Biographical and Historical Note

Elaine Cohen founded the Oregon Wine Press (originally called the Oregon Wine Calendar) with Richard Hopkins in 1984. Cohen served as the executive secretary. In 1990, Cohen received the Outstanding Service Award from the Oregon Wine Board; she later founded the Oregon chapter of Women for Winesense in 1992. Cohen was involved with the publication for 22 years until it was acquired by the News-Register Publishing Co. in McMinnville, Oregon. The Oregon Wine Press was created to promote the Oregon Wine industry through publications of events and activities.

Content Description

This collection contains images chronicling the history and the development of the Oregon wine industry. This collection primarily includes photographs of various events documented by the Oregon Wine Press (OWP) or photographs given to the OWP. Many of the photographs show past events, locations and people. This collection contains a myriad of different Oregon wine events such as festivals, tastings, meetings and harvest parties.
