STAFF FOR "OAK LEAVES" HAS BEEN SELECTED

Saturday Last Day to Have Pictures Taken; Book 50 Pages Larger

Oak Leaves, 1922, is in the making. Both editorial and managerial staffs have been chosen and are busy with plans that promise to make 1922 Oak Leaves a worthy production.

The managerial staff will consist of Manager John Crump and Assistant Manager Llewellyn Sandermann. Alice Oliver and Harold Bliss will be assistant editors to Sylvester Cross, editor.

Among present plans for the 1922 year book are an enlargement of 50 pages over previous issues and a limp cover of leatherette. This style of binding will not only make the book more durable but will also enhance its beauty.

Next Saturday, Feb. 11, has been set as the last day upon which pictures for Oak Leaves can be taken. This means that students desiring a place in the annual must see the photographer at once, if they have not already had their photos taken. The following organizations will require pictures: Class, class officers (president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer), fraternity, sorority, Triple V, Adelpheans, Nesikas, Ladies' Literary Society, conservatory, preparatory, (class officers), men's debate teams (including alternates), Forensic Club, Dramatic Club, Review Staff, A. S. L. C. officers, and managers, Yell Duke and Yell Duchess, Executive Board, college orator, coach, Y. M. C. A. cabinet, Y. W. C. A. cabinet, Student Volunteers, Ministerial Organization, Cardinal "L" club, faculty, and president, secretary and treasurer of Board of Trustees.

There will be a change this year in the making up of the organization cuts. The staffs will mount the pictures instead of requiring each organization to attend to its own mounting. This will insure a uniformity in the appearance of the book which would otherwise be lacking. To this end, the president of each organization is asked to hand in by next Saturday to Manager Crump, an accurate list of the members in his or her organization.

Athletic pictures this year will be largely of the "action" type. This innovation will doubtlessly be welcomed by all. An illustrated reproduction of the past, present and future of Linfield college will also be a feature of this year's annual.

The plan of class and organization cuts will be uniformly square, similar to the style commonly used in university year books. The background for the mountings will be a light colored straw.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE SCHEDULED WITH PACIFIC COLLEGE AND ALBANY FEB. 18

With oratory over for the present, forensic votaries are turning their energies towards debate. One week from next Saturday (Feb. 18) the first intercollegiate triangular debate will be staged. Pacific college will send its negative team to McMinnville, Linfield's negative debaters will journey to Albany, and Albany College's negative representatives will meet Pacific College at Newberg.

The subject is not one of the worn out "cut and dried" argument type. It is one commanding especial interest at the present time and promises to furnish a keen and interesting debate. It is worded "Resolved, That the United States should assume no new political responsibility in Europe or Asia except where the purpose is mainly to protect American interests."

Linfield College's representatives are working faithfully in preparation for the coming fray. Remember the date, Feb. 18.

THE LIGHT IN THE EAST

Dr. Arthur S. Philips gave the chapel address Tuesday on the subject "The Light in the East." He told of his recent trip around the world and of the wonderful opportunity for progress to be made in the Orient if Christian workers were sent to the field. He drew many illustrations from his experiences there in telling of things accomplished by those missionaries who are now over there.

HONOR PRINCIPLE IS FOSTERED BY STUDENT LEADERS

Is Proposition Worthy of Careful Consideration; Entirely up to Students

I believe in the Honor Principle as applied to discipline in a small college. It may work quite well in some large institutions, but it is especially well adapted to the small institution. We would undoubtedly profit greatly by the introduction of the Honor system here. It would provide us with a definite means of handling delicate problems that are so annoying to those who are responsible for the students' welfare.

The Honor system is thoroughly democratic. It gives the students themselves the responsibility of looking after matters of personal conduct and social ethics among themselves.

Under proper faculty supervision this system should prove to be the most satisfactory method of handling all those problems that mean so much to the welfare of the college. Personally I should be glad to see the system tried, and shall gladly give it my heartiest support.

Dean of Men.

As a principle to guide student conduct the Honor Principle is both ideal and practical. The adoption of the Honor Principle will not suddenly transfer Linfield into a perfect state, but it will be an influence, inspiring every student to give expression to his best qualities.

MARK RICH,
Pres. Associated Students.

The most important feature in the consideration of the honor principle, is not whether we install or reject it. The vital thing seems to be, the duty of a thinking student body to investigate the principle thoroughly, and having done so, to render a wise decision for the coming generations of students.

The principle as presented has a two-fold aim, first, to establish a worthy tradition; and, second, to maintain a high standard of student conduct. It does not claim perfection, but it is an ideal towards which to strive. Our present ideals are high, and this principle is a furtherance of them.

It is a workable plan. Let us boost for the honor principle in Linfield.

DELIA E. INGRAM,
Vice-President, A. S. L. C.

