get a better view,
You will find the ranks are thinning
And the travelers are few.

Where the going's smooth and pleasant
You will always find the throng,
For the many, more's the pity,
Seem to like to drift along.
But the steeps that call for courage,
And the task that's hard to do
In the end results in glory
For the never-wavering few.

for. Following the big meal the majority took snaps and naps for a few moments before the strenuous hike for the afternoon was commenced.

The woods were beautiful beyond description, the day was ideal, and no one failed to climb the nearby peaks, or to sound the depths of the neighboring valleys. The surrounding hills echoed the voices and calls of the happiest crowd that had penetrated those pathless woods for some time.

Supper had been announced for 5:00 o'clock so about that hour the tired and hungry gang began to wander in. Before long little fires were burning briskly, the hungry hikers were lined up and being fed. Forty pounds of weinies, buns, cookies, and hot coffee was handed out.

About six the homeward march was begun and by 7:30 the wagons were loaded ready to leave the power plant. Jubilant over the fun of the day, laughing and singing the happy bunch started for home, the first wagon hit 3rd street at 9:05 and the others each a few minutes later.

All those who went on the picnic declare it the grandest outing of the year, and the one day when they had a most wonderful time. A great deal of credit is due Miss Susie Steele, social chairman, and her committee for the satisfactory way in which everything was planned and the day made such a wonderful success.

'MOTHER' POTTER ENTERTAINS GLEE CLUB ON BANK DE COZINE

The Girls' Glee Club was delightfully entertained by Mother Potter, the club director, at a picnic supper on the banks of Cozine Thursday evening. As the girls gathered about the blazing bonfire and helped to consume limitless quantities of the kind of delicacies that mother makes, the long hours of strenuous practice faded into insignificance, and good cheer reigned supreme even though some were more 'n ful.

The club wishes to express its sincere appreciation to Mother Potter for all that she has done for the members during the year, for they feel they can never fully repay for the time and energy which she has so willingly given to them.

Prof. and Mrs. C. F. Richards, stage director and dramatic coach of the operetta rendered by the club, Mr. Kenneth Hickok who played the tom-toms, Mr. Harlow Leger, glee club manager, Mr. Stuart Goude, and Mrs. M. D. Warren were also guests of Mother Potter at the supper.

Y. W. C. A. CLOSES A MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR OF WORK

Another school year is drawing to a close and as we look back over the year we like to remember those things which have been most worth while in our lives. So we find a big place in our memories for our Y. W. C. A. and the inspiration we have gained from it each day. During the year the Association has occupied a big place on the campus among the girls and it has sought to incorporate into the lives of the girls the principles of Christ's teachings and those things which make for the bigger, truer, every-day Christian life. The officers and the cabinet members have worked faithfully, giving of their very best to serve their fellow students, reaping the reward of those who serve their Christ.

Next year promises to be a banner year for the Association and it is the hope and prayer of every Y. W. girl that she might serve her Master more loyally and make her Association the most practical and helpful institution upon the campus.

The last meeting of the year will be held Wednesday at the regular Y. W. hour. Every girl is urged to be present.

CAMPUS Y. M. C. A. IS BIG FACTOR IN STUDENT LIFE

During the past year the Y. M. C. A. has carried on its usual activities. As a whole the weekly meetings were interesting and well attended. The Bible study classes were successful. A Mission study class was conducted for several weeks during the spring semester.

Through the efforts of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. $296.00 was sent to the Charles Manley hospital in India. It is hoped that a similar gift will be given from year to year.

Harry L. Kingman, Sam Higginbottom, and Scott Winfield Hall, men of national reputation, have visited the institution under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Changes are now being made in the constitution which will tend toward a more efficient management and a more successful college Y. M. C. A.

when the Movement was inaugurated. The new offer of $200,000 from the General Education Board will probably make it necessary to apply a larger proportion of the New World Movement funds to endowment which requires a decided change in building expectations.

In view of this situation it is not unlikely that the board of trustees will decide not to erect the buildings shown in a recent bulletin "The Dawn of a New Day," but will erect some others less expensive which will meet the present situation and provide additional facilities pending the completion of the larger endowment fund.

It is understood that a gymnasium and a college commons are under consideration and if decided upon, their erection will be pushed immediately following commencement in order to be completed and ready for occupancy by the fall opening on September 20.

PAST YEAR BIGGEST IN DEBATE FOR MANY YEARS

The closing year has been a most successful year in forensics. In the early fall tryouts were held for oratory and debate, the debate tryouts being under the auspices of the forensic club.

A series of elimination oratorical contests were held in which Jesse Manley won the fifteen dollar cash prize and the privilege of representing the college in the state contest.

Interclass debates were held in which the Juniors defeated the Frosh and later defeated the seniors after they had lowered the laurels of the sophs. The forensic club awarded the Junior class a silver trophy cup properly engraved. The inter-class debates will be a permanent feature from now on.

The opening inter-collegiate debate was a triangular between Willamette, P. U. and Mac in which McMinnville took first place defeating Willamette 3-0 and losing to P. U. 2-1.

The girls' teams participated in a triangular with the same schools and though their efforts were not crowned with victory they were a credit to the college.

In the third triangular the men's team defeated Pacific college 3-0 and Albany college 2-1 again taking the victorious place.

Sylvester Cross is forensic manager for next year. He is an enthusiast for such activities and under his leadership forensics should thrive. The debate record for the past year is a good one. Many of the students failed to support the activity and the teams did not receive the support they were entitled to. Next year let everyone back oratory and debate for it a fine way to advertise McMinnville college.

There is no getting around it, a freshman's life is a funny proposition, after all.

If he turns out for athletics, it's too bad his brain isn't as well developed as his body; if he takes no interest in athletics, he's a grind.

If he talks in class meetings, he's an office-seeker; if he keeps still, he's not interested in student affairs.

If he manages to stay in school four years, he bluffed his way thru; if he leaves before he graduates, "Sh!" Doney slipped him a gentle hint.

If he spends his money without kicking, he's a spendthrift; if he watches the pennies, he's a T. W.

If he goes a good deal, popularity has turned his head; if he stays at home, it's too bad he can't get anybody to go with him.

If he takes the same girl out twice, he's married; if he divides up, he's fickle.

Campbell and Dowd Visit Campus

The University of Oregon Medical School in Portland, where several McMinnville students are attending, finished its year's work at noon last Wednesday. Kenneth Campbell and Hugh Dowd, members of the class of '20, returned for a few days' visit on the campus renewing friendships. They report a strenuous year's work, but judging from appearances both of them survived the grind without any ill effects.
