WEATHER MAN RETARDS OUTDOOR WORK ON SPRING ATHLETICS

Prospects for New Material Encouraging for Baseball and Track Teams

Aspirants for baseball, track and tennis teams are patiently waiting for Old Sol to come out and dry things up so that they may get out and display their ability in hopes of being chosen on one or more of these teams.

So far the weather has been very unfavorable for any kind of outside work except cross country. Baseball and track men have been using the gym to limber up in.

BASEBALL MATERIAL LOOKS GOOD

It is hard to tell how the baseball team will look when they line up against Pacific University at Forest Grove April seventh. Besides the letter men there are several new men out for positions on the team. The letter men are Captain Roscoe Larson, who will be on the rubber most of the time for the college this year. Walter Gowen, who caught last year, will probably be on the receiving unless Walter Harcourt, a new man of no mean ability as a catcher, beats him out of the backstop position. Kratt, last year's first baseman, will probably be prancing around the initial sack again this year. Second and third base are both open to new men. Bliss, shortstop for two years, will be out to try and hold down his old position.

In the outfield there will be Ben Larson and Mark Rich three year veterans.

Among the new men, who are showing up well at this time, are Walter Harcourt, catcher and infielder, Art Wilson, Ed Berger, Wrex Hickok and Floyd Miller seem at present to be the most likely of the infield candidates to secure a place on the team. Doak will try for an outfield position.

There are other men in school who will be out for the team as soon as the weather permits the men to get out on the field. The batting ability of the several aspirants is so far an unknown quantity and will be a large factor in determining who the player will be.

TRACK MEN ARE HAM- PERED BY WEATHER

The wet weather has put the track men far behind with their spring training. However, they have commenced to work on the track and if good weather prevails it ought to be in pretty fair shape by the first of the week. The first meet of the season is the relay meet to be held at Oregon April 14 and 15. This does not give the track men as much time as Coach Pettit would like but the conditions are practically the same in all schools of similar size.

On the track team there will be several of last year's squad. The distance men Elvin Hall, Captain George Paul and Earl Druse. Wrex Hickok, the veteran miler, will not turn out this year acting upon the advice of his physician. In the shorter races the college will have Milt Coe and Waldo Hoberg of last year's team. Hoberg will enter the broad jump and Coe the weight events. Claude Proffit will again enter the pole vault.

There are a good many positions or events open on the track team which affords the new men in school an excellent opportunity to make good in track or field events.

It is impossible to present to give the new men much of a write up so will wait a week or two to get a line on them.

TENNIS TEAM WAITS PATIENTLY FOR SUNSHINE

The men and women who are going to try out for tennis are forced to wait until the ground dries out so that the courts can be worked. The school is unfortunate in having only dirt courts which put them far behind waiting for suitable weather. Of last year's tennis letter winners one is in school, Weston Henry, who represented the college in mixed doubles and men's doubles.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR MAY QUEEN

Selection Made on Basis of Popularity

The big day is approaching. The first gun has been fired. On May 5th Linfield college will celebrate the grandest May Day in her history. The weatherman has been consulted by certain of the college officials and the report was most favorable. Plans are being devised for the most elaborate celebration the institution has ever known. Everyone is catching the co-operation spirit and things are beginning to move in the right direction.

Yesterday the Associated Students submitted nominations for the Queen of May. The election of the Queen is purely on the basis of popularity and the young lady who shall be chosen Princess next Monday will be crowned on May 5, the most popular young lady in Linfield college, to rule and reign in realm all her own and over the most loyal subjects in the world.

The four highest nominees are, Miss Delia Ingram, Miss Jessie Jeffery, Miss Dorothy Reichert, and Miss Jessie Young, all of whom are very popular in the student body and merit all the honors that can be bestowed upon them. Miss Ingram is a member of the senior class and has been especially prominent in student body work. During her Sophomore year she was secretary of the Conquest class and held many committee positions on the campus. In her junior year she was president of the Conquest class, secretary of the Associated students, and vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., and in her senior year she is vice-president of the Associated students, and president of the class of '22. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Phi.

Miss Jeffery, also a member of the senior class, has been especially prominent in musical and dramatic circles, and for the past three years has been a member of the Girls' Glee club and the College Dramatic club. During the past two years Miss Jeffery has played the role of the leading lady in every appearance of the Dramatic club. For three years she has been a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and has always been a leader in the social circles on the campus. She is a member of Zeta Chi.

Miss Reichert is one of the popular young ladies of the sophomore class. She has already attained considerable social distinction by being elected social chairman of the Conquest class. She is secretary of her class, a member of the Executive Board, and a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. Miss Reichert is a member of Lambda Sigma.

Miss Young, a member of the senior class, is also one of the most popular young ladies on the campus. During her college course she has attained considerable renown in Y. W. C. A. work, being Undergraduate Representative of the college and Field Representative for the state of Oregon. She was on the Review staff during her Junior year and is now treasurer of her class. She is a member of Zeta Chi.

