Carnahan earns double recognition

Scott Carnahan '73, Linfield College director of athletics and head baseball coach, garnered two important distinctions this spring. He earned a regional athletics director of the year award and collected his 500th victory as Linfield coach.

Carnahan was named GeneralSports TURF Systems Athletic Director of the Year by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Since becoming athletic director in 1996, Carnahan has championed academics within Linfield athletics. He has overseen numerous athletics facilities projects at Linfield, including last year's $1.44 million campaign to renovate Maxwell Field. Under his leadership, Linfield won the NWC All-Sports trophy for three of the past five years.

Carnahan picked up his 500th win as Linfield baseball coach during a March game against Whitman. His Linfield record is 518-345-2 and his career record, including six seasons at Lower Columbia College, stands at 683-415-2. As Linfield baseball coach for the last 22 years, Carnahan's teams have won 10 Northwest Conference championships, including five straight titles from 1992 to 1996.

Integrity and solid leadership skills are important elements in Carnahan's legacy, according to Linfield President Vivian A. Bull. He leads by example, she added, bringing out the best in others and empowering those around him. A 98 percent graduation rate for baseball players during Carnahan's 22 years at Linfield is evidence of his strong commitment to academics.

"His emphasis on the student-athlete is extremely important," said Bull. "Along with teaching the fundamentals of all sports, he also sets an example of good citizenship for student-athletes. He has a strong commitment to the institution and all that it stands for."

As a Linfield student, Carnahan played football and baseball, earning all-conference, all-district and all-region honors as a catcher during his senior season.

Cats dominate conference

Three Linfield College athletic teams and one individual earned Northwest Conference titles this spring. The women's tennis, softball and baseball teams all earned top conference honors, along with three individual winners.

Women's tennis

The women's tennis team celebrated its fourth consecutive conference championship, finishing with a 15-4 overall record. The team boosted its conference winning streak to 46 matches and concluded the season ranked No. 7 in the NCAA Division III West Region rankings. ESPN The Magazine academic all-district honors went to Kasey Kuenzli '07 and Becca Johnson '07. Johnson, who posted a 9-4 singles record and 13-1 doubles mark, was also named NWC Player of the Year. Coaches Carl Swanson and Amy Dames shared conference Coach of the Year honors.

Softball

The Wildcat softball team won its second straight NWC championship this year, ending the season with a 24-4 league record and with a 31-9-1 overall mark. Ranked as high as No. 7 in the National Fastpitch Coaches Association poll, the team advanced to the NCAA Division III regional playoffs in Redlands, Calif., where they suffered back-to-back defeats against Redlands and Trinity. Outfielder Shelly Steinke '06 earned academic all-district honors. This was the second winningest season in program history, trailing only last season's 37-9 mark.

Baseball

The Linfield baseball team finished as NWC co-champion for the second straight season with a 33-7 overall record. The Wildcats advanced to the NCAA Division III West Regional tournament in Orange, Calif., but were eliminated in two games by Texas Lutheran and Chapman University. Center fielder Tommy Paterson '05 was named NCAA III West Region Position Player of the Year and garnered first team All-America recognition.

Track and Field

Joni Claypool '06 was NWC champion in the shot put and received All-America honors at the NCAA Division III outdoor championships. She broke a 14-year-old school record while placing fourth at the NCAA championship meet in Waverly, Iowa. Danielle Bielenberg '06 also earned All-America distinction in the women's discus.

Women's Golf

Linfield golfer Leslie Wheeler '07 earned top honors at the season-ending women's golf championship tournament. The Linfield team finished fifth.

Finding balance: Amanda Weeber '05

Amanda Weeber '05, swimming and pole vault

Hometown: Redmond

Major: Mathematics and secondary education

Career ambition: Teaching

Swimming achievements: Placed second at the Northwest Conference championships in the 400 individual medley as a freshman, second in the NWC in the 200 butterfly as a sophomore and fourth in the 200 backstroke and 400 IM as a junior. She was voted rookie of the year in 2002, women's most valuable swimmer in 2004 and team captain in 2004-05.

Track and field achievements: Placed seventh in the NWC for the pole vault as a sophomore and junior, and placed fourth as a senior. Her personal best mark is 10' 4".

Her coaches, Gary Gutierrez and Garry Killgore: "Gutierrez has such an encouraging personality. Killgore has the ability to push you beyond what you think you can do. Both are always available outside of practice to talk with me, sports related or not. This lets me know that they care about me as a person as well."

Being an athlete at Linfield, "You have to be organized and self-disciplined. It is vitally important to have a balance on what you spend your time doing."

Other campus activities: Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Athletes Ministry.

Chose Linfield because "I knew I wanted to go to a small college in the Northwest. I liked the idea of being able to come here and not necessarily have a niche to fit into, but to be challenged in my faith, too. I definitely made the right choice to come to Linfield."

Favorite professors: Steve Bernhisel (education), and Stephen Bricher '86 and Charles Dunn (mathematics). "They taught the material of the class while making it interesting. As an education major, I learned that math will be more interesting for students when you, as the teacher, are excited and passionate about it."

What will be missed most after graduation: "I will miss the people. It is just so nice to be in such close proximity to friends and be able to walk down the street and see familiar faces."