The Honor system presented a few days ago in A. S. L. C. meeting is the topic of interest now-a-days. The advisability of adopting the system as proposed is questionable to me. It is unanimously agreed that in most cases where tried it has been very successful. The question here as elsewhere, is not will it usher in a Utopia, but will it better conditions, which it will if the Prep. department get the spirit.

2. If the college students will expect strict compliance on the part of their best friends, and 3, last but not least, if we go at it determined to "put it over."

CARL NISSEN,
President Y. M. C. A.

The honor system has been a successful institution where it has been given a fair trial.

It has been found to be a means of bringing out the nobler qualities which men possess so the undesirable elements do not find as much opportunity for expression.

This system ought to make our gymnasium a better place to find recreation. No need mentioning the practices which are most objectionable, but can be eliminated by united effort of the students.

I know of no better method of expressing the ideals of the better minds than by the honor system.

THE BAPTISTS WIN FROM PACIFIC COLLEGE IN HOOP GAME AT NEWBERG

Linfield Team Beats Quakers by Score of 43 to 5; Ben Larson High Point Man; Pacific Made Two Field Goals

Linfield Hoopers Take Quakers Into Camp in One Sided Contest

The Linfield basketball players had but little trouble in running their total up to 43 while the Pacific college representatives were getting five points.

The game was fast at times and in spite of the one-sidedness of the score it was a fairly interesting game to the spectators. Linfield team started with a rush which was never stopped during the game.

Good Offensive

Milton Coe, Wrex Hickok and Ben Larson were doing fine work on the offensive. They passed and passed around until they were sure of a good shot. First Milt, then Ben and then Hickok would slip the ball thru the ring. The scoring was about equally divided. Ben Larson got six baskets, Captain Coe five and Wrex Hickok a similar number. Miller played the last part of the game in Hickok's place and added six to the total score.

Checking Close

The guards did some fine work. It was fully five minutes after the whistle blew before Pacific got a good shot at the basket. They then changed their tactics and commenced shooting long ones but they were not accurate shots so all but two of these attempts fell short or were out of line.

During the first half the Quakers made only one point. Kratt and Wamp were on the defense most of the time although Wamp did slip down the floor and deposit the ball inside the ring once.

Roscoe Larson played most of the last half in place of Hoberg.

Weak on Fouls

Both teams were weak on foul shooting. Pacific players only concerted one out of ten attempts.

Kratt for Linfield made two out of five chances and Ben Larson got one counter out of three tries.

The line-up for the teams was:
Linfield—Hickok 10, F; Ben Larson, 13, F; Coe 10, C; Kratt 2, G; Hoberg 2, G. Spares—L. Larson, G; Miller 6, F; Bliss, C.

Pacific—A. Terrell 2, F; Cook 2, F; H. Terrell, C; Elliott, G; Armstrong, G. Spares—Carter, F; Hinshaw, C.

T. H. Gawley, Portland Y. M. C. A., referee.

Linfield Strong on Rooters'

Were you at Newberg last Saturday night? If not, why not? I feel sorry for those who were forced, thru uncontrollable circumstances, to remain at home and who find it necessary to receive second hand information as to what happened at Newberg on the evening of February the fourth. We certainly walloped Newberg. But that isn't all. Not only was there a victory for the team, but also for the enthusiasm and rooting on the side lines. 'Twas a reminder of the days when a special train used to carry the "rooters" to Newberg to support the teams. This spirit has lain dormant for a few years, but last Saturday night it burst, or rather, belled forth in all its glory. Let's get together friends and fellow citizens, and awaken the spirit of '76, let's take off the cloak of indifference and best wishes, let's get down and dig for the championship. There's no excuse for not having it. So next Saturday when we play Pacific University let's all go. If you can't bum a ride, borrow a wheel, ride the rods, blame it, ride anything! Let's go to Forest Grove—Everybody—when? Next Saturday, why? To run off with P. U.'s scalp.

If you have any spirit of sportsmanship in you, if you want to place your energy to a good cause, you can find no better opportunity than that of supporting our winning team. They appreciate your efforts, you'll appreciate them. So get behind the team and let's cheer Captain Coe and his valiant five to victory! Come on gang, let's go! Wow!! Lets take the burg by storm, let's show 'em that they can't back us off the map. Now all together—everybody. Forest Grove or bust!

LINFIELD PLAYS P. U. FOR CONFERENCE HONORS

DOPE ABOUT EVEN

The big cloud that fills the horizon this week is the Pacific University-Linfield College basketball game which will be played on the Forest Grove floor Saturday night. The winning of this game practically means the winning or losing of the Independent College Conference championship. Linfield has one game the best of Pacific University so far but if Pacific University wins Saturday night's contest the two teams will rate the same in conference standing.