The election of the queen will be held next Monday when the assembled students will choose the one whom they shall honor on May 5.

CAST FOR MAY DAY PLAY HAS BEEN SELECTED

Shakespeare's "As You Like It" to be Presented by Dramatic Club

Coach Irl McSherry has selected the cast for "As You Like It" which will be given here May Day by the college dramatic club. The cast consists of four female characters and fourteen male characters.

This is one of the biggest undertakings that the Dramatic club has attempted and they think that in trying to produce this classical play they are directing their efforts in worth while channels.

The cast of characters as selected will be given next week.

PROFESSOR GEORGE R. VARNEY

PROFESSOR GEORGE R. VARNEY WILL HEAD PUBLIC SPEAKING DEPARTMENT

Leaves O. A. C. to Return to Linfield College Will Succeed Professor Jewell

Professor George R. Varney will be head of the Public Speaking department in Linfield College next year. This announcement was made this week by President Riley.

Professor Varney succeeds Professor W. R. Jewell in this capacity. He has been a faculty member of this institution at two other times. He was here in 1908 and 1909 but was compelled to leave on account of his health. Again in 1917 he returned to the college, being professor in Public Speaking and Psychology, leaving here to become pastor of the Baptist church at Corvallis.

He held this position one year and then resigned to become a member of the faculty at O. A. C. in the Public Speaking department. After being there two years he has decided to come back to Linfield.

His work at O. A. C. has been highly complimentary and their orator, under his coaching, won the State Oratorical contest this year.

Dr. Varney has many friends here both in the town and college and they are very pleased to hear of his returning to the college.

Professor Varney, President Riley and Professor Schlauch were classmates in their Seminary days at Rochester.

PORTLAND BAPTISTS HAVE INVITATION TO VISIT LINFIELD COLLEGE MAY DAY

Stunt of 1908 to be Repeated; Special Rates Will be Given for Trip

History repeats itself. This will be demonstrated this year on May day when Portland people will again visit McMinnville and Linfield College for the annual May day exercises.

In 1908, President Riley invited the Baptists of Portland to make the trip down here on an excursion and see the college. The price of a round trip ticket for a dollar was made by the general passenger agent at that time. Ten carloads, some six hundred people all told, came to McMinnville that day. As they left the train and started down main street on their way to the college it began to rain. It rained all day, but in spite of the stormy weather and the lack of adequate shelter for so many people, they all enjoyed themselves. Lunch was provided for the visitors. Preparations were made for serving in the grove but that had to be abandoned and the food was served cafeteria style in the lower floor of the Administration building. After getting their food, a scamper was made for shelter and all succeeded in finding at least a friendly wall to lean against.

This year the administration has again asked the Portland people to McMinnville for the May day exercises so that they may become more thoroughly acquainted with Linfield college and its great work.

TOWN PEOPLE TO COOPERATE

The business men of McMinnville, upon learning of the proposed plan of the college, volunteered their assist-

THE LINFIELD COLLEGE DEBT HAS BEEN WIPED OUT AND MORTGAGE BURNED

Board and Faculty Tell of Financial Struggle Senior President Takes Part

Linfield college is out of debt. These were the glad tidings brought to the students at last Friday's chapel exercises.

A large number of the business men and trustees of the college were present, each one saying a few words.

President Rhodes of the board of trustees traced the financial struggles of the college from the time that his father was member of the board and when he was a student. He told of the faithfulness of the teachers who stayed with the college in the darkest hours going for months and even years without a cent of pay. He paid a tribute to President Riley, complimenting him on his excellent financial management which has resulted in bringing the college to its present standing.

Dean Northup, who has served the school for thirty-three years spoke, paying his tribute to the wives of the faculty members who bore the burden in the home. As Dean Northup expressed it "Making five cents do the work of five dollars."

Chas. Kopf, the treasurer, told of the handling of the finances. The mortgage was burned by the senior class. President Delia Ingram applying the match that forever removed the traces of indebtedness that has been the dark cloud hanging over the college during its entire existence.

D. M. Nayberger, of the McMinnville National bank, and Dr. Toney, a member of the alumni, spoke on the growth of the college and congratulated the school on its success in having met and overcome the difficult problems that more than once threatened to close the doors of the institution in its earlier history.

President Pennington of Pacific college gave a short talk in which he urged the students to be worthy of the efforts that have been put forth, that they are now able to secure their education in a school of such character as Linfield college.

The debt, which has been so recently cancelled, was paid off with funds other than those received in the gift of Mrs. Linfield to the college.

Dr. George F. Zook of the United States Bureau of Education then spoke a few words of greetings and congratulations. He said that it was very gratifying to him to find an independent college where the finances were so well handled. He seemed very favorably impressed with college and its work.

