2009

Alumni News

Linfield Magazine Staff

Debbie Hansen Harmon '90

Linfield College

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.linfield.edu/linfield_magazine

Recommended Citation

Linfield Magazine Staff and Harmon, Debbie Hansen '90 (2009) "Alumni News," Linfield Magazine: Vol. 6: Iss. 1, Article 17. Available at: http://digitalcommons.linfield.edu/linfield_magazine/vol6/iss1/17

This article is brought to you for free via open access, courtesy of DigitalCommons@Linfield. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@linfield.edu.
Welcome new alumni

One day, one time, six parties. Alumni in three states will welcome new graduates to their area and provide tips and advice to the latest generation of Wildcat alumni during Homecoming to the Alumni parties, held simultaneously on Sunday, June 28, at 4 p.m. in Portland, Salem, Bend, Seattle, San Francisco and McMinnville. Make the most of your Linfield network by attending an event.

To www.support.linfield.edu/welcome09.

Message from the director

Are you making the most of your Linfield connections? Many times just this semester, I have witnessed Linfielders helping each other and in today’s economy, that assistance is more valuable than ever. I am reminded of a 2008 graduate who made a connection through last summer’s Seattle Welcome to the Alumni party that resulted in a job. Or the 1993 alumni who attended Linfield Professionals Network event in Portland after losing his job and got a lead that resulted in a position.

Linfield alumni are responding in other ways. At a recent Life after Linfield dinner, 10 alumni returned to give career advice to graduating seniors. On another occasion, a recent graduate relocating to North Carolina contacted our office. We, in turn, put out a call to alumni living in the state and within 24 hours, 20 responded willing to serve as a resource for him.

Connect with your Linfield peers—attend our networking events, join the Facebook group, log in and search our online Wildcat directory. If you are an alum who is willing to help others, attend one of the welcome parties to roll out the welcome mat, offer to let a Wildcat job shadow you or return to campus to share your expertise. They say it is not what you know but whom you know that counts. I am happy to tell you that you know a lot of people through Linfield. It’s your Linfield—make it count!

—Debbie (Hansen) Harmon ’90

Advice to freshmen

Don’t be afraid to take chances. Stay organized and have fun.

—Karsen O’Bryan ’09

Professors have office hours for a reason. They want to help, but they can’t if you don’t make the time.

—Samantha Smith ’09

Choose a major that you are interested in and don’t be afraid to change your major. Life is too short to do something you don’t enjoy.

—Megan Ellis ’09

Don’t stress over the little assignments, but push yourself to do your best. Make time for friends and fun. Treasure these four years!

—Tiffany Jones ’09

As tempting as it is to go home on weekends as a freshman, stay on campus and meet people early in the year.

Get a job! Every bit of money helps, even if you only work six hours a week. It will also open up opportunities for you later.

—Carissa Hansen ’09

Try something in every department. Many of my best connections with students and professors were made outside of my major.

—Galaxy Slight ’09

Your GPA as a freshman actually counts toward your final GPA... so try to study a little, too.

—Kendra Stridom ’09

Become friends with your professors early. They will help you in classes, deciding on graduate schools and serve as great references for your future career.

—Amanda Moine ’09

Travel to another country. Take an online class through DCE.

—Naeem Montazer ’09

Pencil us in

Welcome to the Alumni parties
June 28, 4-6 p.m.
In Portland, Salem, Bend, Seattle, San Francisco and McMinnville
Oregon Shakespeare Festival July 30 - Aug 2
Dodgeball with Durham One Last Time
Sept. 12, 9-10 a.m., Ford Hall patio
A reunion for players, coaches and friends of Paul Durham ’36.
Alumni volleyball game
Oct. 3, 7 p.m., Wilson Gymnasium
Homecoming Oct. 16 - 17
Costa Rica - Nature’s Museum alumni tour
Feb. 8-16

Lights, camera, action

Grab your video camera and earn some cash by entering the Homecoming video contest. “Come Home to Linfield.” Grand prize is $500. Videos must be 90 seconds or less and submitted by Sept. 1. Top videos will be placed on YouTube and the grand prize selected by vote. Videos will also be screened during Homecoming. For details, go to www.support.linfield.edu/video_contest.

Advice to freshmen

Don’t be afraid to take chances. Stay organized and have fun.

—Karsen O’Bryan ’09

Professors have office hours for a reason. They want to help, but they can’t if you don’t make the time.

—Samantha Smith ’09

Choose a major that you are interested in and don’t be afraid to change your major. Life is too short to do something you don’t enjoy.

—Megan Ellis ’09

Don’t stress over the little assignments, but push yourself to do your best. Make time for friends and fun. Treasure these four years!

—Tiffany Jones ’09

As tempting as it is to go home on weekends as a freshman, stay on campus and meet people early in the year.

Get a job! Every bit of money helps, even if you only work six hours a week. It will also open up opportunities for you later.

—Carissa Hansen ’09

Try something in every department. Many of my best connections with students and professors were made outside of my major.

—Galaxy Slight ’09

Your GPA as a freshman actually counts toward your final GPA... so try to study a little, too.

—Kendra Stridom ’09

Become friends with your professors early. They will help you in classes, deciding on graduate schools and serve as great references for your future career.

—Amanda Moine ’09

Travel to another country. Take an online class through DCE.