The pre-game dope does not give either team any material advantage. While Linfield has piled up against the teams that Pacific University has played a bigger score than the Forest Grove boys have been able to run up against these same teams. In fact that Linfield has one victory over P. U. cannot be erased either.

To off set this, Pacific has its sensational victory over Willamette University and they have played more games so far this season than have the Baptist boys.

DURNO HELPING COACH

It is also rumored about that Eddie Durno, last year star forward for the University of Oregon is helping Coach Frank with his squad. Durno has built up a good Freshman team at Oregon this year and it is reasonable to expect that if he is helping coach the P. U. team his assistance will be of some advantage to them.

Students to Travel With Team

Linfield college is pulling strong for a victory over their ancient rivals. It has been estimated that at least one hundred rooters will take the trip to Forest Grove to root for the team.

Busses and private cars have been engaged and the train service between here and Forest Grove is so that those who have no other way to get there can leave here on the five-thirty train and return on the Owl which gets in to McMinnville at twelve ten. The

MR. WHITE PROPOSES TO GIVE PERSONAL LIBRARY

Linfield will have an addition to its library very soon for James Asa White general secretary of the Northern Baptist convention has offered President Riley his personal library consisting of some two hundred books all of which are works of well known writers.

President Riley read Mr. White's letter before the students at the chapel our last Thursday. After he had finished the letter to find out how many really had need of a good library on religious education he asked those who were planning on some foreign missionary work. In response forty-two rose to their feet. He then asked for those who were planning on entering into active, Christian work in this country to stand. This time fourteen rose to their feet.

When he put the question, "How many of you would like to have these books as an addition to our library?" the whole student body rose in response.

January 27, 1922

Dr. L. W. Riley,
McMinnville College,
McMinnville, Oregon.

My dear Dr. Riley: First, allow me to express my sincerest congratulations to you and the college on the splendid gift which has come to you. Please allow me to attach herewith a list of books which you will note are in the field of religious education. This is a list taken from my personal library. With a few exceptions I have worked over the entire lot in preparation for my work as General secretary.

Only occasionally now do I have use for these volumes, especially in view of the great mass of new material being put out in the field of religious education. I am, therefore, seriously considering the placing of my library of religious education in one of our colleges where it will serve a larger purpose. I do not know just what McMinnville is doing in this subject or just how much good such a library would be to McMinnville. I shall be pleased to have you canvass this situation and write me as to whether or not a library would be of wide service to your students. You know of course, of my deep affection for McMinnville and even though I have not yet decided to part with my library, you are the first person I am addressing on the subject and in case the situation there warrants it and I decide to give it, it will go to McMinnville.

I have had the ambition for some time to take up the work of religious education in one of our colleges and then take my library on with me. It looks now as though I may be tied up for an indefinite time with the tasks of our organization, therefore my proposal to part with my library.

Awaiting your reply, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
JAMES ASA WHITE,
General Secretary.

OH! YOU EXAMS

When day is done with all its tests, I often think my profs are pests, designed to drive a man to drink; they put my nerves so on the blink. For I'm kept busy 'till I am dizzy; Late into the night I toil; I cram, I jam, for that exam, I burn the midnight oil. But now it's o'er, this awful bore, my life runs along, like a happy song, and since my brain I do not tax, everything is as slick as wax. I laugh and shout, and cease to pout. I stop my grief and sigh relief; Like a colt I dance and sport—but all this joy is short. My blamed old papers come back again, from wise and antique schoolmen, who with fierce and caustic pen, revile me for tryin' to fool 'em. I don't begrudge the paper, ink, or time; Just one last wish is mine, I hope to see in some fair land, a test I'll really understand. VINA FINLEY.

"NOT BRAINS ENOUGH TO GO TO COLLEGE!"

"You haven't brains enough to make it worth while to go to college!" That was the information conveyed to a youth in San Jose, California, years ago when he had finished the high school. And the members of the faculty tried to discourage him in wasting his time and money in going to school any more. That same young man whom they said, "hadn't brains enough to go to college," is today the head of one of the great educational institutions of the country—the University of Washington—with its 6,000 or 7,000 students. That was Dr. Suzzalo. Today he is recognized as one of the shining lights in the world of education. "Not brains enough to make it worth your while to go further," he was tactlessly informed—and that same boy chopped and hacked his way through what would be regarded as an impenetrable wilderness of difficulties and discouragements—greater than any which befell those who worked side by side with him—and today he tops them all in scholarship, attainments, and general ability. His father met with misfortunes. He became broken in body and fortune. Young Suzzalo found it necessary to get out and hustle from the time he was twelve years of age. It was a long, long trail of hard work against unusual odds for him to reach the university and to complete the work there. He was thirty years of age before he completed his education. While attending the University in New York he lost both his mother and father. This in brief is the story of a family from Southern Europe—an Italian family with its two or three small fortunes and subsequent misfortunes which left them financially shipwrecked in California and struggling for a living. And young Suzzalo the Italian who "hadn't brains enough to make it worth while to go to college," is today setting the educational policy of one of the principal educational institutions in the country—a leader in modern thought and recognized as a man of brains, thought and action—without a superior on the Pacific coast. Draw your own conclusions, my boy, and buckle in! VINA FINLEY.