Dr. Zook is the specialist in higher education and has been visiting the schools of Oregon in order to determine what schools are doing standard work and those that are not.

After he had finished his short talk Yell King Dave Campbell led the students in some snappy yells.

President Riley then told the students that school was dismissed for the day and that they were free to go home if they were planning to leave to do whatever they pleased.

LINFIELD COLLEGE DRAMATIC COMPANY PRESENTS FINE COMEDY LAST WEEK

Handicapped by Sickness Students Give Excellent Presentation For Two Nights

"Nothing but the Truth," the three act comedy, staged last Thursday and Friday by the Linfield College Dramatic club, was well put on and those who attended were well pleased with the performance.

The play was based on the hero's bet of ten thousand dollars that he would tell nothing but the truth for twenty-four hours. Bernard Hansard played the leading part with Grace Edmunds leading lady. Many were the friends and customers who were insulted and angered by his statements of truth. Business transactions were ruined and even for a while the firmly established home of the Rallstons was on the verge of destruction.

In spite of the efforts of his business associates to make him tell a lie during the twenty four hours, the hero stood firm, winning his bet and the lady of his choice.

Every member of the cast played his or her part in a manner that would do justice to any amateur performer.

Coach Irl McSherry worked hard in preparation for this play and much of the success the production gained is due to his persistent efforts.

The cast of character:
E. M. Ralston, broken...Jesse Manley
Bob Bennett, partner.....
.....Bernard Hansard
Dick Donnelly, a partner.....
.....Edmund Berger

Van Dusen, a customer...Alvin Rhodes

Martha, the maid.....Lois Smith

The members of the club wish to thank the business houses who supported the play by so kindly loaning stage properties.—Review.

MISS CORBETT VISITS

Miss Vernita Corbett, last year instructor in the Conservatory of Music visited friends here Sunday.

PROFESSOR W. R. JEWELL

Professor Willard Roy Jewell for the past three years professor of Public Speaking and Sacred Literature, has resigned his position in Linfield College so that he may go to the University of Chicago to get his Masters Degree. He expects to get his Master's degree in Sacred Literature and in Religious education.

He graduated with an A. B. degree at Des Moines College, Iowa. In 1910 he graduated from the Rochester Theological seminary. After graduation he held several different pastorates, coming to McMinnville in the fall of 1919 to succeed Dr. Varney in the Public Speaking and Psychology Departments.

Besides his duties as a teacher, Professor Jewell has been very active in student activities. For the past three years he has coached the college orator; two of whom ranked well in the State Oratorical contest. He has also coached the debate teams during his stay here, turning out last year a winning team, both men and women.

He has been an active member in fostering dramatics in the school and has been the faculty representative on the G. M. C. council since coming here.

During his stay here he chose not to become affiliated with any of the local fraternities but became faculty member of the Triple V and organization of non-fraternity men made up in a large part of Preparatory men and during the first part of the year of Freshmen who have not been bid.

It is with sincere regret that the student body sees Professor Jewell leave the institution and their good wishes go with him into his new field of work.

Miss Pitts of Salem was Miss Logan's guest last week. Miss Logan became acquainted with her in Alabama.

A HALF CENTURY OF PROGRESS

Linfield College, now entirely out of debt and on a firm financial basis, stands today as a monument to the efforts, struggles and supreme sacrifice of the combined forces of the board of trustees and the faculty for the last sixty five years.

The College was taken over in debt and not until the present year was it ever free from that encumbrance which for many years increased rather than decreased, placing each year a heavier burden on the faculty and board members. At times it looked dark and it seemed to be almost inevitable that the doors of the only Baptist institution in the Northwest would close for good. But always the dark hour was tided over, until at last President Riley has to use his own expression "removed the barnacles from our educational ship" and we have sailed with a clean record out into the sunlight of accomplishment and have left behind the dark clouds of debt, worry and extreme sacrifice.

But it is yet to be guided safely into harbor. It is the unfinished task that lies before students, faculty and the board. We are dedicated and pledged to keep afloat on the comparatively quiet seas this educational ship that has been so carefully guided through the straits and given to us on the high seas in first class condition.

It is our duty to those living and dead who gave the best parts of their lives here that this college might grow and prosper; they suffered and their families suffered.

This one incident in the life of one professor brings very vividly to our minds the actual condition under which they worked to perpetuate the school that was so dear to them.

This professor's son came to him and asked him for thirty-five cents to buy a ball so that he might play with the other boys. The father took the son on his lap and said, "My boy, father has a letter here that should have been mailed several days ago, but I haven't the two cents to buy a stamp with."