—Naeem Montazer ’09

Pencil us in

Welcome to the Alumni parties
June 28, 4-6 p.m.
In Portland, Salem, Bend, Seattle, San Francisco and McMinnville
Oregon Shakespeare Festival July 30 - Aug 2
Dodgeball with Durham One Last Time
Sept. 12, 9-10 a.m., Ford Hall patio
A reunion for players, coaches and friends of Paul Durham ’36.
Alumni volleyball game
Oct. 3, 7 p.m., Wilson Gymnasium
Homecoming Oct. 16 - 17
Costa Rica - Nature’s Museum alumni tour
Feb. 8-16

Lights, camera, action

Grab your video camera and earn some cash by entering the Homecoming video contest. “Come Home to Linfield.” Grand prize is $500. Videos must be 90 seconds or less and submitted by Sept. 1. Top videos will be placed on YouTube and the grand prize selected by vote. Videos will also be screened during Homecoming. For details, go to www.support.linfield.edu/video_contest.

Advice to freshmen

Don’t be afraid to take chances. Stay organized and have fun.

—Karsen O’Bryan ’09

Professors have office hours for a reason. They want to help, but they can’t if you don’t make the time.

—Samantha Smith ’09

Choose a major that you are interested in and don’t be afraid to change your major. Life is too short to do something you don’t enjoy.

—Megan Ellis ’09

Don’t stress over the little assignments, but push yourself to do your best. Make time for friends and fun. Treasure these four years!

—Tiffany Jones ’09

As tempting as it is to go home on weekends as a freshman, stay on campus and meet people early in the year.

Get a job! Every bit of money helps, even if you only work six hours a week. It will also open up opportunities for you later.

—Carissa Hansen ’09

Try something in every department. Many of my best connections with students and professors were made outside of my major.

—Galaxy Slight ’09

Your GPA as a freshman actually counts toward your final GPA... so try to study a little, too.

—Kendra Stridom ’09

Become friends with your professors early. They will help you in classes, deciding on graduate schools and serve as great references for your future career.

—Amanda Moine ’09

Travel to another country. Take an online class through DCE.

—Naeem Montazer ’09
Welcome new alumni

One day, one time, six parties. Alumni in three states will welcome new graduates to their area and provide tips and advice to the latest generation of Wildcat alumni.

Homecoming 2009

Catch up with classmates at Homecoming 2009 Oct. 16-17. Reunions will be held for the classes of 1949, 1959, 1969, 1979, 1989 and 1999. Last fall, alumni of all ages returned to campus. If you missed them, here’s a glimpse of what some are doing, including a few of last year’s reunion coordinators:

- Patricia (Buckingham) Lang ’88 of Sequim, Wash., helped establish Mujeres de Maiz Opportunity Foundation, a nonprofit offering educational opportunities to indigenous Mayan women through a sewing cooperative.
- Diane (Staiger) Bandonis ’68 of Salem has been studying acting with the greats of British film and stage for several years.
- Chris and Jean (Cottingham) Ratto, both ’78, of Gresham operate Ratto Farms, an organic herb and basil farm.
- Denise (Jeskey) Farag ’88 of McMinnville is teaching business law at Linfield.
- Brian Gerritz ’98 of Lake Oswego, former student body president, is president and founding principal of Pavilion Construction, a Portland-based firm.

For more information:

www.linfield.edu/alumni

Alumni News

Advice to freshmen

Straight from the trenches, Linfield’s newest alumni have learned a thing or two during the last four years. Here, graduates from the class of 2009 offer words of advice to incoming freshmen.

Don’t be afraid to take chances. Stay organized and have fun.

- Kasey O’Byrne ’09

Professors have office hours for a reason. They want to help, but they can’t if you don’t make the time.

- Samantha Smith ’09

Choose a major that you are interested in and don’t be afraid to change your major. Life is too short to be doing something you don’t enjoy.

- Megan Wills ’09

Don’t stress over the little assignments, but push yourself to do your best. Make time for friends and fun. Treasure these four years!

- Tiffany Jones ’09

As tempting as it is to go home on weekends as a freshman, stay on campus and meet people early in the year.

- Chris Towe ’09

Get a job! Every bit of money helps, even if you only work six hours a week. It will also open up opportunities for you later.

- Cassandra Hansen ’09

Try something in every department. Many of my best connections with students and professors were made outside of my major.

- Galaxy Slight ’09

Your GPA as a freshman actually counts toward your final GPA... so try to study a little, too.

- Kendra Sirdam ’09

Become friends with your professors early. They will help you in classes, deciding on graduate schools and serve as great references for your future career.

- Amanda Meine ’09

Travel to another country. Take an online class through DCE.

- Naisern Montez ’09

Message from the director

Are you making the most of your Linfield connections? Many times just this semester, I have witnessed Linfielders helping each other and in today’s economy, that assistance is more valuable than ever. I am reminded of a 2008 graduate who made a connection through last summer’s Seattle Welcome to the Alumni party that resulted in a job. Or the 1993 alumni who attended Linfield Professionals Network event in Portland after losing his job and got a lead that resulted in a position.

Linfield alumni are responding in other ways. At a recent Life after Linfield dinner, 10 alumni returned to give career advice to graduating seniors. On another occasion, a recent graduate relocating to North Carolina contacted our office. We, in turn, put out a call to alumni living in the state and within 24 hours, 20 responded willing to serve as a resource for him.

Connect with your Linfield peers — attend our networking events, join the Facebook group, log in and search our online Wildcat directory. If you are an alum who is willing to help others, attend one of the welcome parties to roll out the welcome mat, offer to let a Wildcat job shadow you or return to campus to share your expertise.

They say it is not what you know but whom you know that counts. I am happy to tell you that you know a lot of people through Linfield. It’s your Linfield — make it count!

— Debbie (Hansen) Harmon ’90