Y. W. C. A. Kid Party

"Backward, turn backward, O time in your flight, And make me a child again just for tonight."

Surely Father Time turned back at least ten years Saturday night at the Y. W. C. A. kid party for on every hand were short-skirted flowing-haired "little girls." Not a grown-up was present; even the faculty took the role of long ago and entered heartily into the youthful games.

Upon entering, each little girl was given an elephant and a slip of paper upon which she wrote her name. Teddy bears and dolls were fought over, curls were pulled and everywhere peels of laughter rang out. Did ever kids act so before? Blues, homesickness and strangeness vanished as by magic. No place for such as they in that gathering of happy, friendly "kids."

Then came such games as ring-around-the-rosie and farmer-in-the-dell, followed by a grand march and an impromptu program. Later each little girl was made happy by a bag of popcorn and an all-day sucker. Then home, every girl an enthusiastic booster for the Y. W. C. A. and Linfield college.

Phi Epsilon

The first meeting of the Phi Epsilon fraternity for this year was held at the home of Walter Gowen and the evening was spent in a real reunion spirit.

The meeting was opened with a few words of welcome from the President and in response to roll-call each member gave a short review of his summer activities. Every member reported a fine summer of work or pleasure but only one received special attention for the unusual success of the effort he put forth. Each brother was glad to give him a very "warm" congratulation upon his achievement.

A short business meeting was held during which Weston Henry was elected to the office of President for the coming semester. After this meeting was closed refreshments were served by our host and a general good time followed.

Lambda Lambda Sigma

The first meeting of the Lambda Lambda Sigma sorority was held at the home of the Misses Mary and Myrtle Ballard.

The meeting was opened by a short devotional service led by Miss Evelyn Leger. Afterwards each girl told of some funny experience that occurred during the summer. Plans for the year were discussed with a great deal of enthusiasm. Just before time to close each member was provided with a generous piece of watermelon to be disposed of as she saw fit.

The sorority is looking forward to the year with the greatest of expectations, ready to do its level best.

I. O. M.

The social life of the Iota Omega Mu fraternity started off with a bang Friday evening when Bill Swift showed up at the agreed meeting place five minutes late.

During the business session election of officers was held and Bernard Hansard was chosen to wield the hand of authority for the semester. Other officers elected were, Vice-President, Floyd Miller; Secretary, Lester Bertleson; Treasurer, Wm. Maxwell, and Reporter, Alvin Rhodes.

The fraternity feels especially fortunate this year in having back with us our old friend and advisor, Prof. Varney.

Adelphian

Mr. Cox's home furnished the setting of the scene of the reunion of friends as they came together to develop their literary abilities and enjoy each other's fellowship.

New officers were elected to manage the work of those who did not return to school this year. The evening passed very rapidly as ways and means of improving the society and reaching greater attainments were discussed. Plans were outlined for the coming weeks and the society looks forward eagerly to its literary programs, which constitute the greater part of every session.

Y. M. C. A. Stag

The Y. M. C. A. Stag was held Saturday in the gym. Many expressed the opinion that it was the best stag held in years. The large number of new students and the conveniences of the gym made it possible for everyone to have a "howling" good time.

After the first hearty hand of welcome had been extended to the Rooks a few exciting games were played and enjoyed by all. As the close of the evening drew near all were asked to sit on the floor in a large circle and one after another told his name, nickname, class and home town. This round of introduction was followed by a few words of greeting and welcome from the president, Llewellyn Sanderman.

Punch with a punch and doughnuts with lots of rim proved a fitting top-per-off.

Delta Psi Delta Fraternity

The Delta Psi Delta fraternity met Friday evening at the home of Brother Hugh E. Whirry. The evening was spent in hearty good fellowship, as the various members recounted their summer experiences. The fraternity looks forward to the coming year as being one of its best in service to Linfield and in fraternity jollifications.

Zeta Chi

The Zeta Chi girls met at the home of Ida Miller for the first meeting of the year. Some business was transacted, after which followed a happy social hour, each one telling of her summer's experiences.

Student Volunteers

The Student Volunteers met in their accustomed place, the pastor's study, at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. A very helpful and impressive devotional meeting was led by Miss Clark, president of the band. By her gracious words of welcome Miss Clark made the goodly number of new students feel very much at home in our meeting. If you are a new student and are interested in Christ and his kingdom, come. We welcome you! If you are an old Volunteer, shame on you if you don't come. There were twenty-four present Sunday. Let us keep up the good attendance. We feel keenly the loss of many of our band and our prayers follow them as they labor in other fields.