This is only one incident but it can be paralleled by many others. To men and women who sacrificed this way that our college might live, have left Linfield college as a record of their achievement. We are proud of the privilege of attending a college that means so much to those who carried it through the dark hours and what little we can say will not be anything adequate, but we wonder if these words of Edgar Guest express their true feeling:

"I'd like to think that here and there when I am gone, there shall remain a corner spot that might have not existed had I toiled for gain; someone's cheery voice and smile shall prove that I have been worth while; That I had paid with something fine My debt to God for life divine." If so they have received as great a reward for services as can be found this side of Heaven.

What are we doing now that we are enjoying the fruits of all this sacrifice? Other student generations have turned out men and women that have made these people, who gave their all to this institution, proud that they were more or less instrumental in moulding characters that count for so much in this world.

Are we going to disappoint them? It is up to each individual. You are not called on to sacrifice but just to give of your time and talents that they may be trained to live the efficient life.

THE BEST LATHERED CUSTOMER IS THE EASIEST SHAVE

A customer rushed into a barber shop the other day and demanded a "quick shave." "I must catch a train in a few minutes," he said, "can you get me out in time?"

"Surest thing you know," said the barber.

Then he apparently did everything but hurry. He lathered and lathered and lathered until the customer himself began to get nervous. But the barber lathered until he was through and then in a twinkling the shave was over!

The man got out a minute ahead of time and with a good shave in the bargain.

The barber knew his business. He knew the value of proper preparation. He refused to be rushed to the "closing" when he knew that it wasn't the time to try to close the deal.

While we don't like to call our prospective students, customers, yet we think that the above little incident is very comparative to the situation that exists when student secretaries go out in the summer to secure new students for our college. Ask them and they will tell you that they have the easiest time securing the well lathered students. By lather in this case we mean the preparation of the high school student by friends, sisters and parents for a college of the Linfield type. Students who are writing home to someone in his or her high school that is going to college. You have come here and you like it, why not write to these friends of yours and talk to them of our school here. Fix things up so that they will want to come here. By doing this you will have things all fixed up so that the student secretary can close the deal so to speak.

The secretary goes out for the summer. He isn't able to stay in one town more than a day or two. He cannot talk at length with the students on the student life and the spirit of the college and so forth. What he has to say is of the other side. If they have been well lathered with true stories of the school and its work, the results that will be attained will be more gratifying both in the number of students and in the character of these students.

If you haven't been doing this, try and see if you won't experience a real joy boosting for the old school.

HONOR DUE

True athletics and victorious teams do not give any school lasting prestige for invariably they fluctuate. A winner one year may be in the cellar the next year. But nevertheless a winning team with an enviable record stands out prominent through one generation of students and even more and gives the school that the team represents publicity and the members of that team have a far greater influence on people outside of the school.

So it is with our basketball team. They have won their games in a good clean, sportsmanlike manner. By doing this, they have honored their college with the right sort of publicity. They have attracted attention by their work on the basketball floor.

Two of the members of the team will go out to teach and coach next year. They will wield a powerful influence over students of high school teams, first because they are men and secondly, because they have made a good record as athletes and at the same time have learned the lessons that real athletics teach in manhood and fair play.

Our basketball team deserves honor and credit for what they have done. But the job is only half done. Yet this year we will put three teams on the field to represent Linfield. The question is, will they uphold the record made in basketball? Possibly they may not do so well in games won. But that is just the reason why we expect them to win a lasting victory over themselves in the field of good sportsmanship and self control. Even if all games are lost and these victories gained they will have given the school a lasting prestige in the name of fair play. But how much farther this prestige would carry if we have winning teams. The sky is the limit, let us boost and work for spring athletics and victories for Linfield.

SAME WITH MENTAL SUNSHINE

A Scientist recently made a study of conditions in some of the great valleys of Switzerland. He found, as one would naturally expect, that three persons out of four made their homes on the sunny side of the valley. He also found that those who dwelt on the sunlit slopes were far superior in intelligence, education, and general prosperity to those whose homes were in the shadow.

All vigorous life is dependent on sunshine. Nature surrounds us with examples of failure from lack of it. We know how futile it is to try to raise plants or flowers without the sun. Many men and women have been partial or total failures from lack of sunlight. They have lived in shadow.

Many a weak worker would become vigorous and strong by merely getting into the sunshine. We cannot expect to put power into our work if it is not in the life; we cannot put vigor into our thoughts unless vigor is first in the blood. Notice how quickly the red corpuscles of the blood begin to fade and how soon the pale cheek takes the place of the rosy one when a person is robbed for any length of time of the life-giving power of the sun.

The light and warmth of the sun develop strength, energy, ambition, and courage. A man's natural powers are more than doubled by contact with sun and air. If we want to be strong, mentally and physically at our best, we must have plenty of sunshine.—Personality Magazine.

A LITTLE DOGGEREL

"You're sick of the game!" Well, now, that's a shame.
You're young and you're brave and you're bright.
"You've had a raw deal!" I know, but don't squeal.
Buck up, do your damndest, and fight.