WHAT DO YOU SAY?

Maybe So.
All things come to he who waits. Maybe so, but we have noticed that the man who goes out after them usually gets a better hold on them.
The ancient authors wrote of women with drawn faces, the more modern writers tell of those with painted ones.

BIG MONEY VICTIMS

This remarkable news item appeared in Friday's Journal:
Movieland today saw three of its leaders standing out as principles in three great tragedies.
In Los Angeles, William Desmond Taylor, director of the Famous Players-Lasky company, had been murdered and detectives promised a sensational arrest before night.
In the same city, Paul Kramer, also a director, was hovering between life and death and Mrs. Mattie Hannan, his mother-in-law, was held in the city jail suspected of shooting him.
And in San Francisco a jury was still deliberating on whether or not Fatty Arbuckle could be guilty of having taken the life of Virginia Rappe.
Big money is one of the most demoralizing agencies in human life. When big money is also easy money there is no limit to its havoc on its holders.
It comes too easy and buys too much. It corrupts minds with the idea that everything is purchasable. It makes money everything, the final desideratum, the all, and lowers virtue, morality and wholesome living to zero. It gilds the imagination with gold and turns real things into veneer. The colossal salaries of movieland cut away moorings and converted mother earth into a place lined with jewels and paved with gold. It was a new world of unbridled liberty and mounting temptations. It was too much for human clay; hence the tragedies.—Journal.

Thus we see that money in excess, that is turned toward things that a not high and noble leads to death and disgrace.
Let us remember while we are getting our education that it is to help us live better lives not to make money. Money beyond what one needs for necessities and some of the comforts of life often leads to all that is low and disgraceful.

THE HARD ONES

We have just reason to be proud of our student body as Professor Schlauch says they take subjects because they want them whether they are hard or not.
The appeal has come several times for the more thorough study of foreign languages. The daily papers have even taken to advocating the study of these languages. The following editorial in the Oregonian gives us something of the way those outside of the schools feel about such studies:

Study of Foreign Languages
We can blame long generations of isolation from the affairs of the world for the continued reluctance to take up the study of foreign languages recently reported by a speaker before the Association of American Colleges, but it comes as something of a surprise that language study has declined rather than increased in the past five years. It would have been normally supposed that the war would create new interest in the subject by taking more than a million overseas, or that the emphasis placed on the need of foreign trade would stimulate interest in the subject. Neither has had the expected effect. There are 3 1/2 per cent fewer students pursuing these subjects, according to reports, than there were eight years ago.
We are likely to be sorry in years to come that we did not realize the immense advantage that accrues to one who is able to converse with a prospective customer in his own tongue. As one who would enlist the interest of a child makes his speech conform to the understanding of a child, so it is essential that the avant courier of trade should place himself on the same footing with those whose cooperation he desires to obtain. The parallel of the child is not in intelligence, for foreigners may be as far advanced as we are, but it exists in the respect that the initiative must come from us. We cannot expect a foreigner to learn our language in his own country in order to be able to listen to a message the value of which he probably does not appreciate in advance. The missionaries long ago discovered that they could do efficient service only by acquiring the languages of the people among whom they labored. The same situation exists as to the emissaries of commerce.
We made a brave start about five years ago, when there was a marked revival of interest in Spanish and French. A few brave souls ventured boldly into the mazes of Russian and Chinese. We were going to do big things with our new army of linguists, but enthusiasm soon waned. Taking the country as a whole, the language schools are filled with empty benches. Our foreign trade, if we ever have any, will be conducted with the help of bright young men of other countries who are more language-minded than we are.
On the theory that the undermanned professions ought to pay the better salaries, it would seem that those who have been fore-sighted might profit by the omissions of their fellows. But

Social Activities

Edited by ALICE OLIVER

Iota Omega Mu

Iota Omega Mu fraternity met in the parlor of the Davis one on Crawford avenue on Friday evening. The final degree of initiation was administered upon the worthy initiates who had come successfully through the strenuous and stirring times of the previous Monday. When the last word had been said, the fraternity extended the hand of full fellowship to Tees Doak, Alvin Rhodes, Floyd Miller, John Dulin, and Gordon Leger.

As the time was ripe for the regular election of officers, the fellows proceeded to that detail without any unnecessary delay. Milton Coe was elected to hold the reins during the last semester of this year and during Mill's last semester in Linfield college. Other officers elected were: Vice-President, Bernard Hansard; Secretary, Alvin Rhodes; Treasurer, Waldo Hoberg; and Review Reporter, George Paul.
But all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so the business meeting was followed by a social hour.