"A call to loyal soldiers Comes to one and all. Soldiers for the conflict, Will you heed the call? Jesus is the captain, We will never fear, Will you be enlisted As a volunteer?"

B. Y. P. U. Reception

After a most enthusiastic prayer meeting on Thursday evening, students and members of the church gathered in the Conquest Class room for an enjoyable, get-acquainted social hour.

In the receiving line, as the students entered, were Dr. and Mrs. Trawin, President and Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Linfield, and the officers of the B. Y. P. U. organization.

As each one passed through the receiving line, he or she was presented with a slip of paper, and directed to write his or her name and home address upon it. It wasn't long before names and faces were associated, and everyone began to feel at home.

As a means for a real mixer, those in charge passed around animal crackers to the young ladies and corresponding ones to the gentlemen. These they matched, and in that way, partners were secured for the program of the evening.

President Harvey Locke spoke a word of welcome to the new students. He urged them to consecrate their service to the McMinnville B. Y. P. U. during their stay here, and to enter into the spirit of our young people's gathering.

A beautiful violin duet was then played by the Misses Mary and Myrtle Ballard, graduates of the class of 1922.

The next number of the evening's program was especially enjoyed, as it was given by some of the members of the faculty. They presented a little skit, "Who Died First?" Professor Shumaker as "hubbie" and Miss Mann as "wifie" brought many a laugh from the appreciative audience. Even our quiet Professor Gardiner starred in the role of a mighty landlord while Miss Salmons successfully carried off the part of the grasping landlady, Professor Hewitt and Miss Ramsey surprised the audience by assuming childhood parts, both of which were played to perfection. Behold the dramatic talent on the Linfield teacher's corps!

At the conclusion of the play, Miss Esther Telcher sang a solo, "The Barefoot Trail," in her usual pleasing manner.

Of course no B. Y. P. U. reception is ever complete without refreshments. This time each one enjoyed a big piece of pie a la mode, the only regret being that there wasn't more.

The Wonders of Science

Prof. Squirrelfood of Hokum College, an Eastern institution, endowed by a celebrated chewing-gum king, informs us solemnly that the angleworm can think. His real name is not Squirrelfood and the name of his college is not Hokum, but the item has appeared in the newspapers, nevertheless, with the real names instead of the aliases.

When a scientist's meal ticket begins to look like a piece of Battenburg face from the holes punched in it he has to start out and discover something or the low-browed captain of industry who is putting up the mazuma to keep the institution going thinks said scientist is loafing on the job.

The professor who discovered that there is a certain deadly microbe lurking in the supposedly chaste kiss which the sanitary milk maid confers upon the hired man probably received an increase in salary of $15 a year and cinched his tenancy of the chair of osculatory exercises for life.

But the scientists do not always finish what they start. The scientist just referred to did not tell the public that the microbe in the innocent country smack is only the matrimonial microbe, deadly though it may be.

Prof. Squirrelfood, our present hero, tells us that an angleworm can think but he doesn't tell us what the angleworm thinks about. If an angleworm is cut in two can he think twice? He leaves the world still groping for information, which is one of the tricks of the trade. He would be foolish indeed to tell all he knows about the thing at once.

That angleworm may keep him in a job for fifteen or twenty years.

This would be a lugubrious old world without the scientists. They have discovered that George Washington was a tax-dodger, Patrick Henry was tongue-tied, Cleopatra had a wax nose and store teeth. Marc Anthony didn't try to borrow anybody's ear, Columbus was such a poor athlete that he couldn't box the compass, Caesar's wife had a gent friend, Balboa never discovered anything but the high cost of living, and Ham was a white man and not a parlor-car porter.

But why shouldn't the angleworm think? The ultimate consumer thinks and his thoughts cut no more figure than the angleworm's.

Castle of Romance for Sale

London, England.—Tantallon castle in North Berwick, for centuries the stronghold of the Douglasses, was sold this summer. In Sir Walter Scott's "Marmion" the battlements of the Tantallon are the meeting place of Clare and her lover. Around its walls many fierce battles have been fought. At one time the castle was besieged by King James V, who failed to make a breach in its 12-foot walls and starved out the garrison. Later it was the scene of onslaughts by Cromwell and the Covenanters.