It's plugging away that will win you the day,
So don't be a piker, old pard!
Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit;
It's the keeping-your-chin-up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten—and die;
It's easy to crawl and crawl;
But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight—
Why that's the best game of them all!
—Robert Service.

THE BACHELOR COMES BACK

Nip and Tuck, the main content of your "Convictions" as published in the last "Review," is merely an attempt to laugh the discussion out of court. We do not propose to let you do that. You must face the issue.

The issue is this, that the philosophy of "The Answer to the Bachelor's Prayer" is false; that its sentiment is one of indiscriminate liberalism. You will find the issue so stated in the previous article the "Bachelor" wrote for the "Review."

In defense of yourselves you have stated but four points, which points, in our judgment, form a very weak fortification.

First, you made this statement, "If you will notice, each of the Kolums is written for those who look on the bright side of life, who can appreciate humor without taking it seriously, as our friend seems to have done." Now Nip and Tuck, we agree that there is humor in your Kolums, real humor, and we have enjoyed it, but we can't quite comprehend the humor of the subject about which you have so recently written. On March seventeenth Dr. Charles Virden, of the Public Welfare Department of Chicago, told the State Probation Officers association at their meeting, that illegitimacy is on the increase. "There are many reasons for the increase of illegitimacy," Dr. Virden said, "but the chief reason is the modern 'undress' of women." Is the subject of your recent contribution a humorous subject? Either you have a very distorted sense of humor or we know where to place you.

We hesitate to say that you can't read plain English when you see it in print but evidently that is true. You say, "He agrees with us perfectly in his statement, 'Women should not be judged by their clothes alone,' but goes on to show how necessary it is to judge them by their clothes alone. Evidently he contradicts himself." The remaining part of the sentence, which you did not quote, is this, "but does our friend forget that this is one of the chief ways in which women express themselves?" Haven't you any better ground for defense, friends, than to misquote the article you are refuting? We are willing to let the interpretation of this point rest with the readers of this and your last article.

Also you say, "Our 'bachelor friend' has evidently not learned the distinction between a 'lady' and a woman of the streets, for he classes them both as the 'Ladies' of which we spoke. Let us quote from you again and then see who has failed to discriminate. Here are the two statements, 'The ladies are all right, whoever they be,' and 'Love to all women by all kinds of men.' You have here used 'ladies' to mean women in general. If you wished us to make a distinction why didn't you use the words with discrimination? That is the very charge we are making against you. You've got things a little twisted, haven't you?"

In reply to our quotation of your statement, "Love to all women by all kinds of men," you say, "Now we believe our Bible in which it says 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.'" Yes, Nip and Tuck, we recognize that statement as being one of Christ's, but nowhere in the Bible do you find Christ humorously referring to women with "three ounces of clothing and nothing much more." The word "Love," as used in your contribution, fails to carry the impression of that high type of Christian love, upon which ground you are evidently trying to explain yourselves.

In your advice to us at the end of your article you say "the people respect and admire the fellow who quits when he's done." The truth is, we were not done, necessarily, and consequently have seen no reason for quitting. However, we would suggest to you that you be careful, Nip and Tuck, because you are on slippery ground.

CLUB GIVES BASKET BALL TEAM BANQUET

College Commons Entertains Team on Wednesday, March 15

The College Commons was the scene of the second basketball feed given in honor of the Linfield team and coach.

The guests were seated in the corner at an artistically decorated table where neatly and cleverly made place cards marked the place for each guest present.

After the banquet a program was given. Elizabeth Vaughn played a violin selection and Esther Telcher sang. Mark Rich, president of the A. S. L. C. was toastmaster. Several toasts were given. Walter Harcourt spoke many words of praise for the work that had been done and the success attained by the team.

Captain Milton Coe gave a toast on "My Team" but begged that he be allowed to call it our team. He spoke of the splendid spirit of cooperation that had been shown through the year by the members of the squad and the student body.

Ben Larson toasted to the "Joys of a Player's Life." He told of the routine work of training, the monotony of consistent practice for three months, but said that these were greatly overshadowed by the feeling of joy that comes to one as he makes a good play, scores for his Alma Mater or keeps the opponents from scoring and when the game is over and you have done your best played the game and many times won for the school that you represent, then the keen sense of joy you feel, more than repay for the effort put forth on the floor to attain that ability that enables the school to win its games.

Coach Maurice Pettit gave a toast on sportsmanship holding up the development of the man as the greatest good that comes from competitive sports. He also gave the second team credit for the work that they have done in making this team successful. He praised them for their consistent efforts which were a strong factor in the development of such a good first team.

Mrs. Linfield spoke in President Riley's place. Dr. Riley was confined to his home with illness and was not able to be out. She talked on "Why I Like Basketball." She spoke words of praise for the sportsmanship shown by the team members in all of their games.

