Inside Linfield Magazine

In June when I traveled over Santiam Pass to Sisters to cover the course History of Fire in the Cascades, I never imagined that just a few weeks later, another forest fire would have such a personal impact on Linfield College when Lincabin was destroyed by fire. In this issue, we have collected some stories about the cabin. But even with loss, we have much to celebrate at Linfield College. Our outstanding Music Department finally has a new home. The beautiful new Vivian A. Bull Music Center opened at a celebration filled with joyful music and much fanfare. The newly renovated Richard and Lucille Ice Auditorium is also being unveiled this fall. We pay tribute to two of our award-winning professors and provide insight into our varied student body. These are exciting times at Linfield and we look forward to sharing more stories with you.