Zeta Chi Notes

The Zeta Chi sorority met Saturday evening at the home of Miss Mann. This proved to be a scene of unusual excitement as the evening went on for initiative of new members was in order. Not the least important part of the program was the pot-luck supper, which was heartily approved by all.

ALPHA GAMMA NU MEETS WITH PROFESSOR SHUMAKER

The Alpha Gamma Nu fraternity met with Professor L. S. Shumaker last Friday night at the A. J. Jones home. After a short business session the pledges came into the meeting and entertained the old members with a program which they had prepared.
At the close of the program refreshments were served.
The Alpha Gamma Nu fraternity is pleased to announce Franklin Vandenberg and Moore Stewart as pledge members.

the way it probably will work out will be that, lacking the personal to conduct the business efficiently, we shall have proportionately fewer openings. Trade is accelerated by mass attack; the more linguists we are able to rain, the more work we shall have for them to do.

MEASURE UP

Last week we had an editorial on the all important subject of getting by. This week we are printing an article taken from the Collegiate World written by Ray Wollam of the Agricultural College. He tells the best ways of getting by. Read this article carefully and if you decide that you are doing the things that are classed as things with which you are trying to get by. Wake up, see the folly of your ways and if you aren't quite sure whether studies have a place in this institution ask any of the Professors and they will answer you in a way that will leave no doubt in your mind.

Getting by in college consists primarily in being popular and having a large social following, but it includes a great many achievements and "scripturally" speaking, "It covereth a multitude of sins." For, in the eyes of the average college stude, the man that gets by in college is not only a "regular guy," but is destined to be one of the world's foremost leaders of the future; whereas, if you don't get by, you are only one of the vulgar herd, whose only future lies in serving the superior upper class. Now some of the country's foremost men have been so bold as to say that a man does not have to be a great social success in college in order to make a great success in the commercial world, but the college student undoubtedly has the correct view of the situation—when pressed he admits it.
Having pointed out what it means to be able to "kid" the curriculum and to gain a social standing in college, I will consider my time well spent if I can, from my observations, give a few tips on the art of getting by for the benefit of prospective freshmen, present freshmen, and possibly for misguided upper classmen.
First of all, we will consider the academic side of college life, for in spite of the average student's antipathy for studies, misguided profs will insist that the fundamental idea in coming to college should be to get an education. Unless one is an old hand

Zeta Chi

Zeta Chi introduced its pledge members to all the joys and sorrows of the first three degrees Saturday evening at the Young-Mann home. The evening proved one of great interest and excitement and lasting in the memories of the pledges.

Kappa Alpha Phi

On Saturday afternoon, the pledges of Kappa Alpha Phi entertained informally the active members of the sorority, at the home of Miss Ruth Riley. A delightful program started the entertainment for the afternoon. Bertha Jonasson recited an original poem, the sentiment of which was the expression of gratitude from the pledge members to the active ones.

Then the girls gave a little play-let which described a scene in the new Linfield dormitory. Ruth and Alma each sang a solo, after which the girls joined in a general chatting bee. Refreshments of pineapple ice, delicious cake and fudge were served toward the close of the afternoon.

Tripple VVV

The Tripple V met at the Yamhill hotel on the eve of Feb. 4th, '22. After a short business meeting and installation of officers the meeting was turned over to the social committee.
An interesting program was rendered, after which the favorite indoor sport was played, Rook.

HAROLD DISSMORE VISITS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dissmore have been visiting friends in McMinnville this week. Mr. Dissmore attended Linfield college one year and was a member of the class of twenty-three.

"COACH" GILDEA TO LEAD

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on Wednesday, February 15, will be led by "Coach" Gildea, a local lawyer and loyal friend of the college. We want every fellow, whether a member or not, to come to that meeting, for we promise you a worth while meeting.

at the game, studies will monopolize from one to three hours of one's time daily. But if one knows the tricks, the problem of studies is a simple one.

When a man registers for college, he should register for about twenty-two hours with the intention of carrying, say twelve hours, and dragging ten. He usually can make about half of the hours that he drags, and if he can do this he usually will be able to graduate in the scheduled time. A student should make a practice of carrying every book he possesses with him at all times, as this usually serves as an effective disguise with the professors.
Students should also make it a point to know the approximate chapter that the class is studying, as it makes a good impression on the instructor if you can tell him the subject that is under discussion in case he requires as to what the lesson is.
If you are taking a lecture course, be sure to stop a few minutes after class to give the professor the impression that you are especially interested in the course that he is teaching. If the professor has given an unusually feeble lecture, be sure to compliment him on his talk, as he will usually be disheartened because of his ineffective outburst and your praise of the lecture will cheer him up; very often he will pass you on general principles because of your apparent faith in him.
For examinations, one should perfect two styles of handwriting. One should be a clear bold hand which is the handwriting to use for the things you really know. The other brand should be your hurried scribbling hand. The scribbling handwriting should be used whenever you are rather doubtful as to the correct answer to the question. Your scribbling or hurried hand should be such that it will be impossible for the professor to translate it. When he gives your paper back he will probably have you marked down on your illegible question. But by this time you will have had sufficient time to look up the correct answer to the question you can then approach him with that injured, innocent expression and tell him that you don't see why the question should be marked down. He will tell you that he was unable to read it. You can then read off the correct answer to the question, which by this time you will have memorized. He will very likely rebuke you for your poor handwriting, but will raise your grade and grades mean credits. But I hear a