Captain-Elect Roscoe Larson pledged his toast to the Hoopsters of 1923. He spoke of the prospects for next year with five letter men to be back in the game.

The guests of the club were Captain Milton Coe, Coach Maurice Pettit, Professor L. S. Shumaker, Roscoe Larson, Waldo Hoberg, Floyd Miller, Wrex Hickok, Ben Larson, Edwin Kratt, and Harold Bliss.

Miss Zeida Peard, who went home a week before vacation, sick, is back in school now.

PROFESSOR VAN OSDEL IS CALLED EAST

Professor Van Osdel and family left last week for Grand Rapids on account of his mother's ill health. It was expected that the father and mother would go to Redlands for an extended stay, but the mother is unable at present to make the journey. The professor will return in two weeks to resume his teaching but the others will stay indefinitely, hoping that the mother will be able soon to go to California for a long period of rest.

The professor must feel somewhat at home, for he writes that they have had an Oregon winter. He thinks, however, that it will be hard to hold classes when the orange blossoms appear. The flu seems to have struck California much the same as it has Oregon.

Professor Gardiner received a letter from Redlands from which above accounts are taken.

TRIP TO SALEM

A number of college students inaugurated vacation week by motoring over to Salem Monday evening, March 20, to hear the Willamette-Redlands debate. They report an exceptionally good debate with a large and appreciative audience. Greetings were exchanged between the two Baptist institutions and the Redlands men reported that Prof. Van Osdel was well liked and doing a good work among the students in the southern institution. Those making the trip to the debate were: Prof. Jewell, Pauline Whiting, Hulda Nachtigal, Walter Harcourt, Halsey Carstens, Harris Erickson, Chas. Jenkins, Sylvester Cross.

Pres. Riley, Norman Riley and Jean Saucy were also in attendance at the contest.

MOTHER POTTER TO COME WEST

Mrs. C. C. Potter, known to the students of Linfield college as Mother Potter, who for seventeen years was Dean of Music in the college, will return to Oregon at the close of the academy in the east where she is teaching. She has been in ill health while there and is returning on this account. She has accepted the position as choir leader in the Highland Baptist church in Portland.

She has been in the east for two years now, teaching music in the Keystone Academy where Professor Coe, a former Linfield professor and registrar is principal.

The college students will be glad to have Mother Potter return to the west for she holds a large place in the hearts of the students and alumni who knew her. During her last year here she was Dean of Women.

Henry Dirksen, who was called home before vacation by the illness of his mother, has returned to school.

SENIOR CLASS BREAKFAST

As the gay dawn of St. Patrick's day first streaked the sky, the august seniors assembled at the home of Prof. Schlauch. And why should such staid and dignified people pass through the silent street at this unseemly hour? Why indeed?

The event, dear reader, was none other than the fourth annual breakfast of the class of '22. And think you that the end gained was not worth the sacrifice of an hour or two of dreamless sleep?

A breakfast, well, who could sleep if grapefruit, cereal with dates, sausage, the flakiest of hot biscuit, hot cakes, home made doughnuts and other examples of the culinary art in all its perfection were in waiting?

And did the seniors deal justly with these waiting viands? Verily, if food consumption be any test, their years of toil and boarding at the college commons have not been in vain.

After the inner man had been sufficiently cared for Halsey Carstens opened the program of the morning with a piano solo. Then several flights of oratory followed, as Carl Nissen, Walter Harcourt and Minnie Larson toasted the Past, Present and Future of the class of '22. The closing number was Chapin's "Polonaise Militaire" played by Flora Maloney.

Thus one more link was added to the now weighty chain of happy memories, the private and exclusive property of the present senior class.

MILDRED WESTERFIELD ENTERTAINS GIRLS

One of the joys of vacation were the jolly "get-together" times such as took place Wednesday when a number of girls gathered at the home of Mildred Westerfield for an afternoon of sewing and chatting. The time passed all too quickly, and very soon after the delightful refreshments were served, it was time to break up. All agreed that the afternoon had been a very delightful one. Those present were Grace Farrar, Thelma Miller, Mary Louise Andrews, Vivian Stewart, Gretta Goude, Ruth Riley, Alma Carstens and Bertha Jonasson.

MRS. LEONARD FINK ENTERTAINS KAPPAS

Mrs. Jennie Fink, an older member of the Kappa Alpha Phi sorority, entertained a number of the Kappas who were remaining here for the vacation, at her home Friday evening. To the delight of the girls, two of the older Kappas, Mrs. Eva Tilbury and Mrs. Vera Pettit, were present. The time was spent in sewing, singing and much gay talking.