End!

Miss Gnu: There goes Willie Kangaroo. He's broken off his engagement to Isobel Wallaby.

Miss Gazelle: The little bouncer!—Life.

Profitable Helpfulness

"He prospers most who serves best" is an adage that may, in some measure, explain the prosperity of this bank. It realizes to the full that this is the age of business efficiency.

GOSSIP OF THE GRIDIRON

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.—The University of California football team suffered its first defeat of the 1922 season when it lost a hard-fought contest to the Trojan freshman at Bovard field, score 6 to 0. Wolford, freshman tackle, often broke through Johnny Boyle, varsity tackle, and spoiled many plays. Boyle is considered one of the best tackles in the Pacific Coast conference.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 25.—The Harvard football coaches put their big string of varsity players through their paces in earnest today. For the first time the four teams which have been working up plays were called on to show their wares against the scrub team and in a half hour of scrimmaging managed to score three touchdowns by means of steady rushing.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 25.—The Princeton varsity football teams ran away with the scrubs this afternoon, scoring six touchdowns during the daily scrimmage period. The attack was led by Robert Beattie, a member of the freshman team last year, who scored three touchdowns, once after a 60-yard dash down the field.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 25.—Yale's eleven today was organized for the Carnegie Tech game next Saturday. Yale's custom of holding no scrimmage practice on Mondays following a scheduled match was observed today. Captain Ralph Jordan, who retired in the first period on Saturday's match, did not get into the signal drill, but no fear is felt that he will be unable to face Carnegie.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—The appearance of George Larkin, veteran lineman from last year, and Frank Stone, who was a quarterback candidate in 1921, brightened the daily workouts for the Minnesota squad on Northrup field this afternoon.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 25.—For the first time Coach Phelan gave the Purdue football squad real scrimmage drill this afternoon. The team that looks like Phelan's first pick of a varsity eleven showed very good. Several plays were tried out with fair success. The coach also gave the men drill in punting and drop kicking.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 25.—Relaxing from hard scrimmage of last week and nursing bruises from a practice game last Saturday, the Iowa squad's practice tonight was limited chiefly to signal work and forward passing. Coach Jones, however, will allow no letup in speed even for cripples. Engeldinger, Thompson, White and Johnston, with hands bandaged, are playing. Hicks, quarterback, appeared today despite a wrenched knee, but wore no suit.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—There was considerable line work at the naval academy this afternoon, the candidates trying to break through or open holes though no regular scrimmage was held. Every possible player was given a chance at the kicking in the hope that a good punter might be developed. It looks as if the naval academy would have one of its heartiest lines.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 25.—Yost put his men through their last full day of practice, for with the opening of classes tomorrow the Wolverines will limit their drills to three hours a day. The Yost men were put through an hour of scrimmage in which Herb Steger was again the shining light of the back-field. With Kipke and Cappon on the side lines the Chicago boy tore through the second team time after time for wide gains, scoring several touchdowns on runs from mid-field. Captain Goebel did the place kicking. Kirk was conspicuous in nabbing passes. Uteritz suffered a slight injury to his shoulder.

Pole-Vault Record Broken

The world's record for the pole vault was broken in the Copenhagen stadium Sept. 4 by Hoff, the Norwegian athlete, who cleared the bar for 4 meters 12 centimeters, or approximately 13 feet 6 inches. The previous record was made in 1920 at the Olympic games at Antwerp by F. K. Foss, an American, who vaulted 4 meters 9 centimeters, or 13 feet 5 inches.

Excessive Gallantry

"You seem to have been in an accident."
"Yes," said the bandaged person. "I tried to climb a tree in my motorcar."
"What did you do that for?"
"Just to oblige a lady who was driving another car. She wanted to use the road."

A man's hand contains 25,000 pores.
The sea urchin has five jaws, each with a single tooth.

Some men are born liars, some acquire the habit, but most of them get married and have it thrust upon them.

The total enrollment at the University of Oregon summer session was 822, of whom 469 were in the Portland center and 353 on the campus. Students doing advanced graduate work numbered 80. Plans are already under way for the summer term of 1923.

Appraising It

"Yes, I did write that actress a few letters."
"What did you say?"
"My lawyer thinks I said about $25,000 worth."

So your father is a Southern planter?
Yes; he is an undertaker in Atlanta.

He—I want to kiss the baby.
She—I am the youngest in the family.