Our Motto: "When in rum do as the rummies do."

A few definitions that Webster forgot:

Accident—A condition of affairs in which presence of mind is good, but absence of body is better.

Afterthought—A tardy sense of prudence that prompts one to try to shut his mouth about the time he has put his foot into it.

Backbiter—A mosquito.

Bee—A little insect that is sharp on the north end when flying south.

Bee-keeping—A profitable business, but one in which you are apt to get stung.

Boil—One thing that a lazy person won't sit on. See tack, pin, etc.

Brothers—A state of relationship in which your mother and your brother's mother is the same woman.

Bicycle skirt—An abbreviated garment that makes women look shorter and men longer.

A cold spell—I-C-E.

Cannibal—A heathen hobo that never works but lives on other people. The one who discovered that beauty is only skin deep.

Daschund—A low down dog.

Dam—Used for holding back water or letting out a temper.

Policeman—A never present help in time of trouble.

Father, "You ask for my daughter? Why young man, at your present salary you couldn't even dress her."

Lover, "Oh, yes sir, I could keep her in gloves."

Father, "Do you mean to insinuate that my daughter would wear only gloves?"

Lover, "Pardon me, sir, I ask only for her hand."

The other day while one of the girls was brushing Alice McKnight's coat her hand slipped and the brush rubbed across the Duchess' cheek. The girl, "Oh, excuse me, dear."

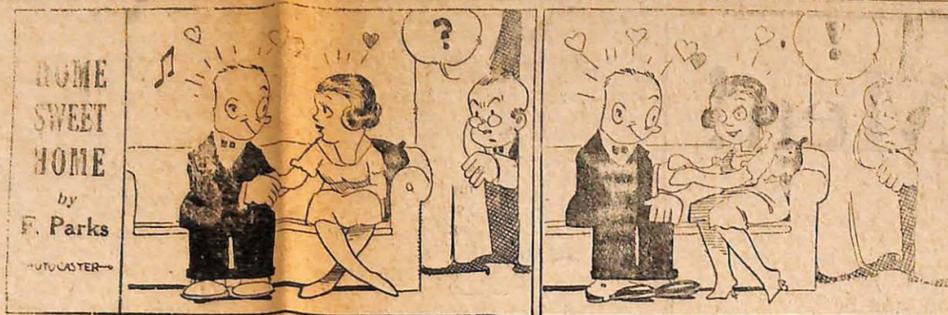

The Duchess, "That's all right, do it again—it feels like whiskers."

HOW ABOUT FOREST GROVE

Are we going to Forest Grove with the team? Yea Bo! That is the spirit. This is the hard and decisive game of the season and it will take all that the boys can do and all the support we can give them to go down to Pacific University and come home with victory for Linfield.

We want that game and one of the best ways to get it is to go with the team after it.

26 STUDENTS SUSPENDED

Payment of Fees with Dollar Tax Will Prevent Loss of Grades

Twenty-six students were automatically suspended from the University after February 1 for failure to pay their laboratory fees.

Notices have been mailed to the delinquents, informing them as to the procedure for reinstatement. By paying their fees with an additional dollar for late payment they regain student standing. They must then immediately petition the registration committee, of which Dean Dymont is chairman, that their hours be not forfeited.

Most students failed to pay either because of lack of funds or because they did not know that certain subjects required fees.—Emcrald.

NEW COURSES ADDED FOR NEXT SEMESTER

Zimmern to Take Course on International Problems

Lectures by Dr. Alfred E. Zimmern on international relations will be included in the course in World History since 1870, if present plans materialize. Dr. Zimmern, who is expected to spend six weeks at Reed during February and March, is coming straight from the Arms Conference and is an authority on the vital world problems of the present day.—Quest.

EMERALD'S RADIO OPENS; EXCHANGE NEWS WITH O. A. C.

At exactly five o'clock yesterday evening the operator in charge of the Emerald Radio Service station threw the switch, depressed the key, and with a heavy spark crashing from the swiftly revolving rotary gap, called station 7 Y J, at the Oregon Agricultural college. Signing off, he threw the switch to receiving position and listened intently. In an instant there was an answering buzz in the receivers, and the operator rapidly wrote "7 A B K (Oregon's call de (from) 7 Y J (O. A. C.'s call). Go ahead."