Delicious refreshments were served and although it seemed impossible, it was time to go home. Those who enjoyed the delightful evening were: Mrs. Eva Tilbury, Mrs. Vera Pettit, Mary Louise Andrews, Helen Skinner, Vivian Stewart, Alma Carstens, Eva Cummins, Gretta Goude, and Bertha Jonasson.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

"Backward, turn backward, O! time in thy flight, And make me a kid again, just for tonight."

The lively bunch of girls that gathered at the Schlauch home Friday night completely forgot that there was such an element as time, and threw off all the years between their saucy childhood days and now. Short dresses and curls were all the style. A very lively evening was spent in playing "Old Witch," "London Bridge," and other games that favored of childhood days. Refreshments, consisting of popcorn balls and all-day suckers, were served to the children.

Loche Mardis, a former college student, now an instructor at O. A. C., visited his parents and friends here last week.

A recent letter from Andrew Wakeman, written from Belgian Congo states that they like it there. They are in the midst of Revival services and are indeed very busy. Andy is teaching French in the training school there as one of his many duties.

Professor Arlie Salmons spent her vacation with friends in Caldwell, Idaho.

HERE FROM EAST

Ray Culver, a former student and graduate, and his brother Ben, who took two years of his college work here, were called home last week by the serious illness of their father. Ray is now in Yale University studying and Ben is attending Rochester Theological Seminary. He brings with him the greetings from all of the former students who are there this year, fourteen all told.

MOTHER VISITS MISS REICHERT

Miss Dorothea Reichert is enjoying a visit from her mother who came from Spokane to see her last week.

PHILOMATHEAN FROLIC

Last Tuesday evening, March 21, at 4 o'clock the Philomathean's met at Oak Cottage and say, talk about fun, entertainment and eats! Words are indeed inadequate.

When one's mind isn't burdened with deep thoughts, and the nerving knowledge that he has five or six lessons to prepare for the following day, he is able to thoroughly enjoy a program. But we believe even Socrates, would have forgotten to meditate, had he been entertained by such talented artists, as we were enthralled by upon this eventful evening. Mrs. Osmer, Miss Hannah Anderson, and several other lesser lights, told of many touching instances of their varied experiences, which were enlightening as well as entertaining. "The Three Trees" by Montazi Vantixye as presented by Miss Olga Anderson, a noted pianist, is such a stupendous musical production, that to be perfectly frank, one is prompted to reflect for a while before answering the question, "Did you like it?" Ten to one, after due deliberation, the answer will be, "It was fascinating. I am waiting for an opportunity to hear it again."

All too rapidly the fleeting moments passed and soon, before our astonished gaze, appeared a table fairly groaning under its great load of goodies. The party gathered about the festive board, and the salad, buns, sandwiches and cake, disappeared as dew before the morning sun. The evening proved one of great interest and excitement as "never-to-be-forgotten" Philomathean good time.

MISS GILLETE VISITS

Miss Ada Gillete, who is teaching at Oakland, Oregon, this year, was a visitor over Sunday. She left for her work Sunday afternoon.

WILL EDIT NEXT WEEK'S PAPER

Owing to the fact that so many of the Journalism class were out of town for vacation and did not return until Monday, the class, acting upon the suggestion of Irl S. McSherry, editor, have postponed the editing of their number of the Telephone Register until next week.

60 TEACHERS ARE NEEDED

Sixty additional teachers are needed in the high schools of the Philipines to teach English. The entrance salaries are $1,500 and $1,600 on a two-year contract. The transportation is furnished to Manila. Information and application blanks can be secured from the Bureau of Insular Affairs, Washington, D. C.

Ten cash prizes for essays of 600 words on any phase of college sport are being offered by Outlook magazine.

Columbia University has received $42,259,293 in gifts since 1890. Last year's gifts amounted to more than $2,000,000.

REV. ARTHUR TIPTON VISITS

Rev. Arthur Tipton, a friend of Professor Gardiner's from the east, visited here Tuesday. He led the devotional exercises at the Chapel hour. Mr. Tipton now lives in Seattle and has been helping the pastor at Eugene conduct special meetings.

INTERCOLLEGIATE KNIGHTS TO BE INSTALLED AT W. S. C.

A chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights, new underclass service organization recently organized at the University of Washington will be installed here next Thursday and Friday by a representative from the University. It will include all active members of the Cougar Guards and this group will be known as the Cougar Guard chapter.

Three years ago the Knights of the Hook was organized at the U. of W. and the announcement of the national has just been made upon the approval of President Henry Suzzalo. Chapters at the Universities of Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Montana State College will also be installed immediately, and next September Stanford and the University of Southern California will be admitted. The University of California and O. A. C. have no similar organizations now from which chapters of the Intercollegiate Knights can be formed.

Control of the new order will be kept at Seattle for the next two years. The officers will be chosen from alumni Knights of the Hook. They will be president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and the board of control. After the first two years the officers will be elected by delegates from each local unit, which will meet in convention yearly.

Later on when the western division has been more completely organized petitions from the eastern colleges will be considered.

The advantage to be gained from the national organization is the bringing of the local units into a more compact body for the inter-change of thoughts and ideas, to facilitate the entertainment of visiting teams, and to serve athletic contests, debates, assemblies, and all-college gatherings.

One freshman and one sophomore elected from each organized house composes the local chapters. After a member has passed his sophomore year he drops out automatically and another is elected.

U. OF W. NOT RICH MAN'S SCHOOL; MANY FORDS BLOOM ON CAMPUS

For every student who rides to the campus in a Pierce-Arrow behind a uniformed chauffeur, 63 Fords trundle a daily consignment of students up to the Washington cradle of intellect, according to Officer Fred Bloom, who completed a census of all cars parked on the campus last week.

Bloom avers that his facts prove that the University is not a rich man's school, and it is rumored that he is now preparing statistics on the numbers who walk and those who patronize the municipal jinrickshaw system.

The campus marshal is cooperating with the bursar's statistical department, and his vast notebooks contain much data on who loiters in the Stadium after the 10:15 zero-hour and who brings in the A. S. U. W. canoes after dark.

Results of his count showed the following numbers of cars of various makes parked on the campus in one day:

Ford 63	Overland 4
Buick 188	Willys-Knight 3
Chevrolet 14	Maxwell 3
Dodge 14	Paige 3
Oakland 6	Studebaker 2
Franklin 5	Cadillac 2
Nash 5	Oldsmobile 1
Chandler 5	Pierce-Arrow 1

If you find Bloom meddling around your bus don't think you are arrested for dodging traffic regulations—the Norwegian limb of the law is probably just inspecting steering wheels to spot the one-handed drivers.

ALL STAR QUINTET NAMED FROM HIGH SCHOOL HOOPERS

As an enviable aftermath of the climax of the interscholastic basketball season comes the state all-star selection. Three teams are this year represented in the stellar group. The team was chosen by Coach Bohler of Willamette in conjunction with many of the high school coaches who were present at the tournament, although the personal selection of Coach Bohler was found to conform to the composite opinions of the high school mentors.

Following are the names of the men honored in the all-star cast:

- First team:
Guthrie, Ashland, forward
Westergren, Astoria, forward
Ramsey, Ashland, center
W. Kramer, Pendleton, guard
Luoto, Astoria, guard
- Second team:
Heer, Ashland, forward
Carson, Newberg, forward
Lawrence, Pendleton, center
F. Kramer, Pendleton, guard
Young, Ashland, guard.

Y. M. C. A.

"Courage" was the word which a Mr. Rich chose as a subject for the Y. M. C. A. meeting for last Wednesday. He gave us a short talk on what courage is and then left the impression that it takes courage to get up and give other our view on anything. The result was that a goodly number of fellows responded to the challenge and a mighty lively meeting was the result.

The annual election of officers was also held with the result that Llewellyn Sanderman was elected president and Edmund Berger, secretary. There was no election in the other offices.

EDITORS OF SCHOOL PAPERS MET AT NEWBERG

Organization is Formed Tuesday at Meeting; Ten Schools and Colleges are Represented

The high school and college editors of Yamhill, Washington, and the north end of Marion county met at Newberg Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a permanent district organization of editors of school papers.

In the afternoon Dean Allen of the University of Oregon school of journalism addressed the gathering. He spoke on the problems of school journalism and urged that each school put out a fair paper. One that is fair to the school and to the advertisers who support it.

Other talks were given by Mr. Hall of the university press and Mr. Chatten of the Hicks-Chatten Engraving company of Portland.

At five-thirty the domestic science department of the Newberg high school served the visitors a banquet. At the banquet the organization took definite form. Robert Brown was elected president and the district representative to the state convention in Eugene April 14 and 15. Mr. Brown is editor of the N. H. S. Echoes and he and Miss Anderson of the Newberg high school faculty were the sponsors of the meeting and much credit is due them for the action that they have taken in forming such an organization. The schools represented were Willamina, Sheridan, Amity, Newberg, Forest Grove, McMinnville, Woodburn and Dayton, Pacific college and Linfield college.

A meeting of the executive committee which consists of one member from each school will be held the last week in May at Newberg to provide for the work of next year.

SPECIALIZING

The present century is often referred to, as an age of specializing. Some time ago man realized that he could not be "all things in all," and as a consequence turned his attention to the particular thing that he could do best, or that which most interested him. Hence this age of specialization, and right here in our fair city an example of the trend of times, not only in the professions but in commercial lines as well we find people engaged in one particular line of endeavor, which, through the expenditure of much energy, time and money, has brought to a remarkable degree of perfection. Nowhere is the point better illustrated than in McMinnville, and it is the purpose of this article to deal with one store in particular.