Emerald Sends First
By virtue of having inaugurated the service the Emerald then sent the first message as follows:
"To The Barometer,
Greetings: May a spirit of friendliness and cooperation between these two great institutions of a great state be fostered and advanced by this achievement of a great feat in science,—the successful completion of this radio communication service.
THE EMERALD."

This was answered by the Barometer as follows:
"The Emerald:

Greetings and congratulations upon the installation of your radio equipment. May this new service be of great benefit to us both.
THE BAROMETER."

Radio Service Open
The Emerald radio service was officially open!

Results of the basketball game with O. A. C. were transmitted and several news items were exchanged.

Hereafter a regular schedule will be maintained. Other colleges will be added to the service so that news from the colleges will be printed in the Emerald the day after its occurrence instead of after a delay of several days, as is now the case with the mail service.—Emerald.

ANOTHER VICTORY

While we are winning athletic victories let us not forget that we are pulling for victories in other lines. We are backing Cox to win the oratorical contest and another good year in debate can be ours if we get behind those who represent us on the platform.

young freshman piping up, "I am not coming to school for grades. What's the difference whether you get 80 or 90 if you really know the subject; and as for credits, credits are not everything."

"No, my poor misguided lad, it does not make much difference whether you get 80 or 90, but it's sure tough to get 50. And when it comes to graduation, credits are not everything. No; they are a little more than everything."

This article will be continued in next week's issue. You may not think this is worth while but if it comes to the end of the semester and you have been getting by and fail to come out on top in the finals we will consider that we have done our duty by you at the very beginning of the semester and who would blame us then if we set back with a know it all look on our face and used this oft repeated phrase, "I told you so."

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

Have you thought over the amendments to the Associated student's constitution that were brought before you last Friday. It is of vital importance to the student body. We are a growing organization and it has to change its rules and regulations to meet the needs that always follow growth.

The Honor principle is one which every student in Linfield college holds very dear. It is a good principle. It is the best known satisfactory way of governing the conduct of student life. It is up to you whether we have the HoHonor principle in our constitution as well as in our hearts and minds.

Are you sure that the proposed let-let is just what you want to wear when you earn one? Are you sure that you think enough of your school to pay a dollar and a half more to get a good annual?

These are good things and we want you to think on them for they are really worth while.

If you don't like them and think that still further changes should be made don't hesitate to say so when the proper time comes. If you pass up your opportunity then it is to be hoped that two weeks after these amendments have gone thru that there won't be somebody kicking.

This is not legislation for a few but for the whole school and if you let your chance pass to correct some mistake you have not done your duty.

THE LIMIT

Friday of this week has been set as the last day when pictures for the annual can be taken. It is proper that this preliminary work should be done early.

Make arrangements with the photographer to have your work done this week.

It is a big job for the manager to get his cuts ready to be sent to the engravers. By getting your picture taken early you are helping him and saving yourself time, for procrastination is the thief of time.

Y. M. C. A.

An "outside" speaker was the feature of our last week's meeting. Mr. Barnef Garrett, who is secretary of the local Commercial club, gave us a very interesting talk on "The Place of a Young Man in the Community."

Mr. Garrett has been connected with the Commercial club work, both in the University of Oregon and in McMinnville, and was able to give us some good advice as to our duty to the community in which we, as students, live, and in the community in which we will live, as the future business and professional men.

On Wednesday, February 15, "Coach" Gildea will lead Y. M. and we want every fellow out.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. was led by Pauline Whiting who told about her work in the mission in San Francisco. She was connected with the Social Service work and had charge of a school which later developed into a day nursery. She gave us an insight into the kind of service that a consecrated Christian can render here in our own country. Her talk was very interesting for it was the account of a personal experience that was of great importance to her.

LITERARY SOCIETIES CELEBRATE FIRST JOINT MEETING

The Adelphean literary met with their sister society in a joint meeting at the home of Prof. Jewell last Saturday evening. After a few items of business were disposed of a program by the members of the societies was rendered.

The ideals and ambitions for which the organization stands were reached in the various numbers in the program of the evening which lasted for one and a half hours. After the program, light refreshments were served, after which each member of the Adelpheans escorted his several girls to their various homes.

Rev. L. W. Riley, D. D.,
President Linfield College,
McMinnville, Oregon.

Dear Dr. Riley: Allow me to congratulate you and rejoice with you in the generous gift that has come to your college. Both you and your collaborators are worthy of it all. It ought to have a very encouraging and stimulating effect upon the work of the coming days. The hand of the Lord is certainly in it all. We pray that heaven's continued blessings may rest upon you and yours.

With high personal regard and best wishes, I am,

Very cordially yours,
S. G. NEILL,
Bible and Field Secretary.

Portland, January 31, 1922

President L. W. Riley,
Linfield College,
McMinnville, Oregon.

My dear President Riley:—I received the other day the bulletin in which told somewhat more in detail than did the newspaper account that came to my attention, the story of the recent addition to the endowment of the college and the change of name.

To be quite frank, I was at first inclined to resent the change of the name of the college, but on thinking it over it appears to me now the proper and wise thing to do, and I believe other alumni will agree with me in this.

Allow me to congratulate you, as president, upon a splendid achievement in adding so much to the resources of the institution.

Sincerely yours,
O. LARSELL,
U. of O. Medical School.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1922

President Leonard W. Riley, D. D.,

College of which you have been so long the beloved and efficient head. You know well that we in Rochester have followed with deepest interest the course of the College and of your administration. We have sympathized with your difficulties and have rejoiced in every success. Now we are glad with you in the splendid new chapter which is to be written. The past is secure, and the future is radiant with promise. Even more than in the past, may God show to you the shining of His face, and may thousands of students have reason to be grateful to Mrs. Linfield for her wonderful gifts, and to the trustees and faculty for their wise administration of that gift.

You will be glad to know that your McMinnville boys at Rochester are proving worthy of the college which sent them forth.

With cordial and constant regard,
Very sincerely yours,
CLARENCE A. BARBOUR,
Pres. Rochester Theological Sem.

New York, January 26, 1922
President Leonard W. Riley,
McMinnville College,
McMinnville, Oregon.

Dear Mr. Riley: Your letter of the 19th to Mr. Arnett came just as he was leaving the city for a journey. I am acknowledging it for him and beg to congratulate you warmly on the prosperity that is coming to McMinnville College. You have done a noble work and you are now getting some reward for your fine services.

With warm personal regards, I am,
Very sincerely yours,
WALLACE BUTTRICK,
Pres. Gen. Education Board.

LATOURETTE GOES TO CHINA

President Riley has received a letter from Professor Latourette of Yale University in which he tells of his plans for a trip to the Orient. He says in part, "I am to leave here next month for a brief trip to the Orient and I do not expect to be back in Oregon until early August. Mr. Mott has asked me to attend the meetings of the United Christian Student Federation in Peking in March and April to help in evangelistic meetings among the Christian colleges and to attend the All-China Christian Conference in Shanghai in May. Then I wish to visit some of our Mission stations in China and Japan. Last Saturday the Yale corporation gave me leave of absence for the second semester.

Cordially yours,
KENNETH S. LATOURETTE.

LINFIELD PLAYS PACIFIC UNIVERSITY

train fare round trip is a dollar seventy six.

Rooting has a lot to do with the winning of games. If Linfield sends down a good delegation as the plans indicate they will, the chances for victory are increased.

Howard Gildea, who coached the team for the last two years, told Captain Coe to save him a place that he was going down with the boys to help them win the game.

Sir Oracle Sez

We took another game. We sure are proud of our boys. It was nearly a repetition of the Monmouth game.

The P. C. floor was awfully slick. It took our team several minutes to become accustomed to it.

Milt sat on one boy and nearly caused him to expire.

It looked almost like a shut-out till the last few minutes.

U. of W. beat W. S. C. 37-28 and 40-10.

That makes them ten straight victories.

It also puts them in line for two titles.

Champions of the Coast and Northwest conferences.

Idaho lost to Montana.

Their stock came down in N. W. conference because of this.

O. A. C. trimmed U. of O. 39-19.

Oregon rates in the cellar this year. They are trying a new system.

They say it will work fine next year.

We hope so.

P. U. beat Albany 15 to 10.

The next night they beat Monmouth 21-15.

Monmouth seems to have picked up. Maybe P. U. was off.

At least something was wrong according to dope.

Spig is 'cabe.

February 2 was cloudy.

The groundhog failed to see his shadow.

The warm winds sure speak of Oregon weather again.

They can't pull the old gag about couples starting out stroll in the spring.

They've been doing it all winter. And none seem to be immune.

A professor at O. A. C. says gas will always be used in war.

We say gas will be used in the senate long after war has ceased to be.

A general at Washington says gas is the most humane method of warfare.

He never was gassed.

We play P. U. Saturday.

We have to win to get the pennant.

We want everybody to go down there and support the team.

GASCON, Duke of Buncombe.

Covering His Beat

"Why do you gaze at my nose," she said,

"You impertinent, rude, little pup?"

"Cause I'm a reporter, kind lady," he said,

"And I always take notice of things that turn up."

"Rastus, what am yo long suit?"

"Ah reckon it am'de one ah got on now. Ah done been wearin' it five years."

"Mamma, am I descended from a monkey?"

"I don't know, my son," he had replied, "I never knew any of your father's people."
